UP, UP AND AWAY

Workmen today were moving the last five birches away from the College of Marin's Harlan Hall to prepare for the razing of the building in July. The hall will be replaced by Harlan Center, housing lecture halls, communications and faculty offices. The trees, 100 feet tall and about 30 years old, are being moved closer to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard by Marin Storage and Trucking, Inc., of San Rafael.

Prison Bans Seven Step

San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson today ordered the prison's "Seven Step Program" dropped because it had been used as a conduit for smuggling "contraband up to and including narcotics" into the prison.

The four-and-a-half year program, which is used in many other prisons, was abruptly canceled just two days after a former San Quentin inmate was arrested on a complaint by prison officials that he had illegally entered the prison on three occasions, two of them in connection with Seven Step meetings.

Roy Ronald Cerra, 30, of San Francisco was released on $1,250 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Friday. Penitentiary officials said he had illegally entered the grounds of the prison on March 6 and March 13 to visit Seven Step meetings. He also entered the prison's visiting room on Feb. 15 to visit another convict, they said.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today that the inmate self-help program has been used for the "circumvention of mail regulations" as well as a method of smuggling in a "variety of contraband . . . including narcotics."

Park emphasized that the Seven Step inmates, numbering about 100, were not a major source of narcotics at the prison and that "only a minority" of them were

$750,000 Price Tag On Square

A $500,000 offer for the county courthouse square is too low, and $750,000 would be more like it.

That was the consensus yesterday of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, who recieved the $500,000 offer from the City of San Rafael. (Other supervisors' stories, page 24.)

The city offered to pay the county $50,000 down on a $500,000 minimum purchase price for the courthouse block. The offer included a proviso that, when the city sells the property any excess in price above the half-million dollars would be split 50-50 between city and county.

Chairman John F. McInnis noted that a $900,000 offer was made in 1966, and the value of the courthouse square has been pegged at $700,000 and up. "I don't believe I could accept a purchase price of $500,000."

"The $500,000 offer doesn't excite me one bit," said Supervisor Louis H. Baar, real estate man and former San Rafael City councilman. He emphasized, however, that San Rafael is the logical entity to handle future of the courthouse square and urged the supervisors to continue negotiations with city officials.

But before proceeding, Baar said, the county should get an appraisal of the courthouse square. Supervisors were surprised that no formal appraisal of the courthouse property has been made thus far.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said that a member of the assessor's office had made an informal appraisal of a million dollars or more for the courthouse square. Some consultants had come up with a guess of $900,000. "There has been no formal appraisal," said Maloney.

Supervosors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. agreed with Baar that an appraisal is needed.

Baar offered to be a one-man committee to pick an appraiser,

Bay Transport Report Snags On Gas Tax Use

Highway-Oriented, Commission Objects

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY—Immediate amendment of the California Constitution to allow use of gas taxes for public transit was urged today by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

In a 12-5 vote, five years of tension between highway and transit representatives on the commission burst open for the first time.

The battle erupted as the commission considered adoption of a draft report recommending new taxes for public transit. The report, from the commission's study group on finance, recommended a special property tax on Bay Area home owners to finance public transit, rather than divert any highway funds to that purpose.

The 12 votes, however, amounted to less than one-third of the 37 members of the commission, leaving the way open for possible reversal at a future meeting.

The motion to reject the report was made by Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco who termed the report "highway oriented." He was sitting on the commission as an alternate to Assembly John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, chairman of the Assembly Transporation and Commerce Committee. Seconding his motion was William J. Bettencourt, a director of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District.

San Francisco Supervisor Jack Morrison joined the attack on the report, saying, "The whole tenor of this report is unacceptable."

Voting with the majority were Marin Supervisors Michael

TO CURB INFLATION

Keep Surcharge, Nixon Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, declaring that "inflation is a form of economic aggression," proposed to Congress today that the problem be met by extending the income tax surcharge for another 12 months and by making significant cuts in federal spending.

In a special message, Nixon reported that at least half of the budget surpluses envisioned in January by former President Lyndon B. Johnson already have evaporated—in some cases because of inflation and in others because of overly optimistic estimates.

Faced with that situation, Nixon said he will propose budget provisions for the year starting July 1 that will reduce spending "significantly below the amount recommended in January." He gave no details.

The chief executive, in calling for a continuation of the 10 per cent federal income tax surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration, declared:

"As I have said before, the surcharge is a temporary tax that must be ended as soon as our commitments in Southeast

Nejedly Sweep Hands GOP Senate Control

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republicans today controlled the state Senate for the first time in 13 years and moved toward installing one of their own as its leader following the smashing victory of John A. Nejedly in a special election.

Nejedly polled 56.7 per cent of the vote—82,939 ballots—to the 61,102 of his Democratic opponent, George Miller III, in yesterday's widely-watched election in Contra Costa County. It established a 21-19 GOP majority in the upper house.

The lopsided win, in an election many thought would be close, dealt Democrats a stunning defeat in the Senate seat they had held for 20 years.

Nejedly's election also was viewed as a possible indicator of California's political leanings for the upcoming decade, including the 1970 race for governor.

Nejedly, 54, jumped to an early lead and gradually built it to a commanding margin that political novice Miller, 23, failed to overtake. Miller had sought to succeed his late father, veteran Sen. George Miller Jr., who died New Year's Day of a heart attack. A Democratic victory would have restored the 20-20 party deadlock in the upper chamber.

The Republican majority may now flex its newly acquired political muscle to unseat Senate president pro tempore Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, who has guided the upper house since 1957.

Nejedly's election also sig-

Seashore Area May Be Sold

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel said today it was "Entirely a possibility" that a 2,500-acre ranch within the proposed boundaries of Point Reyes National Seashore would be subdivided and put on the public market.

He held little hope that Congress would readily appropriate funds to complete acquisition of private lands within the seashore and thus thwart sale of the ranch.

Hickel, addressing a news conference in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, said he supported completion of the 53,000-acre seashore but said, "Many national parks have schedules for land acquisition and it's pretty hard to step one ahead of the other."

Panel Asks Fire Service Upgrading

The Town of Corte Madera should have an upgraded fire protection service, a separate fire chief and two "paid, awake firemen on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

These are recommendations to be made by a special committee of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce to the town council, according to Michael Ingerman, chairman, who said the group has been studying the subject since November.

The committee noted that, whereas the town's income from sales tax has increased "markedly" in recent years, there has been a lack of comparable growth in public safety services, primarily in fire and police protection.

The shortage of firemen permits manning the main station during the day only and the police shortage frequently

Hub Tries Roadblock On West Marin Link

By JOANNE GRANT

The San Anselmo City Council, flatly refusing to let the city become a funnel to West Marin, last night agreed not to improve or widen any major streets until the state commits itself to a satisfactory bypass and right of way acquisition has begun. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 6.)

In addition, the council agreed not to make any substantial improvements to its major streets, "until a modern well-designed, well-scheduled bus system is in operation within San Anselmo."

The items were part of a two-page statement on transportation by Councilman James F. Reed. The statement was approved by four members of the council, while the fifth, Woodrow V. Capurro, passed.

The statement provides for going head with the realignment of the Hub intersection and necessary corrections at the intersection of Bridge Street and Center Boulevard, but makes it clear that will be the only work on major streets until something is done to improve traffic generally.

The policy statement also calls for simultaneous construction of at least two connecting traffic links between Ross Valley and Terra Linda, but does not comment on routes since most of the proposed ones are outside the city's jurisdiction.

The statement promised that the city would be responsible for its half of the problems and would work with whatever other jurisdictions are necessary to find solutions.

It urged finding a bypass which would be satisfactory to

Steamrolling Idea On Smog

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Lawmakers were stoking boilers today in Sacramento and Washington to blow smog-spitting, gasoline-burning autos off the road with steam power—or something.

To State Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, the only way to clean California's smoggy air is to run all gas-powered vehicles off the road.

Petris said yesterday he will introduce a bill banning all internal combustion vehicles from roads in the state after Jan. 1, 1975, and another bill financing a study of replacing them with other power.

The Department of Motor Vehicles said there were 12,668,479 cars, trucks and motorcycles registered in the state when 1969 began.

Petris feels auto manufacturers have not done all they are capable of in producing cars with cleaner exhausts.

In other development yesterday, Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, assailed the Ford Foundation for refusing $500,000 help for a special project aimed at reducing auto-caused smog.

The state appropriated $250,000 to equip 77 state-owned vehicles with antismog devices but it proved more expensive than

Ike's Survival Is 'Uncertain'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors said today it is "uncertain" how long the former president can survive under the present condition of his heart.

The condition was described as "critical."

Texas Hijacking Leads To Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—A hijacked Delta Air Lines jet was returned to Miami from Cuba today and passengers waited in the plane and drank free beer while the pilot was interviewed by federal authorities.

About an hour after landing here the plane took off for Dallas with its 114 occupants, resuming a Newark-to-San Diego flight that was interrupted by the nation's 14th commercial hijacking this year, when a gunman took charge 10 minutes after the jet took off from Love Field at Dallas, Tex., and ordered the plane to fly eastward.

Meanwhile, in Amsterdam, the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned it may call a worldwide strike for 12 to 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished. In Washington, the Pentagon rejected a proposal to use military armed guards on commercial flights, on grounds the potential dangers to passengers and crew are too great.

Capt. Walter Wood, pilot of the plane, said the hijacker barged into the cockpit behind a stewardess last night, pulled a snub-nosed, chrome-plated pistol, and ordered him to fly to either Havana of Santiago in Cuba.

Wood said the hijacker, a well-dressed young man, identified himself as a Venezuelan.

"He spoke broken English and said only that he'd been in the United States about a year and some day hoped to return to Venezuela," the pilot said.

Among the plane's passengers were 18 Navy recruits en route to San Diego for basic training.

In Amsterdam, the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned today that it may call a worldwide strike for 12 or 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished.

A resolution unanimously adopted by the federation's annual conference said it may also act against nations that don't punish hijackers, too:

Ban all air traffic into the country.

Redistrict movement of the country's aircraft and restrict movement of cargo to and from the country, either by air or surface.

The federation represents 70 per cent of the world's 6,500 airline pilots. The Soviet Union was represented by observers, but Cuba, the chief target of the resolution, was not represented.

The suggestion for armed guards was made by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, a Pentagon spokesman said.

The Defense Department also considered and rejected the proposal of furnishing Marines or other military guards on planes carrying government personnel in possession of military secrets.

It dismissed the idea of transporting classified matter only on government planes, saying this would require possible establishment of a military mail service and an "immense logistic effort."

"There is no evidence that Cuba authorities have tampered with U.S. mail aboard any hijacked aircraft to date," the Pentagon said.

ALAN MOWBRAY
Universally acclaimed

Hollywood's Famed Film Butler Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His butler roles were universally acclaimed. John Barrymore called him "a worthy adversary" as an actor.

Alan Mowbray loved acting and actors in general.

"If a bomb hit Hollywood, it would only be a matter of time before someone was squatting amid the ruins telling stories," he once said.

Four days after entering Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Mowbray died yesterday of a heart attack at 72.

A London native, he was a naturalized U.S. citizen who appeared in more than 400 movie roles.

Mowbray's films included "Lady Hamilton," "Captain from Castile," "The Steel Cage," "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home," "The King and I," and "The Man Who Knew Too Much." He returned to New York in 1964 for the play, "Enter Laughing."

In New York, 16 years ago, he had his own TV series titled "Col. Humphrey Flack."

Mowbray paid the 50 fee in 1933 for incorporation of the Screen Actors Guild in which he held membership card No. 4. The actors' union now has more than 50,000 members.

Survivors include his wife of 42 years, the former Lorayne Carpenter; a son, Alan Jr.; a daughter, Patricia, wife of actor Douglas Dumbrille; two grandchildren, and two brothers.

Nixon's Hints Bolster Private Talk Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon has given fresh impetus to the growing belief that the private talks he favors for ending the Vietnam War already are under way.

But in doing so, the President made it clear he wants to keep those talks—whether they actually have begun or are about to—as secret as possible.

"That kind of negotiation cannot take place in a goldfish bowl," Nixon told the National Association of Broadcasters yesterday in an off-the-cuff speech.

The President, however, came to the convention obviously anxious to talk about private negotiations to end the war.

"I can tell you," he said, "that it is our conviction and our belief that it is through private talks with the North Vietnamese and others involved that the real progress toward peace will be made."

Nixon went on to say that if anyone in the administration is asked "as to whether private talks should begin, as to what has occurred, we will say nothing."

Although this seemed to indicate fullscale private negotiations were not actually now under way but were about to start, the President commented a little later on:

"We think we are on the right track, but we are not going to raise false hopes. We are not going to tell you what is going on in private talks."

Nixon's comments on secret negotiations were the first public remarks by an administration official since Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Friday that peace was being sought "not only through formal diplomatic channels formally in Paris, but privately as well."

Laird declined to elaborate on the remark, made during a digression from questioning on missile defense.

Kostelanetz and singer Lily Pons, who were married 20 years, were divorced in 1958.

Viet Pullout May Require Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army staff officers estimate it may take as long as two years for a complete withdrawal of all U.S. soldiers and equipment from Vietnam when the order finally comes to pull out of the war zone.

Although no decision has been reached on a timetable the Army is working on plans now to avoid the waste and confusion that accompanied the first pullback of U.S. troops from battle zones in past wars.

The staff officers made the time estimate after Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor told the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday that "a deliberate rather than a hasty timetable" is the best way to avoid the difficulties that followed World War II and Korea.

"We are therefore planning now, in a much more detailed and orderly manner than at any time previously for actions to be taken when hostilities decrease to a level at which the South Vietnamese no longer require the assistance of our own combat troops," Resor said.

New Orleans celebrates its 250th anniverary in 1968.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bleak Outlook

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Propsects appear increasingly dim for settlement of the dispute between the United States and Peru over the expropriation of an American oil refinery.

President Nixon's special envoy, John N. Irwin, and his aides refuse to comment on the progress of their talks with Peruvian leaders. But a deepening sense of despair is detected among American officials here.

Israeli Attack

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla base near the Jordanian town of Salt today, the army announced.

Salt is 10 miles east of the Jordan River cease-fire line and about 15 miles west of Amman, the Jordianian capital.

Guerrilla bases around Salt came under heavy Israeli attack last summer, Israel charging the barren, stony area was packed with saboteurs staging raids against the Jewish state. Heavier military action has centered lately on the Suez Canal.

Nixon Praised

STOCKHOLM (AP) — President Nixon drew unexpected praise today for "objectivity and moderation" in a Swedish government foreign policy declaration.

The government previously has voiced harsh criticism of U.S. foreign policy, particularly concerning Vietnam.

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson, who read the declaration during Parliament's foreign policy debate, said: "Great expectations are now centered on the planned discussions on the highest level between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Expensive Taste

LONDON (AP) — Thieves broke into the Sir John Soane museum and stole a Watteau painting valued at $350,0000 to $500,000, police reported today.

Only a few paintings by the 17th Century French masters are in Britain. The stolen canvas was a village wedding scene called "Les Noces."

The thieves also took an antique pistol.

Fulbright Asks Disarm Try Before ABM Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee put new pressure on the Nixon administration today to seek arms control talks with the Soviets before deploying the Safeguard antimissile system.

"Test the water and see what their attitude is," he told Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard. "They say they are in the mood to do it. I can't understand our reluctance."

Packard encountered much of the same hostile questioning and comments that greeted Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird when he appeared Friday in support of the $7 billion Safeguard plan to protect the nation's retaliatory nuclear strength.

Noting the Safeguard's mission is to protect the U.S. nuclear capability, Packard said it would deter a Soviet attack by guaranteeing "an unacceptably high risk of devastating retaliation."

After reading a policy statement, Packard turned to a series of charts depicting the Safeguard operation system in rough general outline.

The visual aids had received a warm reception from the Armed Services Committee earlier last week.

The Safeguard system calls for deployment of Sprint and Spartan interceptor missiles at 12 sites to protect the nation's missile and bomber deterrent force.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, heavily weighted with backers of missile defense, began the task yesterday of actually hammering out the legislation over which the ultimate battle for Safeguard funds will be fought.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau flew back to Canada early today, unsure about the implications of the American antimissile system but certain to face more questioning from its critics and other members of his cabinet.

Red Mortars Hit Hard At U.S. Base

SAIGON (UPI)—Heavy Communist mortar salvos slammed into the biggest U.S. base in the Mekong Delta today, demolishing the U.S. 9th Infantry Division's ammunition dump and forcing evacuation of half of the sprawling complex.

U.S. military sources said barrages from the biggest mortar in the guerrillas' Vietnam arsenal also damaged or destroyed six helicopters, the copter pad, a mess hall and several other of the wooden buildings on the U.S. Army-Navy base.

According to these sources, three American GIs died and 65 suffered wounds in the post-midnight attack. The U.S. command said casualties and damage were "light to moderate."

Rarely do Communist shellings, however heavy, cause more than light damage to big U.S. bases. This time, the sources said, hundreds of men fled the Navy portion of the complex to escape more explosions in fuel stores.

Oakland Man Held As Suspect In Auto Theft

An Oakland man arrested by Sacramento police Monday night in a car used in the December kidnaping of a San Rafael woman doctor was booked into Marin County jail yesterday on suspicion of auto theft.

Robert Earl Taylor was released on his own recognizance pending an appearance in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow. A female companion arrested with Taylor was released without a complaint lodged against her, San Rafael police said.

Taylor and the woman were picked up in a car belonging to Dr. Katherine H. Leicester of 188 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael. Dr. Leicester, 70, was kidnaped at gunpoint on Dec. 13 when she offered two girls a ride home from Northgate Shopping Center. She escaped after they had driven her to Albany but her car had been missing since.

San Rafael police officials indicated today that leads resulting from Taylor's arrest have spurred the investigation of the kidnaping "in another city," not Sacramento or San Rafael.

Muir Beach Site Jury Trial Opens

A jury trial in the long-awaited state condemnation suit to add the 15-acre Muir Beach to the state park system opened today in Marin Superior Court.

Leonard M. Sperry Jr., of Belvedere, of the state attorney general's office who is trying the suit for the state, said that the trial in Judge Thomas F. Keating's court room would probably last two weeks.

Jury selection was expected to occupy most of today.

About June, 1967, an anonymous woman donor offered $125,000 as a gift to the state to purchase Muir Beach, which was valued at the time at about $250,000.

Because of differences in various appraisals and failure to agree on a price, the case was taken to court.

nalled a victory for Gov. Ronald Reagan, who personally campaigned for the ticket. Reagan is counting on the additional GOP vote to back his legislative program.

Senate GOP floor leader Donald L. Grunsky, Watsonville, said Republican senators may caucus today to lay the groundwork for a possible takeover of the Senate.

Republicans must first agree among themselves on which one would challenge Burns. Sens. Howard Way, Exeter, and John F. McCarthy, San Rafael, are the leading contenders.

But a showdown vote probably will not come until after Easter vacation. Lawmakers will recess Friday until April 7.

TRANSIT

The commission's former study director, Richard M. Zettel, now its consultant, was requested to rewrite the entire report and resubmit it to a special meeting of the 37-member commission. No date was set.

Today's commission meeting in the Hotel Claremont was its second hearing on the draft report, written for the study group by Zettel. Lhe report was attacked by several commissioners at the first hearing on March 13 on the ground that it should not have rejected diversion to public transit of highway funds.

Zettel was ordered to revise the report after the March 13 meeting but his revised version presented today made no substantative changes.

The report as revised by Zettel did suggest elimination of the constitutional prohibition on use of gas tax taxes for anything other than highways, but his report also concluded that any diversion to public transit would be "not prudent at this time."

Discussion of Leonoudakis' motion was brief. One of the few to speak against it was Marc Sandstrom, representative of the state Business and Transportation Agency. He said the motion would "muddy a lot of sections of this report."

The commission, which has spent $5.5 million in its five-year study of regional transportation needs, is to make its final report to the legislature in May.

permits but one officer on duty during the graveyard shift, the committee found. "This indicates a need for a major review of all public safety measures," the report said.

Corte Madera's fire budget is the third lowest of Marin cities and towns with $41,000 budgeted for the year 1968-69, the committee said. Only Belvedere with $20,000 and Ross with $30,000 have lower budgets.

The committee also compared assessment rates saying if Corte Madera's fire protection budget came strictly from property taxation, the assessment rate would be 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Assessement rates for neighboring fire districts, totally supported by property taxation, said the committee, are: Kentfield, 90 cents; Tiburon, 72 cents; Alto-Richarson, 65 cents and Tamalpais, 89.5 cents.

Corte Madera's fire protection budget comes from the general fund which is raised by several methods, the committee said.

The chamber committee noted that when the town's fire rating fell from class six to seven last September, this caused an increase in fire insurance coverage for the business community and those holding rental properties.

(The town council at its March 18 meeting agreed to order more 2 and one-half inch hose and four 250-gallon-per-minute convertible nozzles in order to attempt to restore the fire rating to six.)

Police Chief Frank L. Nelson is now town fire chief as well as chief of the Volunteer Fire Department Ltd., but is not paid for fire duties.

The town has three paid firemen, Lt. Lee Larson, who is assistant chief, and two other firemen. They work, between them, seven days a week, each at 55 hours a week, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Other recommendations by the committee include reviewing and rewriting fire department job descriptions, an open recruitment for a full-time fire chief and making all fire fighting services the responsibility of the town manager.

The committee asks that enough men be provided to give adequate fire service, using National Fire Protection Association standards.

It recommends a mutual aid review and endorses the town council's proposal for central dispatching of equipment by the County Communications Center.

Increased firemen's training and increased safety inspections in commercial and residential districts are recommended as well as uniform color codes for hydrant marking. Also recommended are fire safety inspections of all building plans submitted to the town and, lastly, the consideration of a special services district to permit extension of fire protection into adjoining unincorporated areas.

Town councilmen will receive the committee's recommendations April 1. The council has asked Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to prepare a staff study on four versions of emergency fire service.

but on second thought added: "Maybe it's not a good idea."

Other supervisors agreed that Baar should not pick the appraiser because he was a San Rafael councilman until last year, and his actions would be subject to criticism.

Supervisors asked the courthouse committee to name an appraiser. The courthouse committee is composed of real estate man Robert A. Roumiguierre (chairman), San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson, County Administrator Alan Bruce, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, and Norwin S. Yoffie, general manager of the Independent-Journal.

Mrs. Walsh Indicted In Death Case

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Grand Jury last night returned an indictment of involuntary manslaughter against Vera Mae Walsh, a practical nurse formerly employed in Fairfax, in connection with the Jan. 5 death of her patient, Mrs. Gloria Giannis.

Mrs. Walsh was also indicted on two counts of forgery in which she allegedly forged Mrs. Giannis' name to checks after her death.

Mrs. Giannis was found dead in Mrs. Walsh's Santa Rosa home on Jan. 10. Toxicology tests showed that death was caused by an overdose of drugs.

Mrs. Walsh is currently awaiting trial in Marin County on grand theft charges stemming from the theft of a diamond ring and glassware from the home of her former Fairfax employers.

A jury trial on the theft charges has been set for the week of April 14 in Marin Superior Court. Her appearance in Sonoma County Superior Court will be delayed until after the Marin proceedings end.

anticipated and equipped only 25 cars.

The foundation told Hayes its participation would have the effect of supporting a commercial enterprise and this was prohibited.

In Washington, a Senate staff report has urged the government to start buying steam-powered cars because such automobiles, it said, would be more efficient, less expensive and would produce almost no smog.

Only American Motors among the U.S. auto producers is working on a steam car, the report said.

The report, prepared for the Commerce Committee, said however the auto industry—especially General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—is reluctant to manufacture a steam car because "the public is simply not aware of the advantages."

The report asked federal and state governments to take steps to stimulate a market for steam cars. It said only steam vehicles offer a solution to the growing problem of auto-made smog.

Smog control devices installed on conventional cars are not good enough to reduce—or even hold steady—concentrations of vehicle-caused air pollution, the report said.

Asia and economic conditions permit."

In the Senate, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, said earlier that Congress should insist on a second big spending cut as its price for extending the surcharge.

Nixon left open the possibility that he might call for scaling down or repeal of the surcharge within the year of its extension should the Vietnam war end and inflationary pressures ease.

The surtax is expected to yield $9.5 billion if extended.

In addition, Nixon called for postponement of scheduled June 30 reductions in excise taxes on telephone service and automobiles and enactment of unspecified federal user charges. He said these actions would produce nearly $1 billion in revenue in the coming fiscal year.

"trying to set up a supply route."

Despite the leeway given to inmates in running the program, Park said, there is "concrete evidence" that it has resulted in the "connivance of some inmates and outsiders to introduce contraband."

"It (Seven Step) is not an honest operation," Park said, adding, "We told the men right from the start they would be given a certain amount of freedom in setting up the program but they would have to police it.

"After four-and-a-half years of watching, it has become evident to us that they can't."

He said the "number one principle of the program is to think realistically . . . this has been the hardest for them to do."

The inmate program, sponsored by the Seven Step Foundation, derives its name from a seven-part credo, each step of which starts with a letter from the word freedom.

all governmental jurisdictions and interested groups in Marin County and doing so before the state is approached to build the bypass.

"Otherwise they will once again turn against us, against each other and nothing will be accomplished," Reed said in his statement.

Reed also pointed out that unless the state does something. "We would destroy ourselves attempting to provide for our local traffic and always losing to the future growth of West Marin."

After he read his statement, which was more a detailed version of one prepared earlier, Reed explained it was his intention to provide a plan for balanced transportation and cooperation between San Anselmo and other jurisdictions.

In a related transportation matter, the council learned that the Greyhound station will remain open, with the Marin Senior Coordinating Council as agent.

Greyhound had told the council lhe station might close with the retirement of Mrs. Aday McVeery March 31.

Last night, Greyhound reported the senior citizen group would take over May 1 and Mrs. McVeery had agreed to remain as agent until then.

Homer F. Crowell of the coordinating council said his group had taken the job, not only to keep the depot open but also to provide employment for retired citizens.

He admitted the coordinating council has "a little bit of skepticism" about the new venture but did not foresee any major problems.

southern boundary of the seashore, said last month that he and the other owners had waited as long as they could for the federal government to buy their property. He said the ranch, which includes two lakes, would be cut into 40-acre tracts and sold.

So far only about 24,000 of the 53,000 acres proposed for the seashore have been purchased by the federal government.

A bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., would appropriate $38.3 million to complete acquisition of the seashore.

Hickel said today he had not reviewed Cranston's bill but said the seashore problem "really concerns me" and hoped that the park will be completed.

MAX EASTMAN

BRIDGETOWN Barbados (UPI) — Max Eastman, the American poet who was the center of literary controversy for years, died early today at his winter home after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 86.

Eastman, one of the nation's leading radicals and intellectuals, suffered the stroke yesterday.

The case was dismissed after two trials ended in hung juries.

In addition to his widow, Eastman is survived by one son from his first marriage to Ida Rauh.

Among his published works are: "Marx and Lenin," "The Science of Revolution," "Stalin's Russia and the Crisis of Socialism," "The Enjoyment of Poetry," "Enjoyment of Laughter," "Enjoyment of Living" and "Love and Revolution."

New Pakistan Boss Pledges Sane Course

KARACHI (AP) — Pakistan's new military dictator, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, told his turbulent nation today he would "bring back sanity" to set the stage for free elections.

"I wish to make it absolutely clear to you that I have no ambition other than the creation of conditions conducive to the establishment of a constitutional government," he said in his first broadcast after taking over from President Mohammed Ayub Khan.

Sixteen hours before Ayub Khan resigned after appointing Yahya supreme commander of Pakistan's armed forces and chief martial law administrator.

Yahya's promise to "bring back sanity" was the same made by Ayub when he seized power in 1958 and ruled by martial law for three years.

Ayub, who announced earlier he would not seek re-election next year, admitted last night this did not satisfy his political opponents and he could not cope with mob violence wracking Pakistan's eastern half, on the other side of India.

"My first task is to put the administration back on the rails," Yahya said. "Strikes and industrial unrest have brought the nation to the edge of an abyss.

"The nation has to be pulled back to safety and normal conditions have to be restored without delay. I and the armed forces could not remain idle spectators of this state of near anarchy."

Innocent Plea In Needle Case

Alexander Hamberis, 24, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing a hypodermic needle in his car Saturday when arrested by the California Highway Patrol.

A jury trial was set for June 16.

No charges were filed against his companion, Christine R. Daves, 21, also of San Francisco, who was arrested with him.

Cancer Virus 'Difficult' To Pin Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Medical science has been unsuccessful in its efforts to decisively pin down a provable virus in a human cancer. But it isn't from lack of trying.

The American Association of Cancer Research ended a three-day meeting yesterday which included more than 50 reports on the known cancer-causing viruses in animals or "virus-like particles" in human tumors.

The reports came from widespread sources—the prestigious Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y.; a joint study by a French scientist in Lyons and a Chinese team in Hong Kong, and a German gynecologist who works at night in her private laboratory.

Dr. James T. Grace Jr., chief of the Roswell Institute, reported that he and his colleagues have been studying the relationship between leukemia and a common virus similar to that which causes a human skin disease called herpes simplex.

Grace said they took the virus, which can be found in almost everyone, from human lymphoma patients and injected it into volunteer patients who were suffering from incurable chronic leukemia to see if the virus altered the course of the leukemia.

He said the patients developed symptoms of infectious mononucleosis, another disease believed caused by the herpes type virus. The virus also seemed to have a stimulating effect on the human lymphatic system, whose cells are also involved in leukemia.

Dr. Guy de The, of the International Agency for Research on Cancer in Lyons, France, described the isolation of a virus associated with cancer of the upper part of the throat.

De The said tumors of this area, known as the nasopharynx, are found far more commonly among Chinese in Southeast Asia than among whites. He said tumor tissue was sent from Chinese colleagues in Hong Kong to Lyons, where it was grown and reproduced in cultures.

An individual effort was reported by Dr. Philippine Hartmann, a Munich gynecologist who practices medicine full time. She began her experiments at her own expense 15 years ago when she found many of her patients falling victims to cancer of the ovaries.

In her own laboratory, with a single underpaid assistant, Dr. Hartmann studies virology and tissue culture. She found evidence of viral activity, but said, "I am not courageous enough to call what I have found a virus."

BLACK PROGRAM

Courses Held 'Beautiful,' Relevant

By BRUCE COLEMAN
(Last of three articles)

"It's a necessity."

"Just about everybody should be forced to take such a course."

"It's beautiful."

These are comments from three students when asked to evaluate courses they are taking in the Afro-American studies program now in its second semester at the College of Marin.

The professors are equally forceful in their answers. Here is what students and professors say:

"Is this relevant to a college-educated person? I think it's very relevant," commented student John Connors of Kentfield. It broadens one's knowledge of another culture beyond that of Europe and the U. S."

Asked if he felt the courses would help him when he leaves college, Connors answered, "Yes, definitely, not so much in an overt way but indirectly it will give me a much better understanding of the problems related with the blacks."

Connors said he means an understanding of some problems blacks face in subtle things such as using the conotation of black being bad and of whie being good.

The wavy-haired white continued saying, "the history course enables me to see that there has been much truth held from me, that I have not been given a full picture of the situation, that many things I thought true were not necessarily true."

Andrew McIntyre of Ignacio, also a white student of black history said, "I'm quite disappointed that there aren't more black students in the black studies department. Then, he added, "I think it (the program) is a necessity."

Responding quickly to McIntyre's complaint was Mrs. Anna Fitch of San Rafael. A black student, she said, "One reason there aren't more in this course is that there are two other courses being held at the same time."

She illustrated the history course's value saying, "I think it's wonderful because there are things that I didn't know and, by coming here, I'm trying to visualize how I first came into existence."

Outside of the classroom, another black student who wouldn't give his name or comment further, said of the total program, "It's beautiful."

Two Fairfax girls who take Afro-American literature were questioned. Shirley Holmlund said: "There is communication in that class between blacks and whites. I think any communication . . . is relevant."

"Just about everybody should be forced to take a course like that to get a better understanding of what's going on and to become interested and involved," commented Michael Moody.

Mrs. Fitch, who has three children, the oldest 15, said that she is taking three courses — two in the black studies program — for self-fulfillment.

She found the greatest hope for broadening racial understanding in the younger students: "I think they are the ones who would see there is a change — the younger ones. They seem more understanding than the older people. They really do."

Said art teacher Joseph Llorens: "I think my black students want to understand themselves better and their heritage and my nonblack students want to understand too.

"I have felt very successful with the course although it is still evolving."

Said Llorens: "The business of trying to understand the minds or souls of black people is something for our whole society. . . . This course is really another brick in that building up of real understanding of the plight of black people in this country . . . maybe the first thing that has to be done before anyone can do anything about it."

According to Edward Butler, 26, of Berkeley who teaches Afro-American literature, the program is a meaningful step toward enabling the black student to decide or himself what he wants to do and become.

Butler, who also teaches black study courses at Diablo Valley College in Contra Costa County, said: "If white students were as perceptive as blacks, we wouldn't have only a minority of students demanding things.

"The black studies program is an outcry for individual expression and points up some very serious deficiencies in the educational system as it exists today. People aren't really being educated. People aren't really being allowed to expand themselves as people." said Butler.

Asked if whites may be getting more from the program than blacks, Butler replied, "This is true." For that reason, he said, there is a need for all-black classes to avoid making them just another white classroom with a few black students.

"There have to be certain situations where it's all black. It is very vital for a black person to get this feeling of confidence and trust and relate that to his own being as a black man. White students need this, too, but they have had it. They need situations like the class where they can expand themselves," he said.

Teaching a course in dynamics of race in urban America, Charles E. Sizemore is also a fulltime counselor. He also teaches Social Problems at San Quentin prison, a psychology course at the college and leads an encounter group. Single, he lives in San Francisco.

The dynamics course, said Sizemore, "is not so much interested in dealing with tension but circumstances that create the tension.

"One of the misfortunes of teaching," he added, "is you don't see the fruits of your labor until a lot of time passes. We don't expect any immediate results even though we would like to."

Sizemore agrees with Butler that whites may gain more from the courses than blacks.

"Because," he said, "The experiences of black people have allowed them to live what is being written about. To the white student, this is something entirely new."

Sizemore uses these books in his dynamics class: "Negroes With Guns" by Robert Williams; "Apartheid American Style;" "Crisis in Black and White" by Charles Silberman and the U. S. government publication, "The Kerner Report on Violence."

"Public reaction to black studies has been mixed to say the least," continued Sizemore. "I think an understanding of the polarization that's taking place between the black and whites — in view of the fact we all have to live here together — should point to the need for developing better communication involving history as well as the contemporary existences of both black and white people.

"Black people are in a better position to learn about the being on a white campus but the white students are not as free to move in and out of the black community because of the myths that have been designed to hinder this free flow.

"So, at this point, the best means for developing these lines of communication is through academics."

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday heard a recommendation from the grand jury that supervisors salaries be increased from $13,200 to $16,000, effective January 1971.

The grand jury resolution of last week was directed to the governor and state Legislature, which governs supervisors' salaries.

The board made no comment, but said the recommendation would be discussed at a meeting in the near future.

Unification Plan Opposed Unanimously

By JERRY MEGAHAN

The last of three public hearings on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization's proposed triple split of the Tamalpais High School District plan, held last night at Tamalpais High School, was relatively sedate but unanimous.

Not a single member of the more than 300 people in the audience spoke in favor of the proposal which would divide the Tamalpais District into three sub-districts centered around Tamalpais, Redwood and Sir Francis Drake high schools.

At the two previous meetings, the proposal also met across-the-board rejection at the Drake meeting and found only scattered support last Thursday at Redwood.

TIMING HIT

Furthermore, nearly every speaker from the audience made it clear that it was felt that a vote on the proposal in November was ill advised from the standpoint of timing for a number of reasons.

One reason was supplied by committee member David D. Ring, a Tam district trustee, when he indicated that any change in the education system which would cost the taxpayer more money would be likely to receive a negative response at the present time.

Citing the committee's own figures that, if the district had unified in the 1965 balloting, it would have cost the taxpayers $600,000 more to run the district in the past fiscal year, Ring concluded, "The real question is if the voter would buy unification of any sort with a price tag of this kind around its neck."

Several members of the audience later pointed out that approval of the plan in November would give school district administrators only eight months to totally revamp the entire administrative system.

TOO SPEEDY

Ellen Binkley, chairman of the Tam District's discipline study committee, said that a November ballot would cause maximum reorganization in too short a time.

"Supporters of this proposal like to argue that smaller districts would be more responsive to the public," Mrs. Binkley said. "How could a massive reorganization of this type be done in eight months with the public still having a voice? The board would be forced to take arbitrary stands under the circumstances."

Everyone speaking on voting procedure came out strongly for a district-wide ballot, rather than voting district-by-district.

Joseph E. Bodovitz, Mill Valley School District trustee, made the point that unilateral unification vote by the three areas could result in an "educational Pakistan" if the Redwood area voted to unify by itself, leaving Tamalpais and Drake areas as part of a fragmented Tamalpais High School District.

The committee's proposl also met with objections previously aired: that it would overcrowd Drake High School, force Stinson Beach-Bolinas students to make a three-hour round trip by bus to Drake, promote de facto segregation in the district and lower the quality of education throughout

Three members of the committee—David Ring, Galen Williams and Mrs. J. W. Rakow—preceded the open hearing by going on record against the timing of the proposal, and they were backed by the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, the Marin County Labor Council, the Tamalpais High School District Board of Trustees, an ad hoc committee of district school teachers, the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School board of trustees, the Marin County Civil Rights Board, the Marin chapter of the American Association of University Women, the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association and the Redwood High School Student Executive Council among others.

Having heard the public viewpoint, the committee now can decide to push its proposal, seek yet another alternative or throw up its hands.

Education Board Accepts Jury's $190,001 Tag At Peacock Gap

San Rafael Board of Education last night voted to buy a 9.97 acre elementary school site at Riviera and Biscayne drives, Peacock Gap, at a cost of $190,001.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino explained that the $190,001 price tag was set by a jury after a two-week trial in the district's condemnation suit against N.Y.-Cal Industrial Corp.

District appraisers had set the value of the land between $150,000 and $155,000 but the firm's appraisals were at $275,000 and $295,000, Godino reported.

If the district didn't make the purchase, it would have to pay the defendant's attorney and appraiser fees, Godino noted.

Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. pointed out that a Peacock Gap site was sought because "it is one of the few areas of potential growth left in the district."

The district has no plans to build on the site "withing the next three to five years," Kramer said, but he favored obtaining it now.

"If we don't buy it now, we're just not going to get it," he contended.

The purchase can be financed with the 1964 elementary district bond funds, reported Supt. John F. Plank. There was $176,000 budgeted for the site, and the rest will come from the remaining $428,000 in bond funds, he said.

Godino mentioned that the sewage treatment plant in the area had reached capacity, but said that the district could insist on enlargement of the plant. The San Rafael Sanitation District is now seeking to force Latipac Inc., large developers in the area, to enlarge the plant, he said.

San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

MIDDLE SCHOOL — Authorized architects Marshall and Bowles of San Francisco to complete plans for a resource center at the proposed Glenwood Middle School and schematic drawings for the remainder of the proposed school at a cost of $5,200, rather than authorized completion of all plans, pending the outcome of a $2.1 million bond election, June 10. Board members agreed this would push the opening of the proposed school beyond the planned date of September, 1970, but felt this was as far as they wanted to go in planning until they learn June 10 whether voters will approve the funds for the project.

CONTRACT RENEWALS — Approved rehiring of probationary teachers in the high school and elementary districts for 1969-70, but postponed offering contracts to about 20 employed under the single session kindergarten program and special programs under federal funding because financing is uncertain. Supt. John F. Plank said the board has until May 15 to make a decision on these jobs.

GRADUATE STUDY — Received a report on the follow-up study of last year's high school graduates, presented by Mrs. Audrey Kidd, study coordinator.

MAINTENANCE—Received a report from John A. Thomson Jr., director of maintenance and transportation, the preventive maintenance program which began last September. Since then, the backlog of maintenance jobs has been reduced from 400-450 to 153, because the work of the preventive crew has released the regular maintenance crew for the larger jobs, Thomson explained.

ACCESS STRIP — Accepted from Galli Construction Co. a strip of land 10 feet wide and 100 feet long, leading from the company's subdivision at San Pedro Road and Main Drive to the site of the proposed Glenwood Middle School. The strip would provide pupils from the subdivision access to the school grounds.

LONG SERVICE — Accepted the resignations of Marie Woelfl, instructional materials clerk at San Rafel High School, effective August 29 after 30 years of service, and of Mrs. Wilma Welch, school secretary at Santa Venetia Middle School, effective June 28 after 16 years of service, and passed resolutions of appreciation for their long service.

LEAVE — Granted Mrs. Sharon Brandenburger, kindergarten teacher at MacPhail School, leave of absence for the 1969-70 school year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Lilita Callarman, teacher of Spanish and French at Davidson Junior High School, and Mrs. Audrey Kidd, science teacher, San Rafael High School, both effective June 30.

ADMINISTRATIVE JOBS— Approved administrative assignments for the 1969-70 school year, which contained no changes in the district administrative staff or school principals.

BOYS CLUB — Heard a report that the Boys Club of Southern Marin plans to enlist the volunteer services of high school students to solicit contributions for the club in a drive April 19, and gave its support on the condition that no school time is lost in enlisting students.

HIRINGS — Approved the hiring of Mark Motooka, substitute custodian, at $2.71 an hour.

GIFT — Accepted with appreciation nine trees donated to San Pedro School by the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association.

MEETINGS — Changed its meeting schedule for next month because of Easter vacation, and adjourned until April 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Administration Building, Third and E streets.

Peruvian Ship Poised To Sink

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 7,600-ton Peruvian freighter Yavari, a ghost ship without a crew and beyond help, is taking water and will soon sink, the Coast Guard said today.

The ship, 950 miles southwest of San Francisco, is listing heavily to starboard and waves are already washing over the side.

The Coast Guard cutter Barataria stood by.

PLANK VOTED LONGER PACT WITH PRAISE

The San Rafael Board of Education gave Supt. John F. Plank a new four-year contract last night with the possibility of a pay raise.

Board members approved the new contract at his current salary, $23,750 a year, but said they would review it after reviewing salaries for all school employees.

Plank has been superintendent since Feb. 1, 1967, and board members felt he has done an outstanding job. Agreeing last night were representatives of the American Federation of Teachers, San Rafael Teachers Association and Your Elementary Schools Committee.

Board Member Carl J. Brown moved that the board terminate Plank's present contract which had two years to run,and issue a new four-year contract. Approval was unanimous.

Harbor Session

The Bolinas Harbor District board will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Red-Ink Budget Due For Next School Year

San Rafael Board of Education, ending a year of deficit financing, last night faced the dismal prospect of running short of operating funds for the 1969-70 school year.

Supt. John F. Plank, who believes the ultimate solution is increasing the general purpose tax rate, had recommended four steps that could be taken now.

(The general purpose tax rate this year is $1.31 in a total tax rate of $3.06 per $100 assessed valuation in the elementary district and $1.75 in a total rate of $2.265 in the high school district.)

Proposed by Plank were:

1. Levying of the seventh and eighth grade override tax in the elementary district.
2. Urging legislators to increase state support for local school districts.
3. Appointing a citizens financial advisory committe to study budgetary problems and make recommendations.
4. Instructing the administration to seek ways to provide a salary schedule increase for teachers and cost-of-living raise for nonteaching employees.

Plank said the staff expects that financial resources for 1969-70 "will not meet the basic demands of our educational program."

Plank's recommendations weren't before the board for action, but the suggestion to form a citizens advisory committee is scheduled to be presented at a meeting April 3.

Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte illustrated the budget dilemma with a possible elementary budget for 1969-70 which had income estimated at $4,582,390, as compared to this year's budget of $4,733,399.

This budget wouldn't provide any increase in the teacher salary schedule, would cut reserves to $75,000 and reduce capital outlay expenditures $14,455, he noted. It would include income from the seventh-eighth grade override tax, estimated at $250,000.

Condrotte also presented a possible high school district budget of $4,754,432, as compared to the present $4,657,803.

This wouldn't include any increase in salary schedules or increases in educational programs, and would cut the reserve funds to $126,856; he reported.

Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said the long range need is for the state "to go back to "providing 50 per cent of the funding.

Costs are up and state aid is down, Kramer said. "It's not because the school district is squandering."

Michael Edwards, president of the San Rafael Teachers Association, said the board "is not even talking" about maintaining the current program, but making reductions.

"I think its a disgrace scrapping pennies together to get through this school year, and the community needs to know this. We haven't been throwing money around."

Board Member Paul L.Jones said the financial problem has "happened all of a sudden, overnight. During the past year, we've been on deficit financing."

Pleads Innocent

Phillip Charles Verheyden, 22, of San Rafael pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to passing a forged check for $215 on Jan. 4 in Mill Valley. A preliinary hearing was set for April 15.

Hearing Set In Marijuana Case

A preliminary hearing for two San Franciscans charged with having 16 pounds of marijuana in their truck has been set in Marin Municipal Court for April 18.

Judge Hadden W. Roth refused to release Frederick Christian Neubert Jr., 23, on his own recognizance because he is a parole violator. The co-defendant, Gail Lynn Scofield, 18, is free on $6,520 bail.

They were arrested Sunday in Larkspur.

$2,000 Contributed To Humane Society

Animal Aids of Marin has contributed $2,000 to the new Marin County Humane Society facility in Ignacio to construct a fountain on the society's grounds, Mrs. Joseph B. Rice, chairman of Animal Aids, said today.

Animal Aids also gave plans for the fountain for which they paid $135 to architects Crawford and Banning of San Rafael. The money was raised through two winetasting benefits, the last one Saturday at the humane society attended by 350 people.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FACTS OF Lite T.M.

1. "Is Lite a real beer?" Yes, Lite is real beer—not a "near" beer. With the exception of ⅓ LESS CALORIES, Lite is a complete premium beer in every way.

2. "Does Lite have less calories?" Lite has ⅓ LESS CALORIES than regular Meister Bräu premium beer. Lite contains only 64 calories in an 8-ounce serving.

3. "What about the taste?" The special process that brews out the calories also gives Lite the lightest taste yet in a premium beer. A crisp, clean-cut, invigorating and refreshing taste. Lite is less filling, too.

4. "How is Lite brewed?" Lite represents a scientific breakthrough . . . a spectacular achievement in the brewing art. Except for the extra step that brews out ⅓ OF THE CALORIES, Lite is brewed as we brew all our beer: with the finest, most costly grades of ingredients . . . with great skill and experience . . . and with extra care and patience.

5. "Why is 'non-dietetic' on the label?" Because Lite is not a diet beverage nor is it a "near" beer. We simply have removed ⅓ OF THE CALORIES. But that's all that's missing.

6. "Who is Meister Bräu?" Meister Bräu is a leading Midwestern brewery, proud of its long heritage of brewing fine beers since 1838. It has pioneered a number of "firsts", including putting real draft beer in bottles and cans. It is now the first to offer you a real premium beer with ⅓ LESS CALORIES.

Lite gives you more of what you drink beer for.

Apartment Proposals Finally Win Approval

The San Rafael Planning Commission gave preliminary approval last night to long-contested alterations to an apartment development at Warner Court and Woodland Avenue.

The changes, subject to final approval April 8, are a sharp departure from what Steele Holman, owner of the apartments, first proposed last December.

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner observed coldly that he and Asst. City Planner Charles J. Linthicum had seen the plans through a "multiplicity of changes" and that information provided the staff often was incorrect or inadequate.

Holman first sought a variance for a four-unit addition to the first of two units at the site, but now seeks to attach the new units to the second dwelling and provide additional parking in a corner of the lot.

Holman said he did not object to several conditions improsed by Hotchner for a variance and architectural approval, among them the stipulation that work must begin within three years.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

WAREHOUSE — Postponed until April 8 action on an application by owner Ray M. Dotto for architectural approval for a glass company warehouse at 76 Mitchell Boulevard in the Northgate Industrial Park. The commission asked for a new parking plan.

HOUSE — Allowed a five-foot setback, where 15 is required, to eliminate excessive bulldozing in construction of a house by Allan Hock on a steep lot at 279 Bungalow Avenue. Protesting after the decision, a neighbor, Wayne Diggs of 1 Perry Walk, said the variance would be incompatible with the area. He was told he could appeal to the city council.

CARS — Postponed until April 8 action on Ames Ford's application for a use permit to expand an auto sales and new car storage lot at 805 Irwin Street into an adjacent parcel. The commission was unwilling to provide as much driveway space as sought.

BODY SHOP — Approved a 15-by 30 foot addition to S and S Auto Body Shop at 180 Gary Place.

APARTMENTS — Gave conditional approval to construction of a two-story, nine-unit apartment building at 18 Valencia Avenue.

ILLEGAL — Was told by Hotchner that commission approval March 11 of a use permit to add 23 beds to a convalescent home at 120 Park Street was illegal because the property owner had not authorized the request.

QUAIL HILL — Was informed by Hotchner that excavation had begun on the commercial and residential development at Quail Hill, overlooking the Northgate area.

Air California Granted Hikes In Air Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Air California travelers will have to pay higher fares beginning April 15.

The California Public Utilities Commission yesterday granted permission to Air California to increase ticket prices and adopt more flexible routings.

In an interim order the PUC said the intrastate airline could raise fares for its routes between Orange County and the San Francisco Bay Area, between Oakland-San Jose and Ontario, and between Burbank and San Jose-Oakland.

United Air Lines, Pacific Southwest Airlines and Western Airlines all have similar applications for increases pending before the commission. But the PUC felt that Air California faced sufficient eergency to grant interim relief.

Increases were about 9 per cent, with fares between Orange County and the Bay Area jumping from $14.85 to $16.19. The PUC also allowed Air California to extend and consolidate its operating rights by changing its schedules during off-peak hours.

Hearing Continued In Burglary Case

A preliminary hearing on a school burglary charge against Thomas Chassereau, 19, of Petaluma, was continued yesterday until April 2 in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Chassereau, of 180-B Cherry Street, is set to enter a plea at the next hearing. He was arrested Feb. 27 by Petaluma police in connection with the Feb. 9 burglary of the Bernard E. Eldredge School in which a tape recorder and record player were stolen.

Group Is Formed For Candidate

A campaign committee has been formed by several College of Marin students for Richard J. Sloan, a 33-year-old Lagunitas carpenter, as candidate for the Marin Junior College District board in the April 15 election.

Student Jaime Muniz, campaign manager, announced the formation today. Other student committee members, he said, are David Bersin, Linda Buck, Sandy Crabb, Michael Conroy, Kathy Earl, Mary Griffin, Barbara Krow, Michael McGinn, Judy Pegues and Rosalind Schirmer.

The committee plans a skit, and a leaflet and telephone campaign, said Muniz.

Petaluma Board Views Budget; 8 Pct. Teacher Pay Hike Likely

The Petaluma Board of Education, in a lengthy shirt-sleeve session last night, reviewed preliminary budgets for the 1969-70 year, and promised to squeeze out an 8 per cent package increase for teachers.

George W. Castleberry, business manager, presented a budget of $2,180,287 for the elementary district, up only slightly from this year's budget of $2,129,892. Estimating the income of the district at $2,001,357, he said the general purpose tax rate must be increased at least 10 cents to balance the budget.

The last tax hike, approved in 1958, set the general purpose tax limit at the present $1.83 rate. Total tax rate in the district this year, including overides is $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

In the high school district, Castleberry recommended no in- of $4,140,344, up $201,406 from the present budget of $3,938,838. He said the increase would be caused by the addition of 16 teachers.

Estimating the income of the high school district at $3,940,694, Catleberry recommended no increase in taxes, saying an estimated 5 per cent increase in assessed valuation should provide the difference. General purpose tax rate this year is $1.55 out of a total rate of $2.33.

After hearing request for a 15 per cent package increase from the Association of Petaluma Area Teacher, members said they might be able to make an 8 per cent offer. Castleberry said if accepted, it would add $360,000 to the combined budgets.

The 15 per cent increase asked by the teachers was in addition to the automatic increase of about $300 provided annually by the salary schedule.

The teachers, led by Matthew Keller, were asking an 8 per cent salary schedule hike and 7 per cent additional in fringe benefits, including increased health and dental benefits, extra duty fees and a change in the salary schedule to include more teachers on the top pay scale.

Keller said he would take the tentative offier of the 8 per cent package to his membership. The package includes 5 per cent in salary increases and 3 per cent for medical and dental benefits.

The teacher representatives said that if the offer were accepted, it would be with the stipulation that negotiations reopen to discuss additional fringe benefits if the district recieves additional state funds.

The Petaluma Board Of Education Also:

PRINCIPAL — Hired Charles N. Cadman, principal and superintendent of the nearby Liberty School District, as an unassigned principal. McDowell and Cherry Valley schools will both have opening in the fall. Under the present salary schedule, Cadman would receive $13,874.

ELECTION — Members Sol Fishman and Clay Thompson indicated they will seek re-election to the board when filings open tomorrow. The term of Dr. William Kortum also expires this year.

FIELD — Received letter from Dr. Edward Rudloff, athletic director at Sonoma State College, asking the high school district to pay $48,000 to develop a football and track field to be used by the college, Rancho Cotate High School and Rohnert Park Junior High School. Agreeing to the plan in principle, the board instructed Supt. Lesly H. Meyer to investigate means of long-term financing.

TEACHING — Heard report and saw video tape demonstration of new methods of teaching mathematics to reluctant learners at Rohnert Park Junior High.

RESIGNATIONIS — Received resignations fo Mrs. Edward Bishop and Mrs. Ted Wndresen from the northern area advisory board.

APPOINTED — Named Mrs. Verna David and re-appointed William Evans to the Penngrove advisory committee.

Deadline Is Set On Medicare Plan

The deadline for persons over 68 to sign up for the doctor bill part of Medicare is next Monday, Social Security District Mgr. Ed Leuin reported. It is the last time persons over 68 will be permitted to sign up, he said.

Persons under age 68 will have at least one more opportunity to apply during the first three months of 1970, Leuin said. Those under 65 may apply during a seven-month period which begins three months before age 65.

If the earth were perfectly smooth and round, the oceans would cover it to a depth of 12,000 feet.

Bagley Asks Greater Peace Officer Powers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend the power of peace officers to cite suspected law breakers instead of booking them into jail has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The new power, however, would be limited to misdemeanors, to felonies punishable as misdemeanors and to felonies punishable by not more than 10 years in prison.

The legislation is premissive, thus leaving it to the discretion of the peace officer whether to cite or book. Under present law, their power is limited to minor misdemeanors such as vandalism.

Examples of crimes that would be covered by the legislation include embezzlement, petty theft, grand theft, auto theft, and possession of marijuana.

The bill was one of five introduced Monday by Bagley. The othere were:

REFUND — Provides that persons entitled to refund of excess payment for unemployment disability insurance shall receive a credit or refund on personal income tax rather than file a claim for refund with the Department of Employment.

AGRICULTURE — Increases state participation in county agricultural commissioners' salary from $3,300 to $9,600 a year. Revision of the 1959 formula was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Marin's agricultural commissioner, R. Allen Ballard, is paid $14,400.

SUBPOENA — Empowers the chairman of a legislative committee to subpoena documents without full committee vote as required now. Designed to eliminate the present, cumbersome requirement that documents can be presented only before a full committee meeting, the measure probably will be amanded to limit it to public documents, Bagley's staff said.

RETIREMENT — Sets up retirement system for legislative employees to provide 50 per cent of salary after 20 years.

Dissolving Quentin Yarn Mill Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Elimination of yarn spinning at San Quentin's cotton mill has been proposed in a bill by Sen. Lawrence E. Walsh, D-Los Angeles.

Instead, the Department of Corrections would buy yarn produced by commerical firms. Also, the bill specifically allows the department to buy synthetic as well as cotton yarn for the mill.

The reason for his bill, Walsh told the Independent-Journal, was that it was costing the state more to have the raw cotton spun at the mill than to buy yarn. The spinning equipment at San Quentin was "outdated and outmoded," he said.

Walsh, chairman of the Senate Institutions Committee, also proposed in his bill that the maximum gross annual production limitation of the mill be cut from $1.5 million to $1 million. The mill now is producing just under $1 million a year, he said, and "doesn't need" the higher limitation.

Another bill, by Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Bakersfield, would make it permissible, rather than mandatory, that counties and cities buy only prison-made goods when available. The law never has been enforced, but private businesses long have objected to the provision in the law.

Vase, Coins Taken

Burglars took an antique vase, valued at $150, filled with $50 in coins, from the home of Joseph Sparrowhawk, 602 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley, between 7:10 a.m. and 5 p.m. yesterday, police reported.

House Break-In

Someone kicked in the locked basement door of the home of George H. Morse of 200 Wilson Way, Larkspur between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., yesterday, and stole $5 from a dresser in the master bedroom, Morse reported to police last night.

Hub Seeks U.S. Funds To Buy Park Addition

The San Anselmo City Council last night agreed to go ahead with an application for federal funds to acquire 5.7 acres of land adjoining Sorich Park, despite reports of an unstable soil condition which would limit development. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1.)

The land, owned by Robert E. Jones, was offered to the city for $26,000 and the city is asking the federal government for half of that amount.

The parcel is assessed at $4,600 and the county assessor said it has a market value of $20,000, but the city has not had it appraised.

The council received a letter from the city's planning commission pointing out the land lies in a fault zone, is unstable and subject to sliding.

The commission said, "The city should not permit acquisition of this property to jeopardize other park programs."

John O'Rourke, a civil engineer, checked the property and reported it has unstable soil conditions and would need about $5,000 worth of erosion control.

Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro pointed out there are other, better pieces of property in San Anselmo, while Councilman Robert M. Scott said he was against just acquiring open space when "we can't reasonably take care of what we have."

Councilman James R. Reed said the only good use for the property is for open space and that is what the city would use it for.

The council also agreed to acquire a parcel between 1357 and 1361 San Anselmo Avenue for use as a tot lot. The parcel is to be sold by the county for delinquent taxes, but the city may have it free, Alfred C. Kaeppel, city administrator-controller told the council.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

CLEAR VIEW — Approved, 4 to 1, the request of Clear View Cable Systems to transfer its stock to Columbia Broadcasting System. Reed voted no because he believed CBS would never begin the community closed circuit station Clear View has mentioned.

DOGS — Discussed with Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Humane Society, the proposed new animal control ordinance in preparation for a public hearing on the matter scheduled for April 29.

LIVING QUARTERS — Overturned a planning commission denial for a use permit for separate living quarters at the home of James E. Kendall of 20 Idalia Road after Kendall promised the extra room would be for his family only and he would provide a deed restriction that it would never be used as a rental unit.

BRIDGE — Approved construction of a footbridge at 12 Allyn Avenue as requested by James G. Douglass.

MEMORIAL PARK — Delayed action on the master plan for Memorial Park to see if some of the 64 parking places could be eliminated and whether the portion of Sonoma Avenue which runs past the park could be closed.

OCCUPANCY — Denied an occupancy permit requested by A. W. Barthel, for the Senor Alfredo Mexican rdstaurant at 115 San Anselmo Avenue. The restaurant is in half of the old Safeway building, where occupancy was stopped by the city because the owner has not complied with landscaping requirements.

RENTAL UNITS — Delayed for study by the attorney a proposal to have annual inspections of rental units in an effort to prevent the multiple resident problems now existing.

STATE FAIR — Agreed not to participate in a county display at the state fair as requested by the board of supervisors to benefit the motel and hotel business because San Anselmo has no motels nor hotels.

Suspect Accused Of Filing False Report

Gordon Keith Jennings, 21, of 3 Sierra Vista, Novato, was arrested by San Rafael police last night on suspicion of giving a false police report, the second time in as many days he has been arrested.

Police arrested him Monday on suspicion of possessing stolen property but he was realeased with no complaint filed pending further investigation. Police said he had a television set which may have been taken in a Greenbrae burglary Sunday.

Jennings already faces court appearances on April 8 and 10 on two burglary charges.

The youth's latest arrest came shortly before midnight after he allegedly was involved in a hit and run collision with another car, then reported to police his car had been stolen, police said.

Police said a car believed to be the one Jennigs drives — sideswiped a car driven by Joseph Walla, of 665 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, at Second Street and Grand Avenue shortly after 11 p.m. Jennings, a few minutes later, called police to say the car, which belongs to a girlfriend, had been stolen from the Bermuda Palms Motel parking area.

A witness to the collision told police he saw a car leaving the scene at a high rate of speed. The car, they said, fit the description of the one Jennings was driving and it had a broken headlight.

Another witness told police she saw two men behind her apartment building about the same time "wiping fingerprints" from a car answering the same description.

Jennings' car was later found in the area, police said.

He was held on $625 bail for a court appearance today.

Larkspur Street Project Backed

Larkspur Planning Commissioners last night recommended that Ward Street be extended to meet Meadowood Drive and that this improvement be given "reasonably high priority" in the city's secondary street development projects.

Ward Street ends at Holcomb Street now and the proposal is to extend it across Arroyo Holon Creek for access into Meadowood subdivision, City Clerk Judy Beal reported.

Commissioners also recommended the city council adopt an underground utilities ordinance, putting into law the requirement of such utilities in all new subdivisions. This policy is now practiced, Mrs. Beal said.

Fuss Erupts On Rezoning In Novato

Disagreements between the Novato Planning Commission and the Novato City Council flared up again last night and the council returned three rezonings to the commission for reconsideration.

Sent back were the requests of William Guinnane and J. C. Youngberg for a rezoning from commercial to multiple residential for two parcels south of Warner Creek, one east of Diablo Avenue, the other north of Center Road and of Paul Pickart for a rezoning from agricultural to planned residential for approximately six acres at the end of Hill Road.

Guinnane and Youngberg last August asked for rezoning rrom restrictive ocmmercial to multiple residential for their two parcels. The commission instead approved planned residential for their property and adjacent commercial property.

Frank Perachiotti, real estate dealer, and Peter Ferrarese, manager of Crocker-Citizens Bank in Novato, objected to changing the commercial zone residential. They objected because under planned residential, none of it could be developed unless a master plan was submitted for all five parcels.

The council instructed the commission to rezone the Guinnane and Youngberg properties to planned residential and omit the other property from the rezoning.

If the commission refuses to follow this recommendation, on their property to planned council members indicated they would do it themselves. It was necessary to refer the matter back to the commission for reconsideration before the council could act according to the City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr.

The council also referred back to the commission the Pickart rezoning because the commission had required dedication of an 84-foot right-of-way for the Hill Road extension.

The council instructed the commission to require only a dedication of 42 feet of the road at present and take an option on the other 42 feet for 15 years at a cost of $1. This offer was made to the city by former mayor Robert D. Carrow, representing Pickart.

The Novato City Council also:

TRIANGLE — Rezoned the remainder of the triangle bounded by Center Road, Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard to commercial with highway frontage regulations from agricultural, residential and restricted Commercial. The new C-1-H Zone requires a use permit for businesses.

LOT SPLIT — Referred back to the planning commission a request for a lot split on Farvue Road from Leo Wasset at Wasset's request so he could revise his plans.

BAHIA — Introduced an ordinance accepting changes in the master plan of 900 acres of the Bahia development at the end of Bugeia Lane to include multiple dwellings for a portion instead of all single family, a public lagoon and boat launching, a larger commercial area and an elementary school site. Councilman Douglas M. Merrill vacated his seat during this item because his employer, Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of San Francisco, is doing some architectural work for Union Bank of Los Angeles, owner of Bahia.

MASTER PLAN — Approved the master plan for a 117-unit apartment building and plans for 53 of these units at Ignacio Boulevard and Almeda Del Prado for Walter Kieckhefer.

ANNEXATION — Introduced an ordinance annexing four acres on the south side of Center Road at Eucalyptus Avenue.

VETERINARY CLINIC — Introduced an ordinance to allow veterinary clinics in commerical zones with use permits. The present zoning ordinance allows them only in commercial zones.

SIGNS — Introduced an ordinance to allow the plannning director to issue a permit for confronting signs. At the present time, all signs must go before the plan review committee.

WESTERN WEEKEND — Approved in principal of holding Western Weekend country fair on the unused portions of Redwood Boulevard and Peter Court in the Scottsdale development.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Robert G. Johnson from the planning commission. Johnson has served on the commission since its inception after the city was incorporated nine years ago.

Adjourned until 7 p.m. Tuesday to complete the final 11 items on the agenda. These include reclassification of some city positions, salary and fringe benefit recommendation and holding a closed meeting to make appointments to the downtown study committee and subcommittee, beautification committee and ambulance service study committee.

Novato House Arson Probed

Two fires, thought to have been set, did approximately $1,000 damage to a vacant house belonging to Peter Cancilla at 104 Caribe Isle, according to Novato Fire Chief James W. Kidder.

Neighbors saw smoke coming from the windows in the house and turned in the alarm, the chief said. When the firemen arrived, they found the back patio doors open.

There was a pile of clothing on fire in the hallway off the living area and a small fire set in one of the bedrooms, he reported.

Damage was confined to walls and floor, and smoke damage to the house and small amount of furniture in it, he said.

The sheriff's office is investigating the fire for arson, according to Kidder.

Wine Stolen

Burglars who entered the home of Frank Solinsky III at 111 Goodhill Road, Kent Woodlands, on Friday stole two cases of wine, sheriff's officers said today.

A BREAKFAST that brings the flavor of summer fruit to brighten the weekend morn. Peachy Good Waffles and a mugful of Hot Chocolate Raspberry Drink.

Golden Waffles Are Topped With Make-Ahead Peach Sauce

Oh, the joys of the perfect breakfast waffle. Crisp and golden brown . . . tender to the fork, light on the tongue.

With the time-saving packaged biscuit mixes on the market, you can make glorious waffles like this easy as toast. The interesting twist: A teaspoon of mace, along with real flavor makers like sour cream, milk, butter and eggs.

While your waffles are browning in the waffle baker, heat up the peach sauce you made ahead and have ready in the refrigerator. It has a flavor difference too . . . a subtle dash of almond extract.

And the "go with" refreshment could be an unusual breakfast drink called Hot Chocolate Raspberry Drink. It's the big lift beverage, milk, in disguise . . . made with one of the quick cocoa mixes and red raspberry preserves.

PEACHY GOOD WAFFLES

Waffles:

2 cups packaged biscuit mix
1 teaspoon mace
1½ cups milk
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 egg, slightly beaten

Peach sauce:

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) peach slices
2 cups peach syrup
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ lb. (½ stick) butter
½ teaspoon almond extract

To prepare waffles: In a mixing bowl combine biscuit mix and mace. Combine milk, sour cream, butter and egg; add to dry ingredients just until blended. Pour batter into center of a preheated waffle baker, spreading if necessary to cover surface. Bake until golden brown.

To prepare sauce: Drain peaches, reserving syrup (add water if necessary to make 2 cups). In a 1½-quart saucepan gradually add peach syrup to cornstarch. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes.

Remove from heat; stir in butter until melted. Add peaches and almond extract; over low heat bring to serving temperature.

Makes approx. 3¾ cups. Serve warm over waffles. Makes 3 waffles, 9-inches each.

CHOCOLATE RASPBERRY DRINK

⅓ cup quick chocolate flavor mix
3 tablespoons seedless red raspberry preserves
4 cups milk

In 1½-quart saucepan combine chocolate mix and preserves; gradually stir in milk. Heat to serving temperature stirring occasionally. Makes approx. 4 cups.

Lenten Fish Dishes To Keep Figure Slim

The Lenten season offers weight-watching homemakers an opportunity to keep figures trim while serving nutritious, low-calorie fish dishes to the family.

BAKED SALMON STEAKS

1½ lbs. salmon steaks (cut ½" thick)
¼ cup milk
1 tbsp. A-1 sauce
1½ cups dry bread crumbs
4 pats butter or margarine parsley
radishes
lemon wedges

Have salmon steaks cut into 4 uniform serving pieces. Mix together milk and A-1 sauce. Dip fish in mixture, then roll in crumbs until thoroughly covered. Arrange in greased shallow baking pan. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake in oven preheated to 500 degrees for 10 minutes. Arrange on platter with radish rosettes and parsley. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

SCALLOPS AND RICE

2 lbs. sea scallops, frozen
1 cup mushrooms, sliced
1 cup celery, sliced
½ cup onion, sliced
½ cup butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
1 cup white rice
2 cans consomme (undiluted)
¼ cup sherry
2 tbsp. A-1 sauce

Defrost scallops. Cook mushrooms, celery, onion in butter until onion is light golden brown. Mix together salt, rice, consomme, sherry and A-1 sauce with cooked vegetables. Place all ingredients in casserole with scallops; toss lightly, and bake, covered, in moderate oven (325 degrees - 350 degrees) for approximately 45 minutes. Serves 6.

DEVILED CRAB CASSEROLE

1 lb. crabmeat
1½ cups breadcrumbs
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup melted butter or margarine
¼ cup milk
1 tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. A-1 sauce

Mix together crabmeat, crumbs, celery, onion and green pepper. Add melted butter and milk and mix well. Add mustard, salt and A-1 sauce. Mix well and pour into casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Quick Chicken Sauce

To make a quick delicious sauce for curried chicken, make a medium cream sauce using half chicken broth and half cream; add curry powder to suit your taste.

A Touch Of Curry Highlights Salad

You can have subtle sophistication with hidden heartiness when you serve Curried Tuna-Fruit Salad. This recipe is practical and perfect for any luncheon occasion whether you are having special guests or simply feeding the family.

Large pieces of protein-rich tuna blend with pineapple chunks, cucumber, and cottage cheese. A touch of curry highlights the flavors and your choice of salad greens provides a crisp and colorful setting for the salad. An assortment of cheese, grapes, apple slices, and peach halves may be added for extra color and heartiness.

Tuna has many values to offer the homemaker. Nutritionally, tuna rates high as an easily digested protein food and as a rich source of vitamins and minerals so necessary to growth and health. Versatility is one of the advantages of tuna because it can be served alone or combined with other foods such as eggs, rice, potatoes, macaroni products, or a variety of fruits and vegetables. It serves as an important ingredient in appetizers, salads, or hearty main dishes.

Economy is another advantage of tuna since there is no waste.

CURRIED TUNA-FRUIT

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup chopped cucumber
½ teaspoon curry powder
Salad greens
2 red apples, cut into 24 wedges
½ cup seedless green grapes
⅓ cup peanuts
Mayonnaise or salad dressing

Drain tuna and break into large pieces. Combine pineapple, cottage cheese, cucumber, curry powder, and tuna. Chill. Place ⅔ cups tuna mixture on salad greens. Place 4 apple wedges around each serving. Top each apple wedge with a grape. Sprinkle salad with peanuts.

Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Shrimp Oriental With Scallions And Ginger

Recipes from the Orient have a special flavor and charm all their own. Far Eastern methods, such as quick cookery are welcome in American homes. For a delectable shrimp dish, try this one.

Shrimp Oriental

1½ teaspoons corn starch
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground ginger
1 tablespoon dry sherry or lemon juice
1 pound shrimp, shelled and deveined
2 tablespoons corn oil
1 scallion, chopped

Mix corn starch, salt and ginger. Stir in sherry. Toss with shrimp, coating evenly. Heat corn oil in skillet. Add shrimp and saute over medium heat 5 to 7 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add scallions.

Recipe makes 3 servings, serve on rice.

Lemon Sauce

A clear lemon dessert sauce can be made without lumps if 1 tablespoon of cornstarch is first thoroughly mixed with ½ cup sugar. The starch particles then will not cling together when 1 cup boiling water is stirred in and the mixture cooked 3 to 4 minutes to thicken. Remove from heat; stir in grated peel of 1 lemon, 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, and 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine. Makes 1 1-3 cups.

Banana Cake

When you are baking a banana cake or banana quick bread that calls for mashed bananas, it's a good idea to "mash" the fruit by forcing it through a fine-mesh strainer. When banana is mashed with a fork the resulting puree is not always uniform in texture.

Frozen Egg Yolks

To prevent frozen, left over egg yolks from gumming and lumping when thawed and mixed with other ingredients, add sugar before freezing. Mix in proportions of 1 teaspoon of sugar for each 1-3 cup of yolks. Since 1 medium-sized egg yolk measures 1 tablespoon, 5 1-3 yolks (or tablespoons) will equal 1-3 cup.

Young And Old Give Of Time

By BARBARA HOSMER

Enthusiasm of youth and the experience of an adult both have their place in the world of volunteer service to others.

As illustration take the work of 18 year old Carol Bullock of Terra Linda and white-haired, dedicated Ruth Vange of Strawberry. Both are lending their special talents to the program of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin.

CAROL HAS volunteered to be chairman of the 40 teen-agers who will conduct the Easter Seal Lily Day campaign on Saturday, offering balloons and paper lilies at Marin shopping centers and cities. She and other eager teen-agers from Marin Catholic High School hope to raise $500 with their all-day balloon and flower venture.

Mrs. Vange is the through-the-years volunteer who has helped with the crippled adults crafts and recreation program since she first was recruited by a friend who had been working with the original Marin group. The friend, whom Mrs. Vange had known from her years in social work in San Francisco, asked her to help with the new crippled children and adult group being organized around 1954.

"I had only been in Marin about six months then and wanted to find something to do," she explains. Ruth Vange has been at it ever since, as a volunteer driver of handicapped people, office worker and recreation volunteer. Last week it was she calling the numbers for the bingo game during the adult recreation session at the Easter Seal Society in Larkspur while people in wheelchairs bent over their cards in concentration.

"WE COULD DO so much more if we had more space," she said enthusiastically afterward. "We need storage space, too, to keep the looms in," she said, indicating the collection of small and medium size looms on which woven work was in progress.

Sometimes the crippled adults decide to accept invitations for outings at Marin homes or at the beach, but transportation is the drawback, says Ruth. "We need more volunteer drivers, even for the weekly recreation program here on Thursdays. When I was driver chairman I used to spend hours on the telephone to get people to volunteer to drive."

Ruth Vange is one of some 15 recreation and office volunteers who assist with crafts projects, games, monthly birthday parties and slide shows. And her husband is another. Chris Vange retired from the Army and the couple moved to Marin about 1953.

"He needed something to do so he went to work in San Francisco. Then when retired from that he decided to come here to help, too," she explained, while he was busy with office work in the next room at the Easter Seal headquarters.

RUTH VANGE has put her long experience to volunteer ends, and young Carol her enthusiasm, but each has a little of the other quality as well.

"We could have square dances if we had enough room for the wheel chairs and all," says Ruth eagerly, looking forward to the day when suitable larger quarters can be found for the recreation program. Most likely it would be Ruth calling the squares.

And although she's still a high school senior, Carol can point to volunteer experience beyond the average matron's. She's currently president of the Senior Girls Sodality at Marin Catholic, has worked in the Marindale School program for handicapped youngsters, and heads a monthly program of volunteers at Sonoma State Hospital. She's enthusiastic about her volunteer work with crippled and handicapped to the point where she plans to major in special education when she enters college in the fall.

Presently both Ruth and Carol are satisfied to be able to aid the Easter Seal programs of special therapy, day camp and resident camping, adults crafts and recreation, recreation for handicapped children and teens, and the purchase of needed equipment for handicapped persons.

"Many of these people would be shut-ins if it weren't for this program and volunteers," Ruth Vange remarked.

THROUGH THE years Marin volunteers have assisted with the adult crafts and recreation program of the Easter Seal Society when games, craft work, weaving, movies and lecture programs go on. Here a crafts project to make Christmas angels is underway, taking several weekly sessions to complete. Volunteers and volunteer drivers make the program go each Thursday at the Easter Seal Society in Larkspur.

ENTHUSIASM and a "can do it" attitude on the part of Carol Bullock make her an ideal volunteer in behalf of handicapped persons. President of the Senior Girls Sodality at Marin Catholic High School, Carol and some 40 of her classmates will conduct the Lily Day campaign Saturday with balloons and paper lilies offered to aid the Easter Seal program for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin. MMES. ROBERT S. Jason, Stewart H. Smith and Michael S. Newhall, all of San Anselmo, celebrated Mrs. Jason's birthday last Wednesday at a luncheon at the Iron Horse Restaurant in San Francisco. Following lunch they attended the performance of "Lamp at Midnight" at the Curran Theatre.

HOME IN Sausalito after an exciting trip to South America are the Fred A. Bakers Jr.

They began their trip the latter part of January on the west coast of South America. Among highlights were a train ride across the Peruvian and Bolivian Altiplano (high plains) and crossing by hydrofoil Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world, to La Paz.

This is the only way to see the lake in the daytime, Mrs. Baker says. The other way is by taking a night boat.

The Bakers also went by way of the Chilean lakes to Iguazzu Falls in Paraguay and up the east ocast for the usual sightseeing in Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires.

An especially memorable excursion was one to Angel Falls in Venezuela, the highest falls in the world.

HELEN HELP US!

Women's Role In The Home Dictated By Wishes Of Men

I resent your flippant reply to "Lesson Learned," whose career wife wouldn't become a homemaker.

I doubt that the problem was whether or not she buttered his toast or cut his toenails, as you put it. She probably refused to cook, clean and do laundry — basics a man expects of the woman he marries. If she won't do these things, what the hell good is she as a wife? Do you think career girls are exempt from home duties and bearing children?

Authorities concede that it takes a mature, intelligent woman to successfully combine a career with marriage — that to avoid divorce, the smart wife will be submissive as God intended her, and will diminish her tendencies to achieve outside the home and be independent.—MIFFED MALE

DEAR HELEN:

I am from Europe where husbands don't take this "career wife" guff American husbands bow down to. In my home I tell my wife, "You may be right, dear, but I have 51 per cent of the vote, and we'll do it my way." She loves me for it. Since I do her thinking for her, she is free to concentrate on making me happy. A pleasant arrangement. Why don't American husbands try it?—ANTONE

DEAR ANTONE:

. . . Because they don't have European wives!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Novato Art Guild Names New President

MRS. RICHARD WHITNEY

Mrs. Richard W. Whitney is the new president of the Novato Art Guild. A member of the guild for the past eight years, she has also served as secretary. Mrs. Whitney is also a member of the St. Francis Altar Guild and St. Francis Episcopal Church in Novato.

Painting and teaching an art class for the Novato Senior Citizens at the Community House are most enjoyed by Margaret (Peg) Whitney. She also enjoys reading.

Peg and her husband, a teacher at San Rafael Military Academy, have lived in Marin County "off and on" for the past 17 years. They have two sons attending Chico State College — Rick is a senior and Brian, a junior.

Peg was born in Louisiana and attended schools in New Orleans Atlanta, Ga., Jackson, Miss., and Miami and Jacksonville, Fla. She also attended David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tenn.

The art guild's purpose is to exhibit only the best of members art works. The guild has an annual art show with art demonstrations, and members participate in other art shows.

Officers to serve with Mrs. Whitney are Mrs. Carleton Rockey, vice president; Mrs. Hans Sommers, secretary; and Einar Kruse, treasurer.

$405,456 Spent In Reserve Funds

During this fiscal year, Marin County has used $405,456 in reserve funds set aside for contingencies, Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell reported to the board of supervisors, yesterday.

At the start of the fiscal year last July, the county's general reserve totalled $350,000. During the year, funds were added to bring the total reserve fund to $476,216. With $405,456 already spent, the current balance is $70,760.

"We've not been crying wolf," Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out. "We've now exceeded the budget reserve established for this year."

Mitchell explained that funds added to meet this year's drain on the reserve fund means that much less carryover for the next fiscal year and a built-in higher tax rate to start the new fiscal year in July.

Bales Is Given Nod For Another Deputy

A new deputy district attorney and a secretary-stenographer will be added to the district attorney's staff immediately to meet a big increase in court cases.

Addition of the two staff members, which would mean $5,291 extra cost between now and June 30, won unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Superivosrs yesterday.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales made a brief plea for the extra staff members and convinced the supervisors that his staff is swamped.

From July 1, the district attorney seeks another deputy district attorney, an investigator, a secretary-stenographer and a file clerk. But supervisors decided that these will have to await budget discussions.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

Dr. Ellen Binkley, chairman of the Tamalpais District's discipline study committee, will be moderator.

Ordinances On Marina Checks Win Approval

Two ordinances controlling the physical layout and use of houseboat marinas won unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Supervisors refused to delete the requirement that every houseboat marina provide a sewerage lateral for the collection of sewage from every vessel at the marina, despite another plea by attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing George Kappas.

However, they did yield to a request by yacht club owners that the definition of transient vessel be liberalized so that pleasure craft will not be forced to have a sewer hookup.

TRANSIENT VESSEL

Under the ordinance, a transient vessel is defined as any vessel moored which is occupied for less than four consecutive days or 10 days in any calendar month.

Yacht club owners, represented by William Hynes of Tiburon, argued that yachtsmen on vacation who tie up for a week would be reqiured to have a sewer hookup. Supervisors remedied that by adding this sentence, drafted by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest:

"A transient vessel shall also include any vessel for which a permit is received from the harbor master, stating that no sewage will be discharged during the occupancy."

The ordinances approved yesterday are one to be used by the planning department in establishing standards and regulations, and the second to be used by the department of public works in regulating physical construction of floating home marinas.

The ordinances require at least 50 per cent of each floating home marina to be kept in open water, at least six feet of space between houseboats, and 10 feet of space if either houseboat is two stories. Only one dwelling unit will be allowed on each floating home.

MUST GET PERMIT

All existing floating home marinas must apply for a permit within one month and comply with provisions of the public works ordinance within one year.

Under the planning and zoning ordinance on floating home marinas, owners of such marinas must apply for planning approval and use permit within six months, and comply with all planning and zoning requirements in three years.

The marina ordinances approved yesterday will be applied in conjunction with another ordinance passed last December to control construction and use of houseboats.

Open House Set

A public open house of the new Ross Valley Medical Clinic at 1350 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. The new facility will have a staff of 24 physicians, a pharmacist and an administrator.

Gasoline Tax Urged For Public Transit

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday urged the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission to recommend that gas taxes be made available for public transit as well as for highways.

A draft report by the commission's study group on finance firmly rejected any diversion to public transit of highway funds. Instead, it recommended a new property tax on Bay Area homeowners and special gas and vehicle taxes.

The draft report was to be consideredfor adoption this morning by the commission. Then it will go to the Legislature.

The supervisors' unaimous vote followed a sharp reprimand by Chairman John F. McInnis to Seymour Kashin, general manager of the Marin County Transit District.

The report, written by the commission's former study director, Richard M. Zettel, "Is cleverly contrived," said Kashin. "The whole document is loaded with conflicting statements — it's fiction,'' Kashin declared.

"I think your statements are completely out of line," flared McInnis. "You're supposed to represent us, but you do not represent me when you make such statements!"

McInnis accused Kashin of "irresponsible comments about public figures" and declared: "If it's the pleasure of the board, I'll hear no more from you on this report."

Supervisor Louis H. Baar also defended Zettel as a man who makes sense. "I've attended three meetings, and never once have I heard disparaging remarks uttered against him."

But Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. declared that the BATSC report on financing of transportation puts all emphasis on the freeway and atuomobile and not enough on rapid transit.

"I move we recommend to BATSC," said Arrigoni, "that all consideration should be given to sharing gasoline taxes to be used for public transit as an alternate to the automobile."

Supervisor William A Gnoss seconded the motion.

"If it makes you happy, I'll vote for it," said Baar.

'Oakland Seven' Jury Receiving Case Directives

OAKLAND (UPI)—The jury in the conspiracy trial of the Oakland Seven today received instructions from Superior Court Judge George W. Phillips Jr. after nearly eight weeks of testimony and 16 hours of closing arguments.

The judge said he would explain more than 40 complex directives to the panel of eight men and four women before it begins deliberations.

The seven are charged with felony conspiracy to have others commit misdemeanor acts of trespassing and obstructing police during an antiwar march on the Oakland Induction Center on Oct. 17, 1967. The defendants each face a maximum sentence of three years in jail or a fine of $5,000.

Comic Hits CBS With Big Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Jackie Mason, accusing the Columbia Broadcasting System of censoring a skit he taped as part of the Smothers Brothers show, has filed suit for $20 million damages.

Mason alleged in a court petition filed yesterday that cuts reduced his time on the show from 15 minutes to eight and that his performance was "mutilated and rendered meaningless."

Televising of the show was postponed from a date earlier in the month and rescheduled for next Sunday.

Wichita, Kans., was an Indian village and trading post but really expanded later as a rail center.

Marin Teen Shows In San Francisco

An art exhibit by Marc Phillips, son of Dr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Phillips of 29 Coast Oak Way, San Rafael, will be on display at Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, San Francisco, through April 11.

It is the first exhibit for Phillips, a 15-year-old sophomore at Terra Linda High School.

275 Drivers Already Entered In Sears Point Races

George F. D. Pridmore of Tiburon will be among the top-flight drivers in the Sears Point National Championship road races this weekend at the new racing facility in Southern Sonoma County.

Pridmore, 48, a native of England, will be driving a Formula Ford out of Robert Winkelmann's racing shop in Sausalito. A factory representative for Motorola Co., Pridmore has been in racing 26 years, in Europe and the United States. He's gone through bicycle, motorcycle and sports car ranks.

Formula Ford is the SCCA's newest racing class. The 100 horsepower English made Formula Ford is powered by a 1600 cubic centimeter Ford Cortina engine, similar to that used in a Cortina passenger car, and is capable of speeds in excess of 130 miles per hour. The Formula Ford class will be racing with larger Formula A, B and C open wheelers in the fifth race Sunday on the twisting 12-turn 2.5-mile circuit.

The Saturday-Sunday races will be for all Sports Car Club of America categories — production, sedan, sports car and formula. More than 275 drivers are already entered. Qualifying for national drivers begins at 9 a.m. both days. Regional racing will be held Saturday and national racing Sunday.

More than 10,000 persons are expected for the first road races of the new track, located off Highway 121, near its intersection with Highway 37. The races are sanctioned by Sports Car Club of America and will be conducted by the San Francisco Region, SCCA.

The grandstands seat about 3,500, with hillside viewing listed by Sears officials as approximately 50,000 capacity. Parking facilities will take 10,000 cars, although narrow Highway 121 will be overcrowded.

Capt. E. B. Taylor, commander of the California Highway Patrol's Santa Rosa office, suggests motorists contemplating trips on these highways (37 and 121) Saturday and Sunday avoid the congestion periods of 10 a.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. when traffic will be coming and going at the raceway.

Among area drivers competing in the national races Sunday, in addition to Pridmore, are:

Chub Feeney Popular Around Giants Camp

PHOENIX—One of the most popular figures at this training camp of the San Francisco Giants is the club's vice president and general manager, Charles S. "Chub" Feeney.

Articulate and personable, Chub mingles with the crowd at the Village Ball Orchard and stopped by our box seats to chit chat with members of the Giants Boosters Club of Northern California, here on a week-long tour.

I asked the 47-year-old executive about the team's sky high payroll and how it compares with that of the St. Louis Cardinals, reportedly close to one million boffos.

"I haven't seen the financial report from the other clubs yet," said Feeney. "But I would say our payroll is very close to the Cardinals."

Noted For Its Generosity

With such super stars as Willie Mays, Juan Marichal, Willie McCovey et al, Chub gets writer's cramp just from writing figures on checks. The club is noted for its generosity and Feeney said, "We had the top payroll for five of the last seven years." I don't know if he was bragging or complaining.

Feeney looks for baby-faced infielder Don Mason, third baseman Bobby Etheridge and pitcher Rich Robertson, former Napa High School ace, to graduate from the Phoenix farm club to the varsity this semester.

The veep also expressed general pleasure with the 1969 Giants and predicts a division title this year. "We've been particularly pleased with the showing of Ron Hunt, Hal Lanier and Jack Hiatt," he said of the second baseman, shortstop and catcher.

It's Giant Boosters Night

Tonight is Giant Boosters Night at the Phoenix Greyhound Races in honor of the 106 Northern Californians on the tour headed by Allan Murray of Kentfield and Paul Hartman of the GTS Travel Service of San Rafael.

One booster, Mrs. Carita McCloskey of San Rafael, has her Yorkshire terrier "Smokey" here but turned down my suggestion of entering it in the feature race tonight. "Oh no," she said, "The dogs might mistake it for the rabbit." I'm sure Smokey would win the pup's blue ribbon.

This is Hartman's and Murray's second tour here this spring. Their Boosters Club numbers more than 1,000 members. The first trip March 6-16 led the National League in wheelchairs (4) and canes (6) but this current group is "Our junior division," said Murray, looking out at a sea of silver thatched noggins.

Hartman added that the Northern California Boosters have an eastern division. "So far there's only one member from the Eastern Division on this tour," the travel agent said, identifying her as Rita Kennedy of — Short Hills, N.J.

Togged Out In Orange And Black

The Boosters are real swingers and are quite outstanding at the ball park in their predominant orange and black garb, the team colors.

Marin Countians here are Albert and Irene DiGrazia of Tiburon, Dr. and Mrs. Porter Forcade and Dr. Larry Bosley of Sausalito, Messers. and Mesdames Russ Fisher and Warren Williams of San Rafael, Mrs. McCloskey and Edith Varner also of San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. Russ "Bye-Bye Baby" Hodges and Marie McDevitt of Mill Valley, Sandy Newbarth of Kent Woodlands, Mrs. Hartman and little old line maker me and, oh yes, Smokey.

Most of the group came via American Airlines with the notable exception of Dr. Bosley who piloted his own private plane.

Marin Tars Nine Loses

Three College of Marin pitchers combined for a one-hitter at Albert Field in San Rafael last night, but errors and walks the Tars a 6-2 loss at the hands of Camino Norte Conference leading DeAnza College of Cupertino.

Tim Bryan, Bill Poole and Mike Terry yielded one safety but walked 12 men and were hindered by six errors, leading to all six unearned DeAnza runs.

Marin had six hits to the Dons one, with Kevin Eilson's two the best showing. DeAnza's record is 5-0.

Marin is now 3-2 in CNC play, with West Valley College next up at Campbell tomorrow afternoon.

Seals To Host St. Louis Blues

OAKLAND (AP) — With two games left in the regular season and second place in the West Division of the National Hockey League tucked away, the Oakland Seals will rely on pride for their spark tonight at 8 o'clock against the St. Louis Blues at the Oakland Arena.

The Seals have beaten the Blues, the West Division winner, only once.

Oaks Fall To Dallas

HOUSTON (AP) — The Oakland Oaks end their regular season American Basketball Association road schedule tonight at last-place Houston of the Western Division.

Having long since wrapped up the Western Division title, the Oaks return home for a five-game stand before opening the playoffs against the third place Western Division team, which now is New Orleans.

Fourth-place Dallas socked it to the Oaks last night, 127-120.

San Rafael, Redwood Also Win

The first great collision in the Marin County Athletic League swimming race turned out to be more of a case of hit and run yesterday as Tamalpais High dunked Novato, 53-41, at Mill Valley.

The Indians got their expected wins in the individual medley, backstroke, butterfly and breaststroke, scoring heavily in all of them, but they also made surprising inroads into Novato's strong point—the freestyle.

RUNAWAY

Tom Smiley in the 200 free, John Moe in the 50 free and Lowry McFerrin in the 100 free all won to turn the meet into a runaway.

In other meets, San Rafael submerged San Marin, 63-15 at San Rafael and powerhouse Redwood stopped Drake, 66-27, at Larkspur.

Sophomore Brian Hennessey with a hot 1:56 in the 200 free and a fine 4:13 in the 400 free paced the Giants, who also got a double win from veteran Ken James.

Giants Wallop Athletics; Jim Hart Out With Injury

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants mastered the Oakland Athletics 12-3 yesterday but some of the joy was lost when a groin muscle injury put Jim Ray Hart out of action for at least five days.

San Francisco, 13-4 in Cactus League play, challenged the Seattle Pilots today.

Hart was hampered with a similar groin injury last season when he blasted 23 homers. He stumbled chasing a foul in the Giants' bullpen in the ninth inning in yesterday's game at Phoenix.

Willie McCovey hit his second homer of the spring and drove in four runs helping the Giants edge the A's in their spring series, two games to one.

McCovey homered in the first after Ron Hunt had singled and drove in single runs in the fifth and sixth.

Hunt had a perfect day at the plate with three singles and two walks, scoring three times.

The Giants tagged Oakland right-hander Chuck Dobson for eight runs on 10 hits in six innings. The Giants added five more hits and four more runs off Paul Lindblad and Ed Sprague.

Giants' starter Bob Bolin worked a wobbly six innings, giving up three runs on eight hits and four walks.

Until Hart recovers, Giants' Manager Clyde King said he would try Bob Burda and Ken Henderson in left field.

Cal Coach Is Mum On Move To Indiana

BERKELEY (AP) — Sam Bell returned today from Tempe, Ariz. with his track team and reports he will leave California and become head track coach at Indiana.

Reached in Arizona, where his team met Arizona State in a dual meet yesterday, Bell, 39, said, "I have no comment and I don't know where they got the story . . ."

Bell, who came to California four years ago from Oregon State, said, "If it were going to happen, I wouldn't be the one to announce it."

Several Bay Area newspapers reported Bell would succeed Jim Lavery at Bloomington.

A spokesman at California did not confirm the move, but said Bell "prefers a small town situation and is happier in that environment. Sam improved our program at Berkeley and has developed a good, young team."

Bell is the third coach in Cal track history. In 1965 he succeed Brutus Hamilton, who succeeded the first coach, Walter Christie, in 1932. Christie became coach in 1900.

Tars Capture Tennis Match

Coach Dick Read's College of Marin tennis team improved its Camnino Norte Conference record to 2-0 yesterday with a 4-3 win over West Valley College of Campbell in Kentfield.

Dan Matin, and John Oyarzun were doubles winners for Marin, and also won in singles. Larry Husband and Brian Spelman won the deciding doubles match, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

The Tars, now 2-2 overall, face Contra Costa College of San Pablo at Kentfield tomorrow.

Redwood, Novato, San Rafael Win

Redwood and Novato high schools, two prime contenders for the Marin County Athletic League track and field throne, flexed their muscles in strong showings yesterday as league action got under way after a washout Friday.

The surprise came at San Rafael High where the supposedly thin Bulldogs routed a good Drake team, 85-42, behind triple threat Bob Peterson and a flock of talented runners.

Redwood won its annual collision with Tamalpais, taking a 77-50 win over the outmanned Indians in Mill Valley and Novato whipped Terra Linda, 88-39 at Terra Linda.

POWERFUL

Tamalpais, already weakened by injuries and transfers, simply didn't have enough to go around against the deep and powerful Giants.

Tod Norris sparked the win, taking the 880 and 440 and anchoring the mile relay. Judd Pillar got off a toss of 145 feet, 1 inch in the discus and Dave Leak took the high jump in 5-11, best among MCAL preps so far this season.

For Tamalpais, Luther Brown won the 220 and the long jump and Verdean Herbold, out for track for the first time, got off a winning toss of 49-8 in the shot.

TRIPLE

Peterson won the 100 and 220 and the long jump for the Bulldogs while Bob Silva swept the hurdles. For Drake, Rick Earhart won both the high jump and pole vault.

Phil Emswiler won both the 100 and the 180 low hurdles for Novato, which won 10 out of 13 events. Mark Jones was a double winner for Terra Linda, taking the triple jump and the pole vault.

Novato 88, Terra Linda 39

High Hurdles — Melcon (TL), Jones (TL), Phillips (N), 16.3.

Three Wins For Prep Baseballers

The advent of spring moved three Marin County Athletic League baseball players to heroics yesterday afternoon, leading to victories for their schools, while two other clubs fell short, one without an individual standout, another in spite of him.

Bob Sutherland's two-out single gave Drake a 2-1, 10-inning win over Santa Rosa High in San Anselmo; Russ Dillon kept Novato unbeaten with a perfect inning and a third of pitching as the Hornets snuck by Napa, 7-6, and Rick Denning's three-run homer led Marin Catholic past Cardinal Newman in Santa Rosa, 6-4.

LOSERS

In the loser's bracket, Mike Timmel struck out 10 in seven innings of two-hit ball, but seven errors gave Oakland Tech a 4-1 win over Timmel's Terra Linda club, while Tamalpais was hampered by errors in a 4-1 loss at Sonoma High.

Dillon struck out two and kept the bases clean for Novato, which improved its record to seven wins without a loss. Wally Campbell, Glenn Holsclaw and Dee Fedrick had run-scoring singles in the sixth to give the Hornets a 7-2 lead after Napa had grabbed a 2-0 first-inning advantage, the first time Novato had trailed all year. But after Napa rallied for four runs in the sixth, Dillon came in to put out the fire.

Warriors Open Playoffs Vs. Lakers Tonight

INGLEWOOD (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers and San Francisco Warriors open play tonight in a best-of-seven series to decide which team moves on to play for the Western Division championship of the National Basketball Association.

All indications are for a hard-fought, physical style of play series.

The winner will earn the right to meet the victor of the St. Louis Hawks-San Diego Rockets series. Then the Western Division champ will meet the Eastern Division titleholder for the NBA crown.

The Lakers, who finished first in the West compared to the Warriors' third, won the season's series between the teams, 4 to 3.

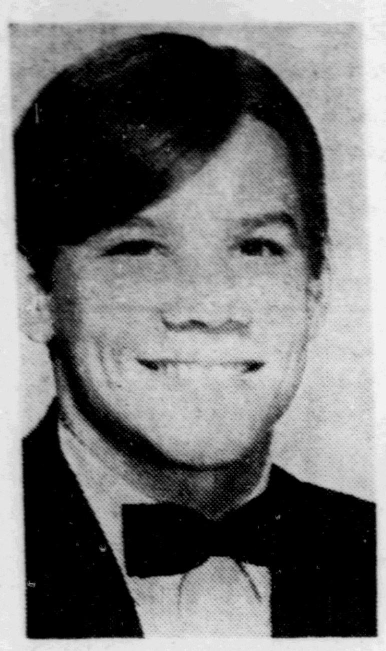
No Way Of Separating Those Donaldson Twins

Among Top 15 Prep Athletes To Be Honored



KIRT DONALDSON

KEN DONALDSON

There's no way of separating the Donaldson twins.

Ken and Kirt Donaldson who have dominated the lower weight class prep wrestling circles in this area for the past three years, will be "one" of Novato High School's outstanding athletes at the annual KTIM Sportsman Club Top Athlete banquet tomorrow at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The twins, who also received the joint top wrestler award at the North Coast Section Meet in Hayward this year, join quarterback-pitcher Russ Dillon as Novato's "two" outstanding athletes.

FROM TAM

Representing Tamalpais High School will be another quarterback-pitcher — Don Mackin, along with halfback and track star Luther Brown.

Gridder Derik Clark and baseball-basketball standout Roger Thomas are San Rafael's picks. Three-sport players Jim Peters and Pete Carroll are Redwood's picks. For Marin Catholic the choices are two-time all-Marin County Athletic League baseball player Rick Denning and high-scoring halfback Jim O'Brien. Triple-sport men Clark Jamison and David Alvarado are Drake's picks and footballers John Dohn and Joe Rowell represent Terra Linda.

HONORS

The banquet honors the top senior athletes from the seven established MCAL schools.

There will be no guest speaker this year. Instead, the athletes and other guests at the banquet will watch the Interservice Boxing Championships as guests of Hamilton Air Force Base commander Col. Michael J. Stublarec.

McClain re-entering to pick up the win in the ninth. Bauman went to third on the game's only error in the 10th, and Sutherlands' single sent him home.

Denning had three stolen bases and three runs scored in addition to his homer for the Marin Catholic Wildcats.

Softball Openings

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department is extending its spring softball registration one week, ending next Monday. There are still openings in both of the Class C divisions. Interested persons should call the park and recreation department.

Trevino Is Out Of Action

MIAMI (AP) — Lee Trevino has a sore thumb, Arnold Palmer has an aching back, Jack Nicklaus has an attack of the wildness and that's the casualty report for the $200,000 National Airlines Open Golf Tournament, starting tomorrow.

Trevino, the voluble U.S. Open champion, became the newest on the hospital list when he jammed his left thumb into a door on his arrival here yesterday, forcing him out of the pro-am tournament today.

NOT SURE

He's still not sure he will be able to tee it up tomorrow and go on to play in the Masters two weeks hence.

A doctor put a cast around the thumb and Lee's wrist and said: "Nothing's broken, but when we take the cast off Thursday morning we won't know whether he can play or not. It just depends on how he feels. He may be out 36 hours or two weeks."

It would be a big disappointment for Trevino.

"I felt I was really getting ready for the masters," he said.

Palmer, who gets injections twice a day for his ailing hip, said, "I don't know how it will be it—it's a day-to-day proposition."

LESSONS

Nicklaus, who found his booming drives soaring off course in the Jacksonville Open last week, complained, "I don't know wha's happening—I just seem to come up dry."

He wasn't around the country club of Miami Tuesday. There were reports he went over to take a lesson from his old pro at Columbus, Ohio, Jack Grout, now teaching in this area.

Palmer, Nicklaus and Trevino are three of the favorites in the 156-man field which tees of tomorrow in one of the year's richest events. First prize is $40,000.

Bill Casper, pro of the year and top money winner in 1968, is among the contenders as are virtually all of the top 100 money winners.

Novato Hornets In Favorite Role

By GARY TISCHLER

This could be the year of Novato and the seven dwarfs in the Marin County Athletic League baseball race.

If the Hornets ever get their hands on a bat.

None of the MCAL coaches is exactly conceding the race to the talented and deep Hornets, but all of them are lauding the Hornets' praises in language couched in a bit of awe.

Not that coach Bob Aune's pitching-strong squad will have it easy. There are at least three or four teams with enough potential to make a strong bid for the crown, should the Hornets' decide to play it nonchalantly. And none of the teams in a basically balanced league can be called a patsy, not even newcomer San Marin.

GOOD START

Novato, which has gotten in six games, all victories, is four-deep in pitching talent, and has plenty of heavy bats to go around. The two major problems confronting Aune is where to put whom and rain.

Back on the mound is Russ Dillon, surely the league's premier hurler, who can win a game by only half trying. An all-leaguer last year, he joins Steve McNally and Glenn Holsclaw, both returning starters from last year's runnerup team, and newcomer John Morrow, who has proven to be effective. Together, they make up the best mound crew in the league. And in high school baseball, probably more than anywhere else, pitching (and defense) is 80 per cent of the game.

SLUGGERS BACK

Back also are sluggers Barry Berringer, the league's top runs batted in man; shortstop Mal Sjoblom, outfielder Tom Zechlin, and outfielder Dee Federick, to name a few. And looking promising as hitters are Steve Majka and basketballer Ed Hernberger.

The real challengers would appear to be defending champion Terra Linda, with a veteran team, and Redwood, with a pack of promising newcomers.

Head coach Bob Corley, taking over for ailing and fiery Jess Payan, has all-league hurler Mike Timmel back along with an experienced crew.

Timmel almost single-handedly propelled the Trojans to the title with a perfect 10-0 showing in league play. He and Jerry Goodrick give Terra Linda a good one-two mound punch, but whether Timmel, coming off a grueling basketball season, can duplicate last year's feat is anybody's guess.

All-league catcher Craig Logan is back and third baseman Ken Lazzarini, second baseman Gary Trono and shortstop Bob Daniele give the Trojans good all-around speed and defense. Outfielder Dewey Forrey is also a returning starter and newcomers Bob Nadell in the outfield and Rick Payne at first will help.

Redwood is young but could turn out to be a real surprise.

"We're about a year away," coach Al Endriss said. "But don't count us out. If everybody comes around, we could be right in there. These boys really hustle."

TALENT

Endriss has a talented pitching staff, headed by junior Roger Smith, Dough Mantooth, Larry Hoffman and Tom Wickert.

The whole infield will have to be remade and likely candidates appear to be shortstop Ken Roby, who will step into Ken Johnson's rather awesome shoes, second baseman Eric Rasmussen, third baseman, Joe Ciheo and Mantooth at first when he's not pitching.

Jim Peters has moved from pitcher to catcher and is hitting well. The outfield is manned by John Boro, Pete Carroll and Jerry Piro, all from a championship basketball team, and footballer Rob Dorinson.

POSSIBLE

Marin Catholic and Tamalpais also could be right in there.

Coach Gary Hughes has nine starters back, including three-year veteran and two-time all-league third baseman Rick Denning, a pair of starting pitchers in Rick Thomas and Paul Dillman and another two-year veteran in rightfielder Bill Wilson.

Also back is catcher Rick Fox, first baseman Roger Offenbach, second baseman Mike Parnow, outfielder Tom Olsen and centerfielder Tim Hearn.

Expected to help is pitcher Bill Kelly and letterman Jack Carbone.

Tamalpais will be better defensively and coach Al Ahlsten's Indians' never had too much trouble scoring runs.

Some of the defensive optimism comes from a standout pitching crew headed by Don Mackin of football fame, and Mark Satterlie, Pete Senter and Bill Secor.

The hitters are led by Rob Nelson, an all-leaguer who hit .417 in loop play last year and was the loop's top home run hitter.

Other veterans include second-baseman Ken Bolstad, catcher Tom Frazier, centerfielder Wendell McReynolds, and third baseman Mike Locati.

Drake has good hitters in Dave Alvarado, Fred Westcott and Clark Jamison, but the pitching, is only good in what is an excellent league.

San Rafael has a standout hurler in Rafael Gallardo, who has already twirled a one-hitter, but the rest of the staff tends to be wild. A lot is expected from junior varsity players, but the only real veteran hitters are Roger Thomas and Gallardo.

San Marin, unlike its basketball counterparts, cannot be expected to be a pushover. The Mustangs have a standout in pitcher Steve Francis, speed in Bill Thompson and good hitting from all-around athlete Ken Gnoss. Gnoss and Francis have the winning habit, being members of the Novato Babe Ruth team that went to the Babe Ruth world series in Alaska two years ago. So did catcher Jack Burnam.

No Dunk Rule To Remain In Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The era of Lew Alcindor in college basketball is over, but the no-dunk rule, enacted to try and keep the UCLA giant in check, will remain at least another year.

The National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, which sets rules for the game in both countries, voted yesterday to retain the current regulation, even though Alcindor has completed his college career.

A major rules change approved by the committee would have a jump ball when any closely-guarded player in the frontcourt, including the post player, holds the ball for five seconds. Previously, the post player had been exempt from the rule.

Other actions announced included:

It will be a violation for a player to "air-dribble."

A technical foul will be called against the home team if benches for players are not at the side of the court, unless it is physically impossible.

A second free throw will be awarded for an intentional technical foul.

It was recommended officials give a visible signal when counting time.

For exploration, approved groups will experiment with control of the ball by an individual limited to 10 seconds.

A study of signals by officials was ordered.

Cincinnati pitchers set a National League record last season by completing only 24 games.

Golf Victory

Terra Linda High School's golf team defeated Lincoln High of San Francisco yesterday 3½-2½ at Marin Country Club course in Novato. Art Cudworth and Joel Jutousky led Terra Linda with 38s.

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Same Old-Fashioned Virtures Can Be Learned From Bridge

Some old-fashioned people think that playing cards are instruments of the devil and that those who play card games are immoral. Actually, contract bridge teaches you the old-fashioned virtues. Bridge players know what many modern people have forgotten: You cannot spend what you don't have.

Opening lead — ♡ Q

FIRST ACTION

South won the first trick with the king of hearts, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then led a low club from dummy. West won with the king of clubs in order to draw a third round of trumps with the queen. West then resumed the hearts.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of hearts and cashed the ace of clubs, discovering that the suit could not be established. Since dummy had only one trump left, South could not ruff two diamonds with that one trump. South therefore had to lose two diamonds. Down one.

NEEDS TWO RUFFS

South's contract depends on ruffing two diamonds in the dummy. He must therefore avoid using up dummy's low trumps, and must also prevent anybody else from using them. To put it another way, South must not spend dummy's trumps unwisely.

Declarer should win the first trick with the ace of hearts and can afford to draw precisely one round of trumps. Then he should duck a low diamond, allowing East to win with the jack or West with the queen.

DUMMY WINS

If West wins the diamond and returns a trump, dummy wins. Dummy's low trumps are still unspent. South takes the ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond in dummy. Then he gets to his hand with the king of hearts and ruffs his last diamond with dummy's remaining trump.

West can ruff in with the queen of spades, if he likes, but he cannot interfere with South's plan.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ — 9 7 6 4 2
♥ — K 7
♦ — A 8 7 3
♣ — 8 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Since you have only seven points in high cards and only mediocre distribution, you cannot force to game. Partner will probably pass you at two spades, which will satisfy you well enough. If partner has strong spade support and 17 or 18 points, he will raise to three spades, and you will accept the invitation to game.

Today is Wednesday, March 26, the 85th day of 1969 with 280 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1892 American poet, Walt Whitman, died in Camden, N.J., at the age of 73.

In 1942 President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines joined American Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia after a hazardous trip from embattled Corregidor.

In 1953 Dr. Jonas Salk announced a new vaccine he claimed was capable of immunizing people against polio.

In 1965 President Lyndon Johnson ordered the Klu Klux Klan investigated after four men were arrested in the murder of civil rights worker Viola Luizzo.

A thought for the day: Robert Frost once said, "The best way out is always through."

Nature Workshop Dates Announced

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

How One Qualifies Under Retirement Income Credit

Wikel

If you are over 65 years old, or if you are under 65 years old but retired under a public retirement system, such as firemen, policemen, teachers, federal employees, member of the armed forces, etc., then your retirement income may be subject to the Retirement Income Credit.

In order to qualify for the credit, you or your deceased spouse must have earned an income, not counting pensions or annuities, of at least $600 in any 10 previous years. Since California is a community property state and one-half of all income earned by one spouse is attributed to the other, most married couples who have lived here for over 10 years will both meet the test.

The credit cannot be for more than the total tax due and so result in a refund claim.

BENEFIT FOR AGE

If you are over 65 years old, then you are also entitled to the extra personal exemption for over 65. In the case of a married couple both over 65 years of age, this could result in personal exemptions of $2,400 and retirement income credits covering $3,048 in retirement income.

Also, pension and annuity payments come under one of three groups: fully taxable, partially taxable and tax free.

There are two different rules for taxing annuity income. The first rule is the life expectancy method. Under this rule, each payment you receive is considered to consist of two parts — a return of cost and income. Only the part which is income is taxed. This method is based on two things: the cost of the annuity and the expected return. The cost and expected return are used to figure the third factor, the exclusion ratio.

THREE-YEAR RULE

The second rule is the three-year rule and applies where part of the cost of the annuity was paid by the employer and the employee will get back what he paid within three years. Under this rule, all annuity payments are treated as a return of cost and therefore excludable from income until the cost of the annuity which was paid by the employee has been recovered tax free. All receipts thereafter are taxable.

Some pensions and annuities are tax free. If you have any doubts about yours, you should get IRS Publication 524, Retirement Income and Retirement Income Credit from your local office of the IRS.

A $100 Million Building Project For Emeryville

EMERYVILLE (UPI)—Plans for a $100 million building project on 60 acres of filled-in waterfront land in Emeryville was announced today.

The joint announcement by the F.P. Lathrop Co. and Matthew H. McCloskey of Philadelphia said construction will begin immediately along Powell Street.

The building site extends more than one-mile into the bay on land filled by the former owner, the Fibreboard Corp., which retained 63 acres.

Space Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martin Marietta Corp. has obtained a $98.2 million contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to develop payloads for long duration earth orbital flights late in 1971 as part of the Apollo space applications program.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Outlook Excellent For Ludlow Corp.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Will you please give me your opinion on Ludlow Corp? Should I hold or sell? — H. D.

A. Your company reported record sales last year, up 15 per cent to $139.8 million, while an even greater gain put net at $2.04 a share. A generous dividend policy has been pursued with about 50 per cent of earnings paid out in each of the last six years. The current dividend yields a bit over 3 per cent of earnings paid out in each of the last six years. The current dividend yields a bit over 3 per cent commensurate with growth expectations.

Home furnishings accounted for 57 per cent of Ludlow's 1968 sales, with packaging the next largest contributor at 27 per cent. Industry-wide, carpet sales have been growing at a 10 per cent annual rate until last year when the growth rate jumped to an estimated 17 per cent. Two of Ludlow's 1968 acquisitions are carpet makers; a third manufactures mobile homes; the fourth, on the West Coast, produces materials for flexible packaging. This last acquisition gives Ludlow a better geographic balance for participation in the fast-growing packaging industry.

I forsee earnings reaching a possible high of $2.40 a share this year for a current multiple of 14.5x. Shares should be held.

Steel Budget

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — National Steel Corp. reports it is budgeting capital outlays in 1969 equal to the more than $100 million spent last year. The company also said it is aggressively planning moves toward diversification both within and outside the steel industry.

Market Registers A Smooth Recovery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks registered a smooth recovery today as Wall Street hoped for a positive response from the national liberation front following South Vietnam's suggestion for secret meetings to help end the war in Vietnam. Turnover was moderate.

Several electronics picked up a point or better, including National Cash Register, Texas Instruments and Collins Radio. Electronic Data Systems filed its proposed tender offer for Collins' shares.

Steels lacked a definite pattern despite recent predictions for increased output and stepped-up demand. Motors also traded in narrow ranges, as did most chemicals.

Superior gave up several points in the oils. The firm reported a sharp drop in 1968 earnings. The balance of the group generally moved forward, with Atlantic Richfield, Phillips and Pennzoil showing good progress.

Although Ling-Temco-Vought was a firmer conglomerate much of the session, other such firms generally worked lower. Firms in this area have been under close government scrutiny in recent weeks. General Host was among the weakest conglomerates. Its bid to list additional common shares and $347 million in debentures has encountered some delay at the New York Stock Exchange.

The company is known as International Marine Services, Ltd. and is headed by Lax Byers of Mill Valley as president. # Police Cannot Carry Society's Responsibility

"It is obvious — but so important that it bears repeating — that as an increasing number of citizens refuse to become involved, society for its survival must depend increasingly upon law enforcement. Law enforcement becomes a substitute for the moral suasion previously exercised by the people themselves."

This is contained in a statement to the House of Representatives' subcommittee on education, presented on behalf of Gov. Ronald Reagan by the governor's special assistant for education, Alex C. Sherriffs.

Governor Reagan was addressing himself to the turmoil on college and high school campuses, which was under study by the subcommittee. The statement, however, has wider application.

A SOCIETY EXISTS through mutual trust. When this vanishes, it reverts to the "law of the jungle" — each for himself, without regard to the general good. Civilization collapses.

The role of the police in society is to enforce the laws. The police force was never intended to be moral arbiter. That is not its job. Neither was it intended to be a sort of preliminary court, weighing the legal technicalities, the moral arguments, and the public relations aspects before acting. When it is forced into such a role, it is outside its sphere — and is likely to perform badly.

INCREASINGLY, HOWEVER, Americans have abandoned their own responsibilities to society. Increasingly, they have adopted an attitude of "let each look after himself" — in effect, the law of the jungle. Are young people disrespectful and troublesome? Is there crime in the streets? Let the police handle it — but they had better be sure they handle it with utmost tact or they will be condemned for brutality.

Inevitably, those who lack respect for society, and respect for the law, will lack respect for the law's minions — the police. Yet when the police employ repression — which is the only means in their power to meet the challenge — they are condemned by many of the very public they are trying to protect.

Schools traditionally have been expected to enforce their own rules of discipline. When they fail to do so, and the campus becomes a scene of destructive disorder, there is no alternative but for the police to step in. Yet when they do, even professors in the schools they act to protect damn them as "pigs."

Even the courts sometimes help make police the victims — and subtly help undermine society's own sense of responsibility. This happens when a guilty man is set free, not because of doubt of his guilt, but because a policeman who arrested him failed to perceive all the legal technicalities that a lawyer, with weeks to devote to the search, was able to discover.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE for law enforcement to "become a substitute for the moral suasion previously exercised by the people themselves," as the governor's statement put it.

It cannot do it for the simple reason that the law itself is dependent on the moral suasion of society. Its enforcers — the police — are dependent on the moral suasion of society which stands behind the law.

When the people and their officials adopt the stance of Pontius Pilate and "wash their hands of this matter," the police are left without the support that is necessary to enforce the laws. The laws themselves become mere meaningless documents. The police become but one tribe in a furious inter-tribal war. The law of the jungle prevails.

Song's Bill Would Provide Tax Funds For Campaigns

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Many proposals have been made regarding the possibility ot turning over the cost of elections to the people in the name of "purity of elections," but a unique one has come from state Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park.

Senator Song has introduced a measure which would allow everyone who pays income tax to designate a dollar of the tax for the political party of his choice.

The money raised thereby, which would amount to more than $5 million, would be deposited in the state treasury and doled out to candidates for office under a formula within the bill.

THE FORMULA calls for five per cent of each party's election fund to go to the candidate for United States Senate; 20 per cent divided equally between candidates of statewide constitutional offices; 5 per cent to congressional candidates, and the remaining 50 per cent to the 80 Assembly and 20 Senate candidates who are voted on every two years.

By collecting the money from the people and dividing it equally, a good part of election expenses would be paid for by the public, and thus eliminate the necessity for candidates going to private sources for election funds. Song said.

"At present, candidates must go to special interests for the funds they need," Song pointed out. "My bill would take campaign financing out of the hands of these special interests, and return it to the people, where it belongs."

The bill would provide that no funds would go to candidates in primary elections, or for those running for non-partisan office.

"I WANT to open up this mysterious business of campaign financing to the general public," said Fong. "People should contribute to campaigns, and they should also knew where a candidate gets his money."

He said the measure would strengthen the two-party system, as at present, some office-holders are unopposed at election time becuase no potential opponent can raise money for a campaign.

It also would strengthen the laws, requiring reports of campaign expenditures. At present, only a candidate's campaign committee must file a report. The Song bill would require a report from any committee engaged in aiding or defeating any candidate.

AT PRESENT, names of contributors must be shown in campaign reports, but not the amounts contributed. The proposed bill would require disclosure of the name, address, and amount of money donated exceeding $200.

Although the bill is dedicated to a high-minded purpose, it would not prevent a candidate from taking the dollars from the state fund and collecting as much or more than they do at present from the "special interests."

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

We must begin to examine the very goods and services we produce for their inevitable environmental impact, before — not after — we produce them. . . . The hundreds of billions of dollars we will have to invest in cleaning up our air and water and landscape are the deferred cost of our past wanton consumption compounded by the high interest rate of time. — Stewart Udall.

County Committee Motives Questioned

The County Committee on School District Organization, in proposing a three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District, has tried to convince the people that it is acting in good faith. This statement is made despite the repeated warnings that what this committee is proposing is probably illegal.

The facts which belie the profession of "good faith" are:

1. The addition of distant Bolinas-Stinson District to the Drake attendance area, when next-door Ross would be the only logical addition. (But Ross has two members on the county committee.)

2. The statement of member David Ring that he has not made up his mind whether to allow the affected citizens to vote on this issue on a straight one-man-one-vote, majority-basis.

Yet Mr. Ring, co-author of this plan to tear the Tamalpais High School District apart, is now presenting himself as a candidate for re-election to the board of trustees of the Tamalpais High School District.

He might just as well ask me to select a ferret to watch a hen-house.

Nuclear Advice Coincidence Noted

It is interesting (and disturbing) to note that the Department of Civil Defense has suddenly come forth with advice on radio as to what citizens should do to protect themselves in case of nuclear attack.

We have had no such advice for years. But by pure coincidence (?) this warning comes as the national administration is trying to convince Congress and the people that this country needs the ABM system.

I hope every citizen will be aware of this remarkable coincidence.

'Let George Do It' —Some Results

With the increasing disturbances throughout the state and country, I can see that the citizenry has let George do it, and George is doing pretty well for himself.

I attended two meetings last Thursday night. First on "Sensitivity Training" . . . this meeting over early, I was able to get to the latter part of discussions on "unification" at Redwood High. I arrived to find the theater filled to capacity. About 80 per cent students, 15 per cent teachers, and 5 per cent interested parents.

It is very obvious that we have parents and adult citizens who expect things to correct themselves without any effort on their part. Maybe they have an ESP dial in their living rooms they control, or maybe they were watching "Gunsmoke."

Maybe a tired generation gave birth to a disinterested generation, which in turn is giving birth to a violent generation.

Don't misunderstand, many of these young people are alert and sincere with sharp minds. They must be made aware to keep an open and flexible mind and avoid teacher-student polarity.

As the tree is bent so it grows.

Why Majority Voted For Bonds

What about those who voted YES in support of our schools in the recent bond election? Though there were not quite enough of us to win, we did represent the majority—a 60 per cent majority. The reasons behind our vote may not look quite so dramatic in your news columns, but don't we deserve to be heard equally with the dissident minority? A minority, by the way, which has actually dwindled during the past two years.

We voted yes because we believe the bond issue offered an economically sensible way of meeting the need for additional classroom space in our schools. Construction cost for the present design is estimated at $19 per square foot—somewhat below the average for schools of similar size built in California last year.

We voted yes because we believed we can no longer afford to house more than 400 youngsters in temporary classrooms—classrooms which are both inadequate and costly. In the long run San Rafael taxpayers are paying at least a 25 per cent premium to house youngsters in temporary classrooms rather than to provide them with permanent facilities.

We voted yes because delay will add to taxpayer expense. Because of the rapid rise in construction cost, it is projected that the cost of building the needed new school will rise by about $10,000 per month in the foreseeable future.

So, basically, we voted yes because of the economies involved. But there were other reasons as well.

We voted yes because we believe in our schools and the job they are doing for our young people. Compared with students in other California systems, San Rafael young people consistently rank near the top in academic achievement. Like any system we have our problems. But we also were skilled, intelligent administrators and educators working to solve those problems. They deserve our support.

We voted yes because we believe our school board has acted with intelligence and integrity in coming up with a sound plan to meet the educational needs of our community.

But most of all we voted yes because we believe in our children. We believe they deserve not just an equal opportunity, but the very best chance we can give them. What chance can they have without good schools?

These are among the reasons 60 per cent of the voters said yes to our school bonds in February. And they are some of the reasons we believe an even larger percentage of voters will say yes on June 10.

In the interests of our taxpayers, our community and—most of all—our young people, we're out to win the next time around. We know we can't afford to fail.

20 YEARS AGO

March 26, 1949

THE DRUMMONDS

'Peace At Any Price' Could Plant Seeds Of Future War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — "Let the peace of the future go hang, we want out!"

That is the increasingly open demand of the peace-at-any-price proponents now mounting their campaign to pressure President Nixon to give in to whatever Hanoi demands.

Mrs. Nixon wants to end the war in Vietnam just as soon as possible — but not at the price of a fake peace.

The President wants Americans and other foreign troops out of South Vietnam just as rapidly as possible — but not in a way which discredits the word of the United States when it comes to the aid of a country which has been invaded.

PRESIDENT NIXON will not be easily pressured. He is strongly committed to an honorable peace. He has always opposed giving to the Communists at the negoitating table what they were unable to win in battle — namely, the possession of South Vietnam.

It is not to be taken for granted that most Americans will follow those who will say, in effect, forget about the peace to follow and let's get out quick any way we can. Every measure of public opinion shows that most Americans oppose unilateral withdrawal, and it is only by unilateral withdrawal that South Vietnam would be turned over to Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

The peace-at-any-price thesis is deceptive and could be alluring unless it is examined carefully.

REASON NO. 1 is that peace-at-any-price doesn't mean peace. It means creating conditions which make for future war. When Lyndon Johnson gave up the presidency to do everything he could to bring about a negotiated settlement, he warned against accepting a make-believe peace to provide a pretext for quitting. Mr. Nixon said he would not accept a settlement which would only "plant the seeds" of another conflict.

Reason No. 2 for rejecting peace-at-any-price concerns the future policy of the United States. Many talk about the need to learn the lessons of Vietnam and debate how the nation can use its power well and wisely to serve the cause of peace. Events, not words, are going to determine future American foreign policy, and the most controlling single event that could shape future U. S. policy will be the shape of the peace we make in Paris. If the United States deserts the cause of a just peace for South Vietnam, will any future ally or enemy have reason to believe our word? Can the United States expect to be a deterrent against aggression anywhere — in Europe, in the Middle East, in Latin America — if we come to the defense of the nation when it looks easy and quit when the going gets rougher?

If the United States runs out on the peace in Paris, it will be throwing away much of the nation's ability to deter war in the future.

UNDOUBTEDLY there will have to be concessions on both sides, but one thing the United States ought not to do is to accept the settlement which has built into it traditions which would enable Hanoi and the Viet Cong to take over South Vietnam.

The New Republic magazine takes this view: "There's no settlement in sight, honorable or otherwise, if we insist that we have been right all along and that disaster would follow were we to permit the Vietnamese to settle their dispute among themselves."

That misstates the issue. The unilateral-withdrawal advocates would impose upon the people of South Vietnam an unelected coalition government embracing unelected Viet Cong. That's not letting the Vietnamese decide for themselves. Only by making a peace which permits the South Vietnamese to elect whomever they want, including Viet Cong candidates, will we be permitting the Vietnamese to decide for themselves.

Most Americans, we believe, are not going to favor throwing away the peace — even if some do.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

Electoral Reform Dying Among Disagreements

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The drive to reform or abolish the electoral college, sparked by a much lamented near-crisis in last year's presidential election, is foundering and all but lost.

To be sure, House and Senate committees are going through the motions at the capitol. The committees are holding hearings on several constitutional amendments which would change the method of electing the president and vice president.

Congressional leaders are already saying privately, however, that the chances for achieving any of the proposed reforms are remote.

JUST BEFORE election day there was much talk of "constitutional crisis" if the third party candidacy of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace should push the election of the President into the House of Representatives or result in bargaining for support in the electoral college.

After the election, the issue was kept alive by the case of Dr. Lloyd W. Bailey, the "faithless" GOP elector who cast his vote for Wallace rather than Nixon when North Carolina electors were assembled.

The trouble is that changes in the Constitution's election machinery involve a long and difficult legislative battle. Any reform must command a two-thirds vote of the House and Senate and then win approval of three-fourths of the state legislatures, 38 of them.

ELECTORAL REFORM poses one of those awkward questions for a representative government: Polls show that most lawmakers favor some sort of change, but they differ widely on what sort of change it should be.

Moreover state interests, real or imagined, stand in the way of agreement on how to change the present system which awards the total electoral vote in each state to the candidate who wins the state's popular vote.

SMALL WORLD

Another school in trouble

PRESIDENT NIXON is well aware of the legislative difficulties involved. It cannot be said, however, that his message to Congress last month did much to resolve the impasse on electoral college reform.

At the end of the election campaign Nixon said the candidate who "gets the most votes" should be the president. That seemed to endorse a direct election by popular vote and pleased the supporters of that plan.

Now it is apparent that there was a misunderstanding. In his message to Congress Nixon shied away from the direct election plan on grounds of "practicality." He noted his long support of a proportional division of electors but said he was not "wedded" to that plan either.

"I doubt very much," said Mr. Nixon, "that any constitutional amendment proposing abolition or substantial modification of the electoral vote system could win the required approval of three-quarters of our 50 states by 1972."

Others here now doubt that 1972 will see any modificaton at all in the basic election machinery.

War is much too serious a thing to be left to military men. — Talleyrand.

Everyone In Fairfax Agrees—But Only To Disagree Again

Every so often something comes up in Fairfax that everyone (well, almost everyone) agrees on.

One of those items — more adequate city facilities — has received almost unanimous agreement for 10 years, but the city is no closer to having them than when the agreement first began.

The difficulty is getting folks to agree on where and how the facilities should be built.

THE LATEST in a series of proposals was officially presented to the city council March 3 by a group known in planning commission meeting minutes as the "Site Selection Committee for a Public Safety Building."

The committee was organized some time after last June 4 when voters turned down a $550,000 bond issue for a fire station at Bolinas Road and Sherman Street and a police-administration building at Bolinas and Elsie Lane.

First public word of the committee was last June 14 at an informal dinner gathering at the firehouse to acquaint the council with budget matters.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton said then a new committee to study means to provide a new firehouse would make its first report to the council in July. Members were Thornton, W. E. Radtke, a former mayor, and Harold G. Skaggs, a building contractor. Exactly where the committee came from was not made clear.

The next time the committee was officially heard from was this year (long past the promised July date; when it started presenting its plan to the city's official groups.

THE PROPOSAL, drawn by Harold S. Lezzini, a building designer and member of the Fairfax Planning Commission, showed facilities at Bolinas and Park Road, the site of the existing city headquarters.

Most residents weren't surprised by the plan. In fact, they were already familiar with it.

It is the same one proposed by Mayor Robert R. Souza in his "green letter" (so named for its color), last-minute piece of campaign literature which ran three pages and criticized an opponent and the then-proposed complex.

So far, the plan has not received much agreement. The parks and recreation commission gave it only "cautious" approval because it takes 30 feet of park.

The planning commission refused to accept the site and asked for a couple more choices.

So it was back to the drawing board for the site selection commitee, with a comment from an observer that it will probably take until after the next council election — April 1970 — to come up with a plan to put to the voters.

IT WAS SOUZA'S "green letter" which was responsible for a mysterious page in the 1968 Marin County Grand Jury report.

The page says merely a committee was assigned "one complaint involving alleged irregularities and possible law violations of election codes in a municipality within the county." The committee concluded "with the aid of legal counsel, (we) believe we resolved the matter satisfactorily."

The complaint was registered on the ground that certain peculiarities of the campaign literature violated election laws. Some persons still feel the laws were violated.

However, the foreman of the jury, Austin W. Little, is the father of the target of Souza's "green letter," Stanley W. Little.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Flexible Scheduling' Acquires New Meaning

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Being talked up (and down) in many California school districts is flexible scheduling for high schools.

Many parents — and certainly most students — would like high schools to break the pattern of having all classes meet for the same time periods every day, five days a week. Yet flexible scheduling proposals have encountered parent opposition in many districts.

What "flexible scheduling" means to parents and what it means to educators appear to be different things.

THE FLEXIBLE scheduling plans being proposed are "modular" plans. The school day is split into a predetermined number of "modules" of so many minutes each, then these are grouped to form periods of varying lengths. Each class is given the number of modules its faculty thinks it should have. These may again be broken up, however, by having the whole class — or two or more classes — meet together for some of the modules, then divide into small groups for the rest.

The ultimate (or nadir) of modular scheduling probably was reached in an experiment at Terra Linda High School a few years ago, in which the school day was divided into four-minute modules, which were put together in to a wide assortment of class lengths and arrangements. The resulting confusion pleased hardly anyone. The experiment lasted one year.

More typical is the plan in use at Claremont High School in Los Angeles County, where the school day is composed of 20 modules of 22 minutes each. Some classes meet for one module, some for two, and some for three.

THIS TYPE of scheduling inevitably results in students having some "free modules." For these, they are assigned to supervised or unsupervised study, a laboratory, or a "resource center."

Some changes beyond new class schedules are required. Ralph H. Sleight, principal of Pioneer High School in San Jose, which adopted modular scheduling in 1964, listed some of them in an article in the Journal of Secondary Education for December, 1967.

Sleight said modular scheduling required some building remodeling and refurnishing, overhead projectors and closed-circuit television, new rooms for teacher meetings, additional staff to handle purchases and serve as clerks for teaching teams. There were also problems of teacher education and attendance supervision.

He noted that, with the varying "free modules" for students, "it becomes extremely difficult to identify a person who is cutting a class." Administrators of other schools where modular scheduling has been tried have reported increased discipline and vandalism problems because of supervision difficulties.

EDUCATORS SEE two principal advantages to modular scheduling: It gives students more freedom for individual study, and it enables them to take more subjects during the school years.

The latter benefit can be achieved by a much simpler system — which is the one older parents are likely to think of when they hear "flexible scheduling." Widely used for generations, both in the United States and abroad it has some classes meet three days a week and some two, some for two periods, some for one semester. Any "free period" is supervised study.

When today's educators speak of "flexible scheduling," however, they have no such simple system in mind. They are discussing complete restructuring (some might say "instructuring") of the high school, not merely adjusting the schedule to permit a student to take more subjects.

Sex Education, Drugs, Unrest Bring Polite Candidates' Views

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A candidates' night for the Novato Unified School District board and Area 1 of the Marin County Board of Education last night touched repeatedly on the explosive subjects of sex education, drugs, student unrest, teacher responsibility and black studies but none of the touchy topics sparked any significant controversy.

The quiet two-hour meeting was characterized by its extreme politeness rather than discord.

The only real exchange came at the end of the meeting when candidates Carolyn Crabtree and A. J. Bresnan disagreed mildly on whether student protests on college campuses would spill over into high schools.

Mrs. Crabtree told the audience of about 80 she "had faith" in Novato high schoolers and believed they would not allow themselves to be subverted by radicals.

Earlier, she was applauded when she blamed all the problems of education . . . on parental delinquency."

Bresnan disagreed with her, saying that he felt Novato High School parricularly was "prime for campus unrest." He was also applauded when he said, "We should look at what the kids want and what the kids need."

Bresnan objected to the tendency of most people to call high schoolers "children" when most of then are "young adults and should be treated as such." He called for "real involvement, not passive involvement" by students in making decisions about the course of education and the operation of schools.

Another candidate, John M. Lane, said he thought student unrest at high schools could be "nipped in the bud" by setting up a districtwide program spelling out exactly who does what if a student breaks some rule and providing set penalties for certain infractions.

Earlier in the meeting, Mrs. Crabtree had called for more emphasis on the "three d's — drugs, discipline, deportment."

On deportment, she said high school students should be graded on it just as elementary students are.

On drugs, she said if students aren't given drug education by the sixth grade, it is too late. "Once they're on the junior high campus, if you haven't got them by then, forget it."

"On discipline, she said, "If they need a spanking, give it to them."

The question of sex education was discussed but not debated with the candidates generally agreeing that it was necessary but disagreeing on approach.

Volmer K. Jensen said he thought sex education whould be taught but only by "responsible well trained, moral" teachers.

John C. Anderson said sex education programs should reflect the wishes of the community and called for a "clear definition of objectives" which are now lacking in sex education programs.

George F. Caldwell Jr. approved of sex education "if it can be handled responsibly and calmly" but he urged tight control of teachers in that area. "If we can't be sure of what will be taught," he said, "then I'd have to be against it."

Mrs. Crabtree, who said she was not "gung-ho" for sex education in the schools, said there would be "less problems in school if the parents did their job at home."

Lane was the only candidate flatly against sex education. He said such programs were taking time from "basic education," adding: "When we get a high school graduate who can't read or write a simple paragraph, I'd say we don't have the time or luxury to spend on sex education." He was applauded.

Incumbent Marett B. Boissevain said the Novato schools have made a "good start" in family life education but the existing programs "are not necessarily the end" results desired. He said the sex education classes should remain elective so if a parent objected, he could keep his child out of the classes.

Boissevain said he thought Novato district schools were "doing a better than average job" despite having low income and low per pupil costs.

The other incumbent, William Schneeflock, agreed with Boissevain, saying Novato had a "wonderful school system . . . but I'd hate to think it couldn't get better."

In response to a question from the audience, candidate Ronald D. Schenck said he favored establishing a black studies program. He also proposed a differential tenure system which would outlines teps for teachers to advance over a period of 15 years to help "weed out those few teachers who simply don't do the job."

Schenck also said a broader tax base was needed and more industry should be set by the schools.

The candidates for the county board, incumbent James A. Swenson and Gary F. Huff, agreed on the need for expanding special education programs in the county, with Huff urging these be financed by federal funds.

Agents Raid Diaz Ranch, Arrest Two Drug Suspects

While horses grazed peacefully outside, narcotics agents swooped down yesterday on the old ranch house at the Diaz Ranch on Panoramic Highway near Mill Valley and arrested two of its residents.

Booked on suspicion of marijuana possession were Peter Bruce Winston, 22, and Gayle Cecilia Solon, 24, who were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Drug abuse agents said they went to the ranch yesterday about 3:30 p.m. armed with a search warrant, inside they found suspected marijuana — in a vitamin bottle — suspected hashish and cocaine, as well as pipes apparently used for smoking drugs.

Agents said the suspected drugs will be analyzed before other charges are filed.

Winston is the owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley, agents said, where a large narcotics raid took place earlier this year. He was not arrested at that time.

New Ruling On Scotch Whisky

BONN (London Express) — The German Supreme Civil Court today ruled that Scotch whisky cannot be sold or advertised as Scotch unless it is at least 3 years old.

Giving judgment, the court said that buyers laid value on the age of whisky and that the word "Scotch" was in itself an incitement to buy.

"A false claim therefore clearly exists if whisky is younger than 3 years old, even though its taste and price may appear comparable to 3 year old whisky" said the court.

"Whisky sold in Germany must confirm to the same rules laid down by Scottish distillers."

Weissich For Tighter College Conduct Rules

Special to the I-J

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Tighter conduct rules on state college campuses were urged yesterday by a California State College Board of Trustees committee here.

William O. Weissich of San Rafael, attending his first meeting since appointment to the board, urged that suspension or expulsion be decreed for those "aiding, abetting, advising or encouraging" violation of college rules. The code now carries such possible penalties for "procuring" rule violations.

This and other suggestions were turned over to a staff committee which is to present proposed rule revisions at the board's April meeting. Public hearing on resulting revisions will be held in May.

Tighter rules against drug use and lewd, indecent or obscene conduct were also urged. Ernest Becker, dean of students of the state college system, said there are reports that "10 to 75 per cent of our young people use marijuana." He suggested that those engaging in lewd or obscene conduct perhaps need psychiatric help and should not be disciplined.

The board's faculty and student affairs committee refused to even vote on a resolution by the San Diego chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution proposing that faculty members be screened as to political beliefs to correct alleged leftist imbalance.

The same committee received a report recommending that college president be given more atuhority over use of student funds for such projects as experimental colleges and tutorial fees.

Use of student funds has become a major issue at San Francisco State College, where student fees allegedly were used to promote strikes staged by the Students for a Democratic Society, Black Students Union, and Third World Liberation Front.

Panelist Replaced For College Forum

Dr. Charles Sizemore, an adviser and member of the College of Marin faculty, will replace Dr. Thomas Hart as a panelist on tomorrow night's forum on sexual freedom, Arthur Burton of the Tamalpais Toastmasters announced today.

The forum will be held in Olney Hall at the college at 8 p.m.

BENNY O. LARSEN
New Guide Dogs director

Larsen New Guide Dogs Executive

Benny O. Larsen, 46, an instructor at Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., since 1958 was named yesterday as executive director of the San Rafael training school to succeed the late William F. Johns who died on March 13.

Larsen, a former member of the Danish underground and a prisoner of war during World War II, joined the Guide Dogs staff after spending 10 years in Denmark training guide dogs and blind Danes in their use.

Beofre that, from 1945 to 1948, he served as civilian head of the police force that furnished security for the Danish military.

Larsen and his wife, Else, who live at 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, were naturalized as American citizens in 1964. Their son, Ove, 23, is a chief warrant officer in the U.S. Army, stationed in Germany. A sister, Mrs. Ebert Jensen, also lives in San Rafael.

Larsen's appointment was announced by Guide Dogs president, Mrs. Pierpont M. Hamilton of Santa Barbara.

Society Matron Is Found Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A prominent San Francisco society woman, Mrs. Prentis Cobb Hale, shot herself dead last evening with a single shot from her husband's revolver, police said.

Mrs. Hale, the former Marialice King, was 54. Her husband is chairman of the board of Broadway Hale Stores and president of the San Francisco Opera Association.

Police said Hale was watching television downstairs in their Pacific Heights home when he heard a shot. He rushed upstairs and found his wife lying on the floor of a dressing room.

Landscaping Of Post Office To Be Discussed

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee will consider revised landscaping plans for the new post office and exterior plans for the adjoining Senor Alfredo restaurant at its 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

Signs were placed on the post office at 121 San Anselmo Avenue and the restaurant at 115 San Anselmo Avenue last Wednesday by city forces forbidding either post office or restaurant employees from moving in until developer Charles W. Mapes Co. of San Francisco fulfills city requirements.

The post office is now located at 333 San Anselmo Avenue and is planned to be moved as soon as it receives an order of lock boxes. Alfred Barthel of San Rafael hopes to open his new restaurant Tuesday.

$475,000 Suit Over Dismissal

OAKLAND (AP) — A $475,000 libel suit has been filed against the University of California by the former director of the U.C. extension program in real estate education.

In the suit filed yesterday in Alameda County Superior Court, John H. Denton of Berkeley claimed he was fired because he publicly approved the Rumford Housing Act and disapproved of a measure to repeal it.

The suit named as defendants the U.C. regents, Chancellor Roger Heyns of U.C.'s Berkeley campus, Prof. Paul Wendt of the School of Business Administration and Morton Gordon, director of U.C. extension programs.

Eight Youngsters' Artistic Skill Will Win Disneyland Journeys

Trips to Disneyland will be won by four boys and four girls in the Corte Madera Shopping Center's annual "color me" contest sponsored by the Center's Merchants' Association as part of its sales event for April 3, 4 and 5.

The winners of the contest — open to youngsters 7 through 14 years old — will leave from San Francisco on an Air California jet. In Orange County, they will headquarter at the Disneyland Hotel.

The chaperoned tour of three days and two nights is tentatively scheduled for June 23-25, and will include admission and ride tickets for the first day, admission tickets for the second and third days, three meals a day for three days, air fare and lodging, and a four-hour tour of Knott's Berry Farm.

According to Hollie Smith, manager of the Corte Madera Center, no substitute will be given for the trips which are being arranged by the Northgate Travel Center. Should any child be unable to accept the trip, an alternate winner will be chosen.

Professional artists will judge all entries on the basis of neatness, imagination, and color sense. (See photo, page S-8.)

Completed entries, bearing the young artist's name, address and telephone number, should be turned in beginning April 3, and no later than 3 p.m. on April 5. They will be accepted at the credit desks at Montgomery Ward Company and J. C. Penney's, at the upstairs office at Woolworth's, and at the office of Hollie Smith Insurance, 50 Corte Madera Center.

Every youngster submitting an entry will receive a coupon entitling him to a free Sweden Freeze Space Cone available at the Sweden Freezer mobile unit to be located in the Center from Saturday through April 6. Members of Job's Daughters, Bethel No. 249 of Larkspur, will staff the unit.

Center Store Brims With Easter Goodies

Spring is in the air — and the signs are everywhere in gardens and parks and in the bounce of childrens' steps!

It also can be found at Woolworth' s in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, where manager Duane Nelson has gathered a colorful bounty of baskets and beads, Easter Eggs and Easter hats, flowers and frills, and a full line of candies and novelties just right for the bunny crowd.

Nelson, who was named manager of the Corte Madera store in early January, is not new to the shopping center scene. He was here in 1958 when construction of the center was completed and the complex opened.

He was born in Alberta, Canada, grew up in Hoquim, Wash., and attended Gray's Harbor Junior College in Aberdeen, Wash., following two years service with the U. S. Army at Fort Ord, Fort Lewis, and at Scofield Barracks in Hawaii.

His association with the Woolworth Co. began in San Francisco in 1958, and he has held various positions at stores in Palo Alto, Santa Clara, Napa, and San Carlos.

Nelson is secretary of the Corte Madera Center Merchants' Council and a member of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, the former Lana Lawson of Pomona, were married in 1964 and have a son, Darin, 2.

Bay Prevention Strongly Urged On Earthquakes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new regional agency should be formed to try to head off disaster before the San Francisco Bay Area's next big earthquake, urges a University of California governmental studies specialist.

The new organization should act to reduce earthquake hazard, since performance by local governments so far "leaves much to be desired," says Stanley Scott, assistant director of the Institute of Governmental Studies at Berkeley.

Scott says an earthquake control commission could devise a regional plan to correct existing buildings, control new construction, safeguard pipelines and other utilities, and to prepare for landslides, flooding and fire.

CONTEST PREVIEW—Five young pre-Easter shoppers listen raptly to Woolworth manager Duane Nelson, as he explains the intricacies and rules of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council's annual "color-me" contest. From left are Tracy (in the stroller), Stancie, Rita, Heidi, and Kelly Ridgecreek. Each hopes to win the coveted three-day Disneyland trip sponsored by the council for each of their age groups this year.

Rowland Frazier, manager of the Corte Madera Shopping Center branch of Tamalpais Savings and Loan Association, is also managing officer-secretary and a member of the board of directors of the financial institution which has branches in Palo Alto and Albany.

Shopping Center Manager Wears A Variety Of Hats

What does the manager of a shopping center do? Just ask Hollie Smith, who holds that position for the Corte Madera Shopping Center, and he will spin many wondrous tales.

For instance, what do you do when Mama Goat at the Pet Zoo decides its time for her babies to arrive? You call for Smith, who arrives posthaste to assist in the delivery.

And if you have left your car lights on when you parked and returned to find you can't start the car because the battery is dead? Just go to 50 Corte Madera Center and find Smith — he'll get it going.

And just suppose your three-year-old vanishes — as only a three-year-old can — somewhere between boys' underwear in Grant's and the toy department in Woolworth's? That's right — Smith will organize a search party.

Those are a few of the easier tasks ably handled by Smith, who is owner of A Associates Insurance located in the Center.

He also conducts the business of the Center, such as the present repaving of the parking lot, and schedules and supervises the various monthly promotional activities.

The recent St. Patrick's Day display held in the mall became a tribute to Smith's wife, the former Helen O'Gallagher of County Mayo, whom he met while on a trip to Ireland in 1939. Hollie and his wife have two children, Hollie Jr., 22, a student at Cal Tech majoring in aerophysics, and Lynda Gail, 25, who was graduated summa cum laude from Vassar with a major in political science.

SMUGGLERS' PIPELINE

Prison Bans Seven Step

San Quentin Warden Louis S. Nelson today ordered the prison's "Seven Step Program" dropped because it had been used as a conduit for smuggling "contraband up to and including narcotics" into the prison.

The four-and-a-half year program, which is used in many other prisons, was abruptly canceled just two days after a former San Quentin inmate was arrested on a complaint by prison officials that he had illegally entered the prison on three occasions, two of them in connection with Seven Step meetings.

Roy Ronald Cerra, 30, of San Francisco was released on $1,250 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. Friday. Penitentiary officials said he had illegally entered the grounds of the prison on March 6 and March 13 to visit Seven Step meetings. He also entered the prison's visiting room on Feb. 15 to visit another convict, they said.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said today that the inmate self-help program has been used for the "circumvention of mail regulations" as well as a method of smuggling in a "variety of contraband . . . including narcotics."

Park emphasized that the Seven Step inmates, numbering about 100, were not a major source of narcotics at the prison and that "only a minority" of them were

UP, UP AND AWAY

Workmen today were moving the last five birches away from the College of Marin's Harlan Hall to prepare for the razing of the building in July. The hall will be replaced by Harlan Center, housing lecture halls, communications and faculty offices. The trees, 100 feet tall and about 30 years old, are being moved closer to Sir Francis Drake Boulevard by Marin Storage and Trucking, Inc., of San Rafael.

$750,000 Price Tag On Square

A $500,000 offer for the county courthouse square is too low, and $750,000 would be more like it.

That was the consensus yesterday of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, who recieved the $500,000 offer from the City of San Rafael. (Other supervisors' stories, page 24.)

The city offered to pay the county $50,000 down on a $500,000 minimum purchase price for the courthouse block. The offer included a proviso that, when the city sells the property any excess in price above the half-million dollars would be split 50-50 between city and county.

Chairman John F. McInnis noted that a $900,000 offer was made in 1966, and the value of the courthouse square has been pegged at $700,000 and up. "I don't believe I could accept a purchase price of $500,000."

"The $500,000 offer doesn't excite me one bit," said Supervisor Louis H. Baar, real estate man and former San Rafael City councilman. He emphasized, however, that San Rafael is the logical entity to handle future of the courthouse square and urged the supervisors to continue negotiations with city officials.

But before proceeding, Baar said, the county should get an appraisal of the courthouse square. Supervisors were surprised that no formal appraisal of the courthouse property has been made thus far.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney said that a member of the assessor's office had made an informal appraisal of a million dollars or more for the courthouse square. Some consultants had come up with a guess of $900,000. "There has been no formal appraisal," said Maloney.

Supervosors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. agreed with Baar that an appraisal is needed.

Baar offered to be a one-man committee to pick an appraiser,

Keep Surcharge, Nixon Requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon, declaring that "inflation is a form of economic aggression," proposed to Congress today that the problem be met by extending the income tax surcharge for another 12 months and by making significant cuts in federal spending.

In a special message, Nixon reported that at least half of the budget surpluses envisioned in January by former President Lyndon B. Johnson already have evaporated—in some cases because of inflation and in others because of overly optimistic estimates.

Faced with that situation, Nixon said he will propose budget provisions for the year starting July 1 that will reduce spending "significantly below the amount recommended in January." He gave no details.

The chief executive, in calling for a continuation of the 10 per cent federal income tax surtax beyond its scheduled June 30 expiration, declared:

"As I have said before, the surcharge is a temporary tax that must be ended as soon as our commitments in Southeast

Nejedly Sweep Hands GOP Senate Control

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Republicans today controlled the state Senate for the first time in 13 years and moved toward installing one of their own as its leader following the smashing victory of John A. Nejedly in a special election.

Nejedly polled 56.7 per cent of the vote—82,939 ballots—to the 61,102 of his Democratic opponent, George Miller III, in yesterday's widely-watched election in Contra Costa County. It established a 21-19 GOP majority in the upper house.

The lopsided win, in an election many thought would be close, dealt Democrats a stunning defeat in the Senate seat they had held for 20 years.

Nejedly's election also was viewed as a possible indicator of California's political leanings for the upcoming decade, including the 1970 race for governor.

Nejedly, 54, jumped to an early lead and gradually built it to a commanding margin that political novice Miller, 23, failed to overtake. Miller had sought to succeed his late father, veteran Sen. George Miller Jr., who died New Year's Day of a heart attack. A Democratic victory would have restored the 20-20 party deadlock in the upper chamber.

The Republican majority may now flex its newly acquired political muscle to unseat Senate president pro tempore Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, who has guided the upper house since 1957.

Nejedly's election also sig-

Highway-Oriented, Commission Objects

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY—Immediate amendment of the California Constitution to allow use of gas taxes for public transit was urged today by the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

In a 12-5 vote, five years of tension between highway and transit representatives on the commission burst open for the first time.

The battle erupted as the commission considered adoption of a draft report recommending new taxes for public transit. The report, from the commission's study group on finance, recommended a special property tax on Bay Area home owners to finance public transit, rather than divert any highway funds to that purpose.

The 12 votes, however, amounted to less than one-third of the 37 members of the commission, leaving the way open for possible reversal at a future meeting.

The motion to reject the report was made by Stephan C. Leonoudakis of San Francisco who termed the report "highway oriented." He was sitting on the commission as an alternate to Assembly John F. Foran, D-San Francisco, chairman of the Assembly Transporation and Commerce Committee. Seconding his motion was William J. Bettencourt, a director of the Alameda-Contra Costa Transit District.

San Francisco Supervisor Jack Morrison joined the attack on the report, saying, "The whole tenor of this report is unacceptable."

Seashore Area May Be Sold

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Secretary of the Interior Walter J. Hickel said today it was "Entirely a possibility" that a 2,500-acre ranch within the proposed boundaries of Point Reyes National Seashore would be subdivided and put on the public market.

He held little hope that Congress would readily appropriate funds to complete acquisition of private lands within the seashore and thus thwart sale of the ranch.

Hickel, addressing a news conference in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, said he supported completion of the 53,000-acre seashore but said, "Many national parks have schedules for land acquisition and it's pretty hard to step one ahead of the other."

Panel Asks Fire Service Upgrading

The Town of Corte Madera should have an upgraded fire protection service, a separate fire chief and two "paid, awake firemen on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

These are recommendations to be made by a special committee of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce to the town council, according to Michael Ingerman, chairman, who said the group has been studying the subject since November.

The committee noted that, whereas the town's income from sales tax has increased "markedly" in recent years, there has been a lack of comparable growth in public safety services, primarily in fire and police protection.

The shortage of firemen permits manning the main station during the day only and the police shortage frequently

Hub Tries Roadblock On West Marin Link

By JOANNE GRANT

The San Anselmo City Council, flatly refusing to let the city become a funnel to West Marin, last night agreed not to improve or widen any major streets until the state commits itself to a satisfactory bypass and right of way acquisition has begun. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 6.)

In addition, the council agreed not to make any substantial improvements to its major streets, "until a modern well-designed, well-scheduled bus system is in operation within San Anselmo."

The items were part of a two-page statement on transportation by Councilman James F. Reed. The statement was approved by four members of the council, while the fifth, Woodrow V. Capurro, passed.

The statement provides for going head with the realignment of the Hub intersection and necessary corrections at the intersection of Bridge Street and Center Boulevard, but makes it clear that will be the only work on major streets until something is done to improve traffic generally.

The policy statement also calls for simultaneous construction of at least two connecting traffic links between Ross Valley and Terra Linda, but does not comment on routes since most of the proposed ones are outside the city's jurisdiction.

The statement promised that the city would be responsible for its half of the problems and would work with whatever other jurisdictions are necessary to find solutions.

It urged finding a bypass which would be satisfactory to

Steamrolling Idea On Smog

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Lawmakers were stoking boilers today in Sacramento and Washington to blow smog-spitting, gasoline-burning autos off the road with steam power—or something.

To State Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, the only way to clean California's smoggy air is to run all gas-powered vehicles off the road.

Petris said yesterday he will introduce a bill banning all internal combustion vehicles from roads in the state after Jan. 1, 1975, and another bill financing a study of replacing them with other power.

The Department of Motor Vehicles said there were 12,668,479 cars, trucks and motorcycles registered in the state when 1969 began.

Petris feels auto manufacturers have not done all they are capable of in producing cars with cleaner exhausts.

In other development yesterday, Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, assailed the Ford Foundation for refusing $500,000 help for a special project aimed at reducing auto-caused smog.

The state appropriated $250,000 to equip 77 state-owned vehicles with antismog devices but it proved more expensive than

Ike's Survival Is 'Uncertain'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dwight D. Eisenhower's doctors said today it is "uncertain" how long the former president can survive under the present condition of his heart.

The condition was described as "critical."

Texas Hijacking Leads To Cuba

MIAMI (UPI)—A hijacked Delta Air Lines jet was returned to Miami from Cuba today and passengers waited in the plane and drank free beer while the pilot was interviewed by federal authorities.

About an hour after landing here the plane took off for Dallas with its 114 occupants, resuming a Newark-to-San Diego flight that was interrupted by the nation's 14th commercial hijacking this year, when a gunman took charge 10 minutes after the jet took off from Love Field at Dallas, Tex., and ordered the plane to fly eastward.

Meanwhile, in Amsterdam, the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned it may call a worldwide strike for 12 to 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished. In Washington, the Pentagon rejected a proposal to use military armed guards on commercial flights, on grounds the potential dangers to passengers and crew are too great.

Capt. Walter Wood, pilot of the plane, said the hijacker barged into the cockpit behind a stewardess last night, pulled a snub-nosed, chrome-plated pistol, and ordered him to fly to either Havana of Santiago in Cuba.

Wood said the hijacker, a well-dressed young man, identified himself as a Venezuelan.

"He spoke broken English and said only that he'd been in the United States about a year and some day hoped to return to Venezuela," the pilot said.

Among the plane's passengers were 18 Navy recruits en route to San Diego for basic training.

In Amsterdam, the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations warned today that it may call a worldwide strike for 12 or 24 hours if airline hijacking is not suitably punished.

A resolution unanimously adopted by the federation's annual conference said it may also act against nations that don't punish hijackers, too:

Ban all air traffic into the country.

Redistrict movement of the country's aircraft and restrict movement of cargo to and from the country, either by air or surface.

The federation represents 70 per cent of the world's 6,500 airline pilots. The Soviet Union was represented by observers, but Cuba, the chief target of the resolution, was not represented.

The suggestion for armed guards was made by Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., of the House Armed Services Committee, a Pentagon spokesman said.

The Defense Department also considered and rejected the proposal of furnishing Marines or other military guards on planes carrying government personnel in possession of military secrets.

It dismissed the idea of transporting classified matter only on government planes, saying this would require possible establishment of a military mail service and an "immense logistic effort."

"There is no evidence that Cuba authorities have tampered with U.S. mail aboard any hijacked aircraft to date," the Pentagon said.

ALAN MOWBRAY
Universally acclaimed

Hollywood's Famed Film Butler Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — His butler roles were universally acclaimed. John Barrymore called him "a worthy adversary" as an actor.

Alan Mowbray loved acting and actors in general.

"If a bomb hit Hollywood, it would only be a matter of time before someone was squatting amid the ruins telling stories," he once said.

Four days after entering Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital, Mowbray died yesterday of a heart attack at 72.

A London native, he was a naturalized U.S. citizen who appeared in more than 400 movie roles.

Mowbray's films included "Lady Hamilton," "Captain from Castile," "The Steel Cage," "Ma and Pa Kettle at Home," "The King and I," and "The Man Who Knew Too Much." He returned to New York in 1964 for the play, "Enter Laughing."

In New York, 16 years ago, he had his own TV series titled "Col. Humphrey Flack."

Mowbray paid the 50 fee in 1933 for incorporation of the Screen Actors Guild in which he held membership card No. 4. The actors' union now has more than 50,000 members.

Survivors include his wife of 42 years, the former Lorayne Carpenter; a son, Alan Jr.; a daughter, Patricia, wife of actor Douglas Dumbrille; two grandchildren, and two brothers.

Nixon's Hints Bolster Private Talk Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon has given fresh impetus to the growing belief that the private talks he favors for ending the Vietnam War already are under way.

But in doing so, the President made it clear he wants to keep those talks—whether they actually have begun or are about to—as secret as possible.

"That kind of negotiation cannot take place in a goldfish bowl," Nixon told the National Association of Broadcasters yesterday in an off - the - cuff speech.

The President, however, came to the convention obviously anxious to talk about private negotiations to end the war.

"I can tell you," he said, "that it is our conviction and our belief that it is through private talks with the North Vietnamese and others involved that the real progress toward peace will be made."

Nixon went on to say that if anyone in the administration is asked "as to whether private talks should begin, as to what has occurred, we will say nothing."

Although this seemed to indicate fullscale private negotiations were not actually now under way but were about to start, the President commented a little later on:

"We think we are on the right track, but we are not going to raise false hopes. We are not going to tell you what is going on in private talks."

Nixon's comments on secret negotiations were the first public remarks by an administration official since Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told a subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last Friday that peace was being sought "not only through formal diplomatic channels formally in Paris, but privately as well."

Laird declined to elaborate on the remark, made during a digression from questioning on missile defense.

Viet Pullout May Require Two Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army staff officers estimate it may take as long as two years for a complete withdrawal of all U.S. soldiers and equipment from Vietnam when the order finally comes to pull out of the war zone.

Although no decision has been reached on a timetable the Army is working on plans now to avoid the waste and confusion that accompanied the first pullback of U.S. troops from battle zones in past wars.

The staff officers made the time estimate after Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor told the Senate Armed Services Committee yesterday that "a deliberate rather than a hasty timetable" is the best way to avoid the difficulties that followed World War II and Korea.

"We are therefore planning now, in a much more detailed and orderly manner than at any time previously for actions to be taken when hostilities decrease to a level at which the South Vietnamese no longer require the assistance of our own combat troops," Resor said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bleak Outlook

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Propsects appear increasingly dim for settlement of the dispute between the United States and Peru over the expropriation of an American oil refinery.

President Nixon's special envoy, John N. Irwin, and his aides refuse to comment on the progress of their talks with Peruvian leaders. But a deepening sense of despair is detected among American officials here.

Israeli Attack

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes attacked an Arab guerrilla base near the Jordanian town of Salt today, the army announced.

Salt is 10 miles east of the Jordan River cease-fire line and about 15 miles west of Amman, the Jordianian capital.

Guerrilla bases around Salt came under heavy Israeli attack last summer, Israel charging the barren, stony area was packed with saboteurs staging raids against the Jewish state. Heavier military action has centered lately on the Suez Canal.

Nixon Praised

STOCKHOLM (AP) — President Nixon drew unexpected praise today for "objectivity and moderation" in a Swedish government foreign policy declaration.

The government previously has voiced harsh criticism of U.S. foreign policy, particularly concerning Vietnam.

Foreign Minister Torsten Nilsson, who read the declaration during Parliament's foreign policy debate, said: "Great expectations are now centered on the planned discussions on the highest level between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Expensive Taste

LONDON (AP) — Thieves broke into the Sir John Soane museum and stole a Watteau painting valued at $350,0000 to $500,000, police reported today.

Only a few paintings by the 17th Century French masters are in Britain. The stolen canvas was a village wedding scene called "Les Noces."

Fulbright Asks Disarm Try Before ABM Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee put new pressure on the Nixon administration today to seek arms control talks with the Soviets before deploying the Safeguard antimissile system.

"Test the water and see what their attitude is," he told Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard. "They say they are in the mood to do it. I can't understand our reluctance."

Packard encountered much of the same hostile questioning and comments that greeted Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird when he appeared Friday in support of the $7 billion Safeguard plan to protect the nation's retaliatory nuclear strength

Noting the Safeguard's mission is to protect the U.S. nuclear capability, Packard said it would deter a Soviet attack by guaranteeing "an unacceptably high risk of devastating retaliation."

After reading a policy statement, Packard turned to a series of charts depicting the Safeguard operation system in rough general outline.

The visual aids had received a warm reception from the Armed Services Committee earlier last week.

The Safeguard system calls for deployment of Sprint and Spartan interceptor missiles at 12 sites to protect the nation's missile and bomber deterrent force.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, heavily weighted with backers of missile defense, began the task yesterday of actually hammering out the legislation over which the ultimate battle for Safeguard funds will be fought.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau flew back to Canada early today, unsure about the implications of the American antimissile system but certain to face more questioning from its critics and other members of his cabinet.

Red Mortars Hit Hard At U.S. Base

SAIGON (UPI)—Heavy Communist mortar salvos slammed into the biggest U.S. base in the Mekong Delta today, demolishing the U.S. 9th Infantry Division's ammunition dump and forcing evacuation of half of the sprawling complex.

U.S. military sources said barrages from the biggest mortar in the guerrillas' Vietnam arsenal also damaged or destroyed six helicopters, the copter pad, a mess hall and several other of the wooden buildings on the U.S. Army-Navy base.

According to these sources, three American GIs died and 65 suffered wounds in the post-midnight attack. The U.S. command said casualties and damage were "light to moderate."

Rarely do Communist shellings, however heavy, cause more than light damage to big U.S. bases. This time, the sources said, hundreds of men fled the Navy portion of the complex to escape more explosions in fuel stores.

Oakland Man Held As Suspect In Auto Theft

An Oakland man arrested by Sacramento police Monday night in a car used in the December kidnaping of a San Rafael woman doctor was booked into Marin County jail yesterday on suspicion of auto theft.

Robert Earl Taylor was released on his own recognizance pending an appearance in Marin Municipal Court at 2 p.m. tomorrow. A female companion arrested with Taylor was released without a complaint lodged against her, San Rafael police said.

Taylor and the woman were picked up in a car belonging to Dr. Katherine H. Leicester of 188 Bret Harte Road, San Rafael. Dr. Leicester, 70, was kidnaped at gunpoint on Dec. 13 when she offered two girls a ride home from Northgate Shopping Center. She escaped after they had driven her to Albany but her car had been missing since.

San Rafael police officials indicated today that leads resulting from Taylor's arrest have spurred the investigation of the kidnaping "in another city," not Sacramento or San Rafael.

Muir Beach Site Jury Trial Opens

A jury trial in the long-awaited state condemnation suit to add the 15-acre Muir Beach to the state park system opened today in Marin Superior Court.

Leonard M. Sperry Jr., of Belvedere, of the state attorney general's office who is trying the suit for the state, said that the trial in Judge Thomas F. Keating's court room would probably last two weeks.

Jury selection was expected to occupy most of today.

About June, 1967, an anonymous woman donor offered $125,000 as a gift to the state to purchase Muir Beach, which was valued at the time at about $250,000.

Because of differences in various appraisals and failure to agree on a price, the case was taken to court.

nalled a victory for Gov. Ronald Reagan, who personally campaigned for the ticket. Reagan is counting on the additional GOP vote to back his legislative program.

Senate GOP floor leader Donald L. Grunsky, Watsonville, said Republican senators may caucus today to lay the groundwork for a possible takeover of the Senate.

Republicans must first agree among themselves on which one would challenge Burns. Sens. Howard Way, Exeter, and John F. McCarthy, San Rafael, are the leading contenders.

But a showdown vote probably will not come until after Easter vacation. Lawmakers will recess Friday until April 7.

TRANSIT

The commission's former study director, Richard M. Zettel, now its consultant, was requested to rewrite the entire report and resubmit it to a special meeting of the 37-member commission. No date was set.

Today's commission meeting in the Hotel Claremont was its second hearing on the draft report, written for the study group by Zettel. Lhe report was attacked by several commissioners at the first hearing on March 13 on the ground that it should not have rejected diversion to public transit of highway funds.

Zettel was ordered to revise the report after the March 13 meeting but his revised version presented today made no substantative changes.

The report as revised by Zettel did suggest elimination of the constitutional prohibition on use of gas tax taxes for anything other than highways, but his report also concluded that any diversion to public transit would be "not prudent at this time."

Discussion of Leonoudakis' motion was brief. One of the few to speak against it was Marc Sandstrom, representative of the state Business and Transportation Agency. He said the motion would "muddy a lot of sections of this report."

The commission, which has spent $5.5 million in its five-year study of regional transportation needs, is to make its final report to the legislature in May.

FIRE

permits but one officer on duty during the graveyard shift, the committee found. "This indicates a need for a major review of all public safety measures," the report said.

Corte Madera's fire budget is the third lowest of Marin cities and towns with $41,000 budgeted for the year 1968-69, the committee said. Only Belvedere with $20,000 and Ross with $30,000 have lower budgets.

The committee also compared assessment rates saying if Corte Madera's fire protection budget came strictly from property taxation, the assessment rate would be 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation. Assessement rates for neighboring fire districts, totally supported by property taxation, said the committee, are: Kentfield, 90 cents; Tiburon, 72 cents; Alto-Richarson, 65 cents and Tamalpais, 89.5 cents.

Corte Madera's fire protection budget comes from the general fund which is raised by several methods, the committee said.

The chamber committee noted that when the town's fire rating fell from class six to seven last September, this caused an increase in fire insurance coverage for the business community and those holding rental properties.

(The town council at its March 18 meeting agreed to order more 2 and one-half inch hose and four 250-gallon-per-minute convertible nozzles in order to attempt to restore the fire rating to six.)

Police Chief Frank L. Nelson is now town fire chief as well as chief of the Volunteer Fire Department Ltd., but is not paid for fire duties.

The town has three paid firemen, Lt. Lee Larson, who is assistant chief, and two other firemen. They work, between them, seven days a week, each at 55 hours a week, from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Other recommendations by the committee include reviewing and rewriting fire department job descriptions, an open recruitment for a full-time fire chief and making all fire fighting services the responsibility of the town manager.

The committee asks that enough men be provided to give adequate fire service, using National Fire Protection Association standards.

It recommends a mutual aid review and endorses the town council's proposal for central dispatching of equipment by the County Communications Center.

Increased firemen's training and increased safety inspections in commercial and residential districts are recommended as well as uniform color codes for hydrant marking. Also recommended are fire safety inspections of all building plans submitted to the town and, lastly, the consideration of a special services district to permit extension of fire protection into adjoining unincorporated areas.

Town councilmen will receive the committee's recommendations April 1. The council has asked Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher to prepare a staff study on four versions of emergency fire service.

but on second thought added: "Maybe it's not a good idea."

Other supervisors agreed that Baar should not pick the appraiser because he was a San Rafael councilman until last year, and his actions would be subject to criticism.

Supervisors asked the courthouse committee to name an appraiser. The courthouse committee is composed of real estate man Robert A. Roumiguierre (chairman), San Rafael City Mgr. Dan E. Anderson, County Administrator Alan Bruce, County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, and Norwin S. Yoffie, general manager of the Independent-Journal.

Mrs. Walsh Indicted In Death Case

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Grand Jury last night returned an indictment of involuntary manslaughter against Vera Mae Walsh, a practical nurse formerly employed in Fairfax, in connection with the Jan. 5 death of her patient, Mrs. Gloria Giannis.

Mrs. Walsh was also indicted on two counts of forgery in which she allegedly forged Mrs. Giannis' name to checks after her death.

Mrs. Giannis was found dead in Mrs. Walsh's Santa Rosa home on Jan. 10. Toxicology tests showed that death was caused by an overdose of drugs.

Mrs. Walsh is currently awaiting trial in Marin County on grand theft charges stemming from the theft of a diamond ring and glassware from the home of her former Fairfax employers.

A jury trial on the theft charges has been set for the week of April 14 in Marin Superior Court. Her appearance in Sonoma County Superior Court will be delayed until after the Marin proceedings end.

anticipated and equipped only 25 cars.

The foundation told Hayes its participation would have the effect of supporting a commercial enterprise and this was prohibited.

In Washington, a Senate staff report has urged the government to start buying steam-powered cars because such automobiles, it said, would be more efficient, less expensive and would produce almost no smog.

Only American Motors among the U.S. auto producers is working on a steam car, the report said.

The report, prepared for the Commerce Committee, said however the auto industry—especially General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—is reluctant to manufacture a steam car because "the public is simply not aware of the advantages."

The report asked federal and state governments to take steps to stimulate a market for steam cars. It said only steam vehicles offer a solution to the growing problem of auto-made smog.

Smog control devices installed on conventional cars are not good enough to reduce—or even hold steady—concentrations of vehicle-caused air pollution, the report said.

Asia and economic conditions permit."

In the Senate, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the majority leader, said earlier that Congress should insist on a second big spending cut as its price for extending the surcharge.

Nixon left open the possibility that he might call for scaling down or repeal of the surcharge within the year of its extension should the Vietnam war end and inflationary pressures ease.

The surtax is expected to yield $9.5 billion if extended.

In addition, Nixon called for postponement of scheduled June 30 reductions in excise taxes on telephone service and automobiles and enactment of unspecified federal user charges. He said these actions would produce nearly $1 billion in revenue in the coming fiscal year.

"trying to set up a supply route."

Despite the leeway given to inmates in running the program, Park said, there is "concrete evidence" that it has resulted in the "connivance of some inmates and outsiders to introduce contraband.'

"It (Seven Step) is not an honest operation," Park said, adding, "We told the men right from the start they would be given a certain amount of freedom in setting up the program but they would have to police it.

"After four-and-a-half years of watching, it has become evident to us that they can't."

He said the "number one principle of the program is to think realistically . . . this has been the hardest for them to do."

The inmate program, sponsored by the Seven Step Foundation, derives its name from a seven-part credo, each step of which starts with a letter from the word freedom.

all governmental jurisdictions and interested groups in Marin County and doing so before the state is approached to build the bypass.

"Otherwise they will once again turn against us, against each other and nothing will be accomplished," Reed said in his statement.

Reed also pointed out that unless the state does something. "We would destroy ourselves attempting to provide for our local traffic and always losing to the future growth of West Marin."

After he read his statement, which was more a detailed version of one prepared earlier, Reed explained it was his intention to provide a plan for balanced transportation and cooperation between San Anselmo and other jurisdictions.

In a related transportation matter, the council learned that the Greyhound station will remain open, with the Marin Senior Coordinating Council as agent.

Greyhound had told the council lhe station might close with the retirement of Mrs. Aday McVeery March 31.

Last night, Greyhound reported the senior citizen group would take over May 1 and Mrs. McVeery had agreed to remain as agent until then.

Homer F. Crowell of the coordinating council said his group had taken the job, not only to keep the depot open but also to provide employment for retired citizens.

He admitted the coordinating council has "a little bit of skepticism" about the new venture but did not foresee any major problems.

southern boundary of the seashore, said last month that he and the other owners had waited as long as they could for the federal government to buy their property. He said the ranch, which includes two lakes, would be cut into 40-acre tracts and sold.

So far only about 24,000 of the 53,000 acres proposed for the seashore have been purchased by the federal government.

A bill introduced in Congress by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., would appropriate $38.3 million to complete acquisition of the seashore.

Hickel said today he had not reviewed Cranston's bill but said the seashore problem "really concerns me" and hoped that the park will be completed.

New Pakistan Boss Pledges Sane Course

KARACHI (AP) — Pakista new military dictator, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, told his turbulent nation today he would "bring back sanity" to set the stage for free elections.

"I wish to make it absolutely clear to you that I have no ambition other than the creation of conditions conducive to the establishment of a constitutional government," he said in his first broadcast after taking over from President Mohammed Ayub Khan.

Sixteen hours before Ayub Khan resigned after appointing Yahya supreme commander of Pakistan's armed forces and chief martial law administrator. Yahya's promise to "bring back sanity" was the same made by Ayub when he seized power in 1958 and ruled by martial law for three years.

Ayub, who announced earlier he would not seek re-election next year, admitted last night this did not satisfy his political opponents and he could not cope with mob violence wracking Pakistan's eastern half, on the other side of India.

"My first task is to put the administration back on the rails," Yahya said. "Strikes and industrial unrest have brought the nation to the edge of an abyss.

"The nation has to be pulled back to safety and normal conditions have to be restored without delay. I and the armed forces could not remain idle spectators of this state of near anarchy."

Innocent Plea In Needle Case

Alexander Hamberis, 24, of San Francisco, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of possessing a hypodermic needle in his car Saturday when arrested by the California Highway Patrol.

A jury trial was set for June 16.

No charges were filed against his companion, Christine R. Daves, 21, also of San Francisco, who was arrested with him.

Cancer Virus 'Difficult' To Pin Down

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Medical science has been unsuccessful in its efforts to decisively pin down a provable virus in a human cancer. But it isn't from lack of trying.

The American Association of Cancer Research ended a three-day meeting yesterday which included more than 50 reports on the known cancer-causing viruses in animals or "virus-like particles" in human tumors.

The reports came from widespread sources—the prestigious Roswell Park Memorial Institute in Buffalo, N.Y.; a joint study by a French scientist in Lyons and a Chinese team in Hong Kong, and a German gynecologist who works at night in her private laboratory.

Dr. James T. Grace Jr., chief of the Roswell Institute, reported that he and his colleagues have been studying the relationship between leukemia and a common virus similar to that which causes a human skin disease called herpes simplex.

Grace said they took the virus, which can be found in almost everyone, from human lymphoma patients and injected it into volunteer patients who were suffering from incurable chronic leukemia to see if the virus altered the course of the leukemia.

He said the patients developed symptoms of infectious mononucleosis, another disease believed caused by the herpes type virus. The virus also seemed to have a stimulating effect on the human lymphatic system, whose cells are also involved in leukemia.

Dr. Guy de The, of the International Agency for Research on Cancer in Lyons, France, described the isolation of a virus associated with cancer of the upper part of the throat.

De The said tumors of this area, known as the nasopharynx, are found far more commonly among Chinese in Southeast Asia than among whites. He said tumor tissue was sent from Chinese colleagues in Hong Kong to Lyons, where it was grown and reproduced in cultures.

An individual effort was reported by Dr. Philippine Hartmann, a Munich gynecologist who practices medicine full time. She began her experiments at her own expense 15 years ago when she found many of her patients falling victims to cancer of the ovaries.

In her own laboratory, with a single underpaid assistant, Dr. Hartmann studies virology and tissue culture. She found evidence of viral activity, but said, "I am not courageous enough to call what I have found a virus."

BLACK PROGRAM

Courses Held 'Beautiful,' Relevant

By BRUCE COLEMAN
(Last of three articles)

"It's a necessity."

"Just about everybody should be forced to take such a course."

"It's beautiful."

These are comments from three students when asked to evaluate courses they are taking in the Afro-American studies program now in its second semester at the College of Marin.

The professors are equally forceful in their answers. Here is what students and professors say:

"Is this relevant to a college-educated person? I think it's very relevant," commented student John Connors of Kentfield. It broadens one's knowledge of another culture beyond that of Europe and the U. S."

Asked if he felt the courses would help him when he leaves college, Connors answered, "Yes, definitely, not so much in an overt way but indirectly it will give me a much better understanding of the problems related with the blacks."

Connors said he means an understanding of some problems blacks face in subtle things such as using the conotation of black being bad and of whie being good.

The wavy-haired white continued saying, "the history course enables me to see that there has been much truth held from me, that I have not been given a full picture of the situation, that many things I thought true were not necessarily true."

Andrew McIntyre of Ignacio, also a white student of black history said, "I'm quite disappointed that there aren't more black students in the black studies department. Then, he added, "I think it (the program) is a necessity."

Responding quickly to McIntyre's complaint was Mrs. Anna Fitch of San Rafael. A black student, she said, "One reason there aren't more in this course is that there are two other courses being held at the same time."

She illustrated the history course's value saying, "I think it's wonderful because there are things that I didn't know and, by coming here, I'm trying to visualize how I first came into existence."

Outside of the classroom, another black student who wouldn't give his name or comment further, said of the total program, "It's beautiful."

Two Fairfax girls who take Afro-American literature were questioned. Shirley Holmlund said: "There is communication in that class between blacks and whites. I think any communication . . . is relevant."

"Just about everybody should be forced to take a course like that to get a better understanding of what's going on and to become interested and involved," commented Michael Moody.

Mrs. Fitch, who has three children, the oldest 15, said that she is taking three courses — two in the black studies program — for self-fulfillment.

She found the greatest hope for broadening racial understanding in the younger students: "I think they are the ones who would see there is a change — the younger ones. They seem more understanding than the older people. They really do."

Said art teacher Joseph Llorens: "I think my black students want to understand themselves better and their heritage and my nonblack students want to understand too.

"I have felt very successful with the course although it is still evolving."

Said Llorens: "The business of trying to understand the minds or souls of black people is something for our whole society. . . . This course is really another brick in that building up of real understanding of the plight of black people in this country . . . maybe the first thing that has to be done before anyone can do anything about it."

According to Edward Butler, 26, of Berkeley who teaches Afro-American literature, the program is a meaningful step toward enabling the black student to decide or himself what he wants to do and become.

Butler, who also teaches black study courses at Diablo Valley College in Contra Costa County, said: "If white students were as perceptive as blacks, we wouldn't have only a minority of students demanding things.

"The black studies program is an outcry for individual expression and points up some very serious deficiencies in the educational system as it exists today. People aren't really being educated. People aren't really being allowed to expand themselves as people." said Butler.

Asked if whites may be getting more from the program than blacks, Butler replied, "This is true." For that reason, he said, there is a need for all-black classes to avoid making them just another white classroom with a few black students.

"There have to be certain situations where it's all black. It is very vital for a black person to get this feeling of confidence and trust and relate that to his own being as a black man. White students need this, too, but they have had it. They need situations like the class where they can expand themselves," he said.

Teaching a course in dynamics of race in urban America, Charles E. Sizemore is also a fulltime counselor. He also teaches Social Problems at San Quentin prison, a psychology course at the college and leads an encounter group. Single, he lives in San Francisco.

The dynamics course, said Sizemore, "is not so much interested in dealing with tension but circumstances that create the tension.

"One of the misfortunes of teaching," he added, "is you don't see the fruits of your labor until a lot of time passes. We don't expect any immediate results even though we would like to."

Sizemore agrees with Butler that whites may gain more from the courses than blacks.

"Because," he said, "The experiences of black people have allowed them to live what is being written about. To the white student, this is something entirely new."

Sizemore uses these books in his dynamics class: "Negroes With Guns" by Robert Williams; "Apartheid American Style;" "Crisis in Black and White" by Charles Silberman and the U. S. government publication, "The Kerner Report on Violence."

"Public reaction to black studies has been mixed to say the least," continued Sizemore. "I think an understanding of the polarization that's taking place between the black and whites — in view of the fact we all have to live here together — should point to the need for developing better communication involving history as well as the contemporary existences of both black and white people.

"Black people are in a better position to learn about the being on a white campus but the white students are not as free to move in and out of the black community because of the myths that have been designed to hinder this free flow.

"So, at this point, the best means for developing these lines of communication is through academics."

Races Expected To Snarl Traffic

Motorists planning to use Highways 37 and 121 are advised to choose alternate routes at 10 a.m. and between 5 and 6 p.m. next Saturday and Sunday, reported California Highway Patrol Capt. E. B. Taylor, commander of the patrol's Santa Rosa office.

The Sears Point International Raceway is holding National Sports Car races on those dates and a crowd of 10,000 spectators is anticipated.

Hike In Salary Wins Support

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday heard a recommendation from the grand jury that supervisors salaries be increased from $13,200 to $16,000, effective January 1971.

The grand jury resolution of last week was directed to the governor and state Legislature, which governs supervisors' salaries.

The board made no comment, but said the recommendation would be discussed at a meeting in the near future.

Unification Plan Opposed Unanimously

By JERRY MEGAHAN

The last of three public hearings on the Marin County Committee on School District Organization's proposed triple split of the Tamalpais High School District plan, held last night at Tamalpais High School, was relatively sedate but unanimous.

Not a single member of the more than 300 people in the audience spoke in favor of the proposal which would divide the Tamalpais District into three sub-districts centered around Tamalpais, Redwood and Sir Francis Drake high schools.

At the two previous meetings, the proposal also met across-the-board rejection at the Drake meeting and found only scattered support last Thursday at Redwood.

TIMING HIT

Furthermore, nearly every speaker from the audience made it clear that it was felt that a vote on the proposal in November was ill advised from the standpoint of timing for a number of reasons.

One reason was supplied by committee member David D. Ring, a Tam district trustee, when he indicated that any change in the education system which would cost the taxpayer more money would be likely to receive a negative response at the present time.

Citing the committee's own figures that, if the district had unified in the 1965 balloting, it would have cost the taxpayers $600,000 more to run the district in the past fiscal year, Ring concluded, "The real question is if the voter would buy unification of any sort with a price tag of this kind around its neck."

Several members of the audience later pointed out that approval of the plan in November would give school district administrators only eight months to totally revamp the entire administrative system.

TOO SPEEDY

Ellen Binkley, chairman of the Tam District's discipline study committee, said that a November ballot would cause maximum reorganization in too short a time.

"Supporters of this proposal like to argue that smaller districts would be more responsive to the public," Mrs. Binkley said. "How could a massive reorganization of this type be done in eight months with the public still having a voice? The board would be forced to take arbitrary stands under the circumstances."

Everyone speaking on voting procedure came out strongly for a district-wide ballot, rather than voting district-by-district.

Joseph E. Bodovitz, Mill Valley School District trustee, made the point that unilateral unification vote by the three areas could result in an "educational Pakistan" if the Redwood area voted to unify by itself, leaving Tamalpais and Drake areas as part of a fragmented Tamalpais High School District.

The committee's proposl also met with objections previously aired: that it would overcrowd Drake High School, force Stinson Beach-Bolinas students to make a three-hour round trip by bus to Drake, promote de facto segregation in the district and lower the quality of education throughout

Three members of the committee—David Ring, Galen Williams and Mrs. J. W. Rakow—preceded the open hearing by going on record against the timing of the proposal, and they were backed by the League of Women Voters of Southern Marin, the Marin County Labor Council, the Tamalpais High School District Board of Trustees, an ad hoc committee of district school teachers, the Bolinas-Stinson Beach School board of trustees, the Marin County Civil Rights Board, the Marin chapter of the American Association of University Women, the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association and the Redwood High School Student Executive Council among others.

Having heard the public viewpoint, the committee now can decide to push its proposal, seek yet another alternative or throw up its hands.

Education Board Accepts Jury's $190,001 Tag At Peacock Gap

San Rafael Board of Education last night voted to buy a 9.97 acre elementary school site at Riviera and Biscayne drives, Peacock Gap, at a cost of $190,001.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino explained that the $190.001 price tag was set by a jury after a two-week trial in the district's condemnation suit against N.Y.-Cal Industrial Corp.

District appraisers had set the value of the land between $150,000 and $155,000 but the firm's appraisals were at $275,000 and $295,000, Godino reported.

If the district didn't make the purchase, it would have to pay the defendant's attorney and appraiser fees, Godino noted.

Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. pointed out that a Peacock Gap site was sought because "it is one of the few areas of potential growth left in the district."

The district has no plans to build on the site "withing the next three to five years," Kramer said, but he favored obtaining it now.

"If we don't buy it now, we're just not going to get it," he contended.

The purchase can be financed with the 1964 elementary district bond funds, reported Supt. John F. Plank. There was $176,000 budgeted for the site, and the rest will come from the remaining $428,000 in bond funds, he said.

Godino mentioned that the sewage treatment plant in the area had reached capacity, but said that the district could insist on enlargement of the plant. The San Rafael Sanitation District is now seeking to force Latipac Inc., large developers in the area, to enlarge the plant, he said.

San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

MIDDLE SCHOOL — Authorized architects Marshall and Bowles of San Francisco to complete plans for a resource center at the proposed Glenwood Middle School and schematic drawings for the remainder of the proposed school at a cost of $5,200, rather than authorized completion of all plans, pending the outcome of a $2.1 million bond election, June 10. Board members agreed this would push the opening of the proposed school beyond the planned date of September, 1970, but felt this was as far as they wanted to go in planning until they learn June 10 whether voters will approve the funds for the project.

CONTRACT RENEWALS — Approved rehiring of probationary teachers in the high school and elementary districts for 1969-70, but postponed offering contracts to about 20 employed under the single session kindergarten program and special programs under federal funding because financing is uncertain. Supt. John F. Plank said the board has until May 15 to make a decision on these jobs.

GRADUATE STUDY — Received a report on the follow-up study of last year's high school graduates, presented by Mrs. Audrey Kidd, study coordinator.

MAINTENANCE—Received a report from John A. Thomson Jr., director of maintenance and transportation, the preventive maintenance program which began last September. Since then, the backlog of maintenance jobs has been reduced from 400-450 to 153, because the work of the preventive crew has released the regular maintenance crew for the larger jobs, Thomson explained.

ACCESS STRIP — Accepted from Galli Construction Co. a strip of land 10 feet wide and 100 feet long, leading from the company's subdivision at San Pedro Road and Main Drive to the site of the proposed Glenwood Middle School. The strip would provide pupils from the subdivision access to the school grounds.

LONG SERVICE — Accepted the resignations of Marie Woelfl, instructional materials clerk at San Rafel High School, effective August 29 after 30 years of service, and of Mrs. Wilma Welch, school secretary at Santa Venetia Middle School, effective June 28 after 16 years of service, and passed resolutions of appreciation for their long service.

LEAVE — Granted Mrs. Sharon Brandenburger, kindergarten teacher at MacPhail School, leave of absence for the 1969-70 school year.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Mrs. Lilita Callarman, teacher of Spanish and French at Davidson Junior High School, and Mrs. Audrey Kidd, science teacher, San Rafael High School, both effective June 30.

ADMINISTRATIVE JOBS— Approved administrative assignments for the 1969-70 school year, which contained no changes in the district administrative staff or school principals.

BOYS CLUB — Heard a report that the Boys Club of Southern Marin plans to enlist the volunteer services of high school students to solicit contributions for the club in a drive April 19, and gave its support on the condition that no school time is lost in enlisting students.

HIRINGS — Approved the hiring of Mark Motooka, substitute custodian, at $2.71 an hour.

GIFT — Accepted with appreciation nine trees donated to San Pedro School by the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association.

MEETINGS — Changed its meeting schedule for next month because of Easter vacation, and adjourned until April 3 at 7:30 p.m. at the Administration Building, Third and E streets.

Peruvian Ship Poised To Sink

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 7,600-ton Peruvian freighter Yavari, a ghost ship without a crew and beyond help, is taking water and will soon sink, the Coast Guard said today.

The ship, 950 miles southwest of San Francisco, is listing heavily to starboard and waves are already washing over the side.

The Coast Guard cutter Barataria stood by.

PLANK VOTED LONGER PACT WITH PRAISE

The San Rafael Board of Education gave Supt. John F. Plank a new four-year contract last night with the possibility of a pay raise.

Board members approved the new contract at his current salary, $23,750 a year, but said they would review it after reviewing salaries for all school employees.

Plank has been superintendent since Feb. 1, 1967, and board members felt he has done an outstanding job. Agreeing last night were representatives of the American Federation of Teachers, San Rafael Teachers Association and Your Elementary Schools Committee.

Board Member Carl J. Brown moved that the board terminate Plank's present contract which had two years to run,and issue a new four-year contract. Approval was unanimous.

Harbor Session

The Bolinas Harbor District board will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Stinson Beach Community Center.

Red-Ink Budget Due For Next School Year

San Rafael Board of Education, ending a year of deficit financing, last night faced the dismal prospect of running short of operating funds for the 1969-70 school year.

Supt. John F. Plank, who believes the ultimate solution is increasing the general purpose tax rate, had recommended four steps that could be taken now.

(The general purpose tax rate this year is $1.31 in a total tax rate of $3.06 per $100 assessed valuation in the elementary district and $1.75 in a total rate of $2.265 in the high school district.)

Proposed by Plank were:

1. Levying of the seventh and eighth grade override tax in the elementary district.
2. Urging legislators to increase state support for local school districts.
3. Appointing a citizens financial advisory committe to study budgetary problems and make recommendations.
4. Instructing the administration to seek ways to provide a salary schedule increase for teachers and cost-of-living raise for nonteaching employees.

Plank said the staff expects that financial resources for 1969-70 "will not meet the basic demands of our educational program."

Plank's recommendations weren't before the board for action, but the suggestion to form a citizens advisory committee is scheduled to be presented at a meeting April 3.

Business Mgr. Charles L. Condrotte illustrated the budget dilemma with a possible elementary budget for 1969-70 which had income estimated at $4,582,390, as compared to this year's budget of $4,733,399.

This budget wouldn't provide any increase in the teacher salary schedule, would cut reserves to $75,000 and reduce capital outlay expenditures $14,455, he noted. It would include income from the seventh-eighth grade override tax, estimated at $250,000.

Condrotte also presented a possible high school district budget of $4,754,432, as compared to the present $4,657,803.

This wouldn't include any increase in salary schedules or increases in educational programs, and would cut the reserve funds to $126,856, he reported.

Board President Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said the long range need is for the state "to go back to "providing 50 per cent of the funding.

Costs are up and state aid is down, Kramer said. "It's not because the school district is squandering."

Michael Edwards, president of the San Rafael Teachers Association, said the board "is not even talking" about maintaining the current program, but making reductions.

"I think its a disgrace scrapping pennies together to get through this school year, and the community needs to know this. We haven't been throwing money around."

Board Member Paul L.Jones said the financial problem has "happened all of a sudden, overnight. During the past year, we've been on deficit financing."

Pleads Innocent

Phillip Charles Verheyden, 22, of San Rafael pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to passing a forged check for $215 on Jan. 4 in Mill Valley. A preliinary hearing was set for April 15.

Hearing Set In Marijuana Case

A preliminary hearing for two San Franciscans charged with having 16 pounds of marijuana in their truck has been set in Marin Municipal Court for April 18.

Judge Hadden W. Roth refused to release Frederick Christian Neubert Jr., 23, on his own recognizance because he is a parole violator. The co-defendant, Gail Lynn Scofield, 18, is free on $6,520 bail.

They were arrested Sunday in Larkspur.

$2,000 Contributed To Humane Society

Animal Aids of Marin has contributed $2,000 to the new Marin County Humane Society facility in Ignacio to construct a fountain on the society's grounds, Mrs. Joseph B. Rice, chairman of Animal Aids, said today.

Animal Aids also gave plans for the fountain for which they paid $135 to architects Crawford and Banning of San Rafael. The money was raised through two winetasting benefits, the last one Saturday at the humane society attended by 350 people.

ARE YOU READY FOR THE FACTS OF Lite
T.M.

1. "Is Lite a real beer?" Yes, Lite is real beer—not a "near" beer. With the exception of ⅓ LESS CALORIES, Lite is a complete premium beer in every way.

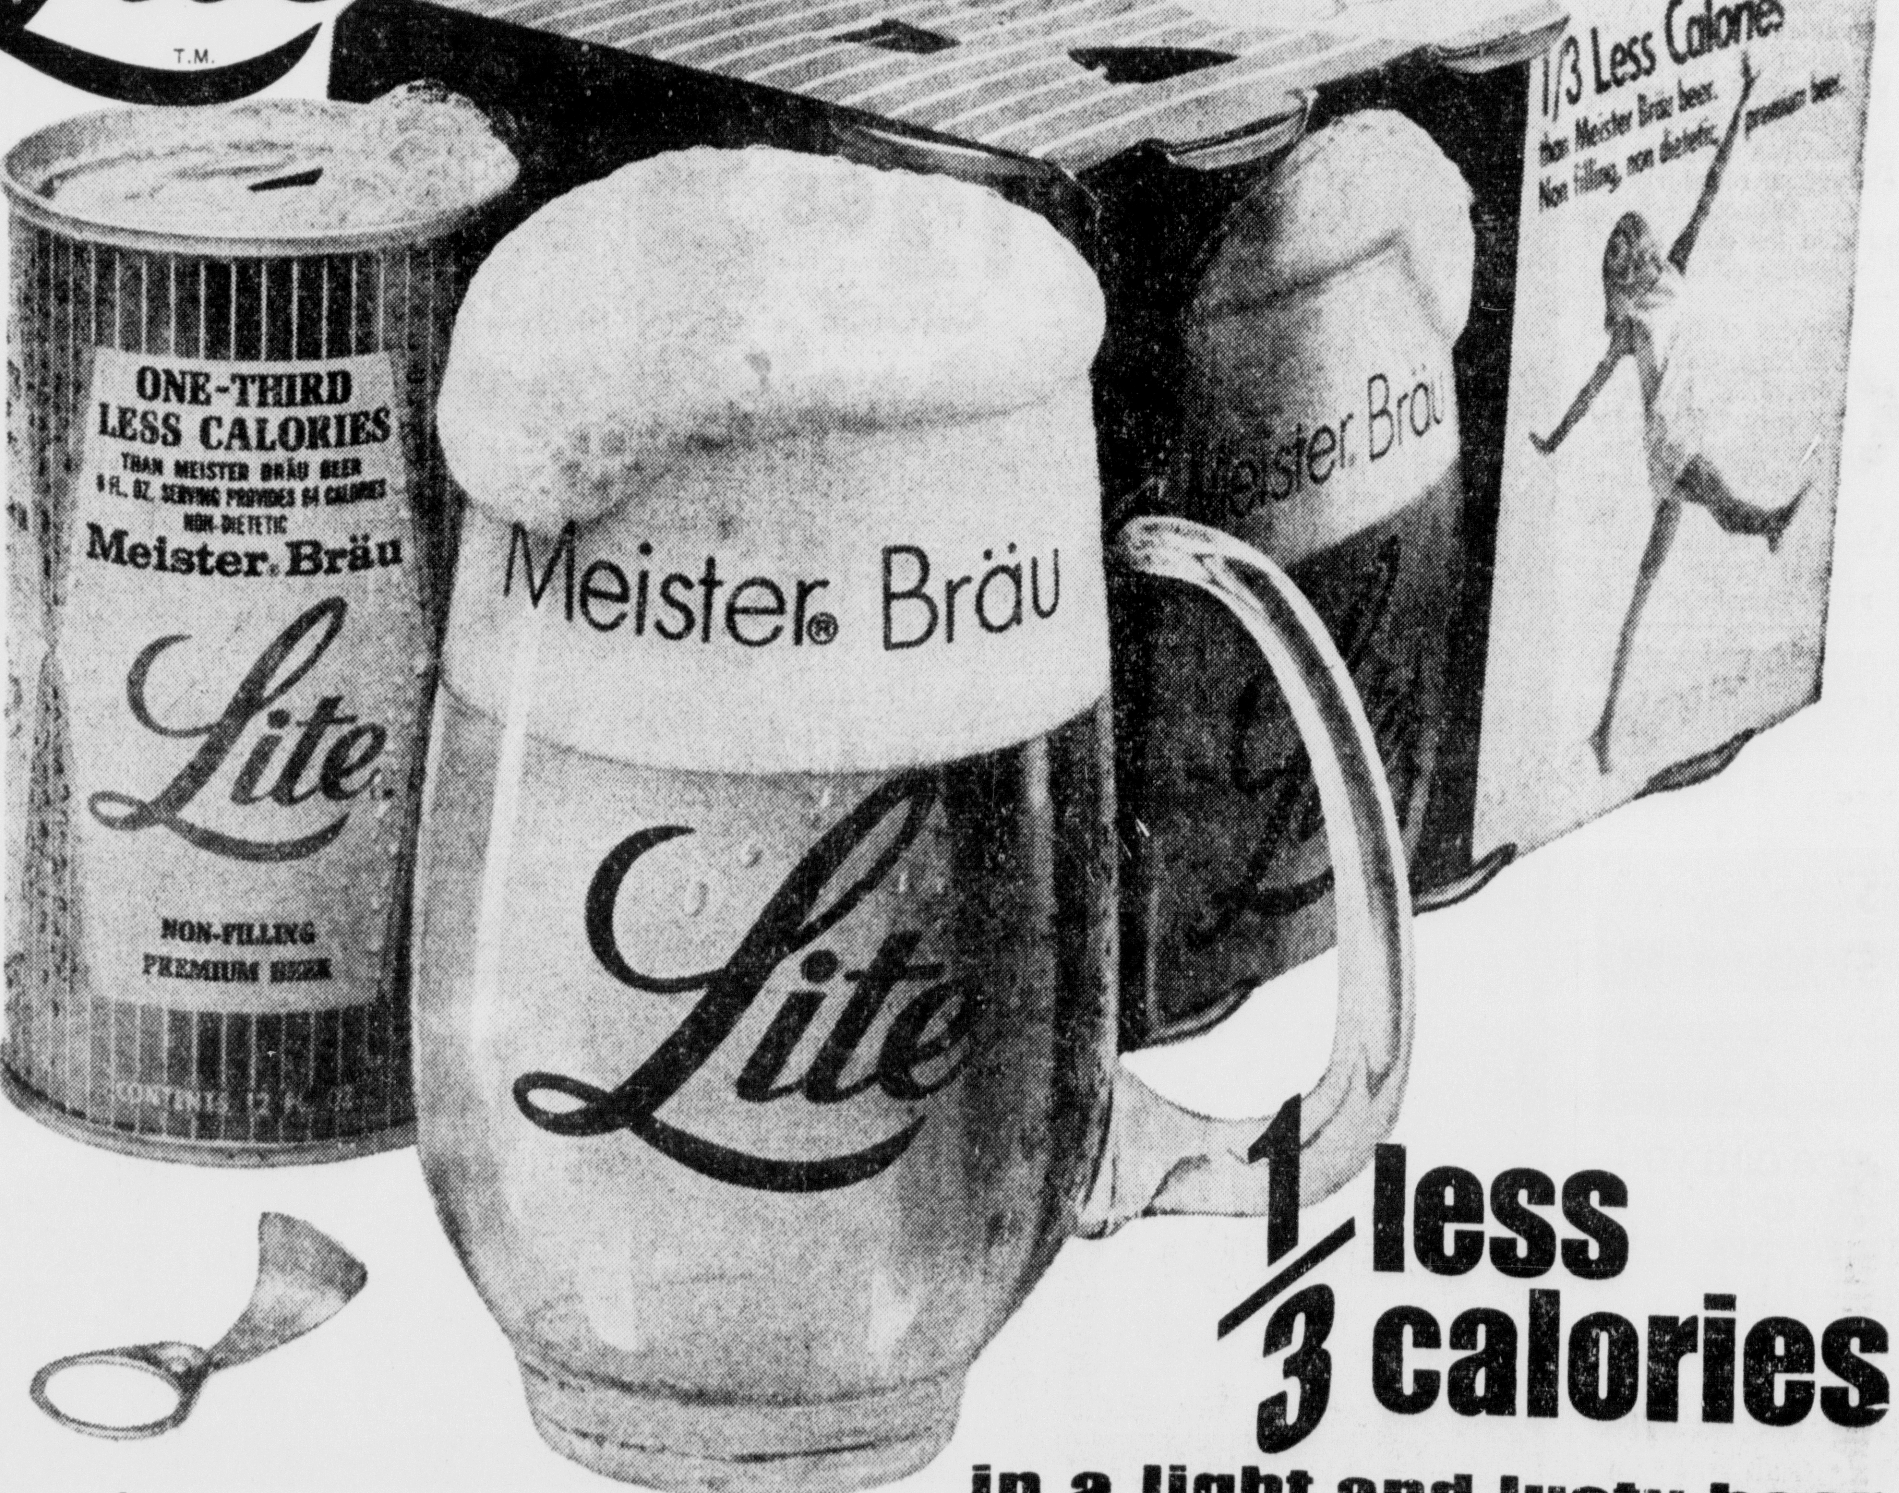
2. "Does Lite have less calories?" Lite has ⅓ LESS CALORIES than regular Meister Bräu premium beer. Lite contains only 64 calories in an 8-ounce serving.

3. "What about the taste?" The special process that brews out the calories also gives Lite the lightest taste yet in a premium beer. A crisp, clean-cut, invigorating and refreshing taste. Lite is less filling, too.

4. "How is Lite brewed?" Lite represents a scientific breakthrough . . . a spectacular achievement in the brewing art. Except for the extra step that brews out ⅓ OF THE CALORIES, Lite is brewed as we brew all our beer: with the finest, most costly grades of ingredients . . . with great skill and experience . . . and with extra care and patience.

5. "Why is 'non-dietetic' on the label?" Because Lite is not a diet beverage nor is it a "near" beer. We simply have removed ⅓ OF THE CALORIES. But that's all that's missing.

6. "Who is Meister Bräu?" Meister Bräu is a leading Midwestern brewery, proud of its long heritage of brewing fine beers since 1838. It has pioneered a number of "firsts", including putting real draft beer in bottles and cans. It is now the first to offer you a real premium beer with ⅓ LESS CALORIES.



1/3 less calories
in a light and lusty beer.

Lite gives you more of what you drink beer for.

Apartment Proposals Finally Win Approval

The San Rafael Planning Commission gave preliminary approval last night to long-contested alterations to an apartment development at Warner Court and Woodland Avenue.

The changes, subject to final approval April 8, are a sharp departure from what Steele Holman, owner of the apartments, first proposed last December.

City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner observed coldly that he and Asst. City Planner Charles J. Linthicum had seen the plans through a "multiplicity of changes" and that information provided the staff often was incorrect or inadequate.

Holman first sought a variance for a four-unit addition to the first of two units at the site, but now seeks to attach the new units to the second dwelling and provide additional parking in a corner of the lot.

Holman said he did not object to several conditions improsed by Hotchner for a variance and architectural approval, among them the stipulation that work must begin within three years.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

WAREHOUSE — Postponed until April 8 action on an application by owner Ray M. Dotto for architectural approval for a glass company warehouse at 76 Mitchell Boulevard in the Northgate Industrial Park. The commission asked for a new parking plan.

HOUSE — Allowed a five-foot setback, where 15 is required, to eliminate excessive bulldozing in construction of a house by Allan Hock on a steep lot at 279 Bungalow Avenue. Protesting after the decision, a neighbor, Wayne Diggs of 1 Perry Walk, said the variance would be incompatible with the area. He was told he could appeal to the city council.

CARS — Postponed until April 8 action on Ames Ford's application for a use permit to expand an auto sales and new car storage lot at 805 Irwin Street into an adjacent parcel. The commission was unwilling to provide as much driveway space as sought.

BODY SHOP — Approved a 15-by 30 foot addition to S and S Auto Body Shop at 180 Gary Place.

APARTMENTS — Gave conditional approval to construction of a two-story, nine-unit apartment building at 18 Valencia Avenue.

ILLEGAL — Was told by Hotchner that commission approval March 11 of a use permit to add 23 beds to a convalescent home at 120 Park Street was illegal because the property owner had not authorized the request.

QUAIL HILL — Was informed by Hotchner that excavation had begun on the commercial and residential development at Quail Hill, overlooking the Northgate area.

Air California Granted Hikes In Air Fares

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Air California travelers will have to pay higher fares beginning April 15.

The California Public Utilities Commission yesterday granted permission to Air California to increase ticket prices and adopt more flexible routings.

In an interim order the PUC said the intrastate airline could raise fares for its routes between Orange County and the San Francisco Bay Area, between Oakland-San Jose and Ontario, and between Burbank and San Jose-Oakland.

United Air Lines, Pacific Southwest Airlines and Western Airlines all have similar applications for increases pending before the commission. But the PUC felt that Air California faced sufficient eergency to grant interim relief.

Increases were about 9 per cent, with fares between Orange County and the Bay Area jumping from $14.85 to $16.19. The PUC also allowed Air California to extend and consolidate its operating rights by changing its schedules during off-peak hours.

Hearing Continued In Burglary Case

A preliminary hearing on a school burglary charge against Thomas Chassereau, 19, of Petaluma, was continued yesterday until April 2 in Sonoma County Superior Court.

Chassereau, of 180-B Cherry Street, is set to enter a plea at the next hearing. He was arrested Feb. 27 by Petaluma police in connection with the Feb. 9 burglary of the Bernard E. Eldredge School in which a tape recorder and record player were stolen.

Group Is Formed For Candidate

A campaign committee has been formed by several College of Marin students for Richard J. Sloan, a 33-year-old Lagunitas carpenter, as candidate for the Marin Junior College District board in the April 15 election.

Student Jaime Muniz, campaign manager, announced the formation today. Other student committee members, he said, are David Bersin, Linda Buck, Sandy Crabb, Michael Conroy, Kathy Earl, Mary Griffin, Barbara Krow, Michael McGinn, Judy Pegues and Rosalind Schirmer.

The committee plans a skit, and a leaflet and telephone campaign, said Muniz.

Petaluma Board Views Budget; 8 Pct. Teacher Pay Hike Likely

The Petaluma Board of Education, in a lengthy shirt-sleeve session last night, reviewed preliminary budgets for the 1969-70 year, and promised to squeeze out an 8 per cent package increase for teachers.

George W. Castleberry, business manager, presented a budget of $2,180,287 for the elementary district, up only slightly from this year's budget of $2,129,892. Estimating the income of the district at $2,001,357, he said the general purpose tax rate must be increased at least 10 cents to balance the budget.

The last tax hike, approved in 1958, set the general purpose tax limit at the present $1.83 rate. Total tax rate in the district this year, including overides is $2.11 per $100 assessed valuation.

In the high school district, Castleberry recommended no in- of $4,140,344, up $201,406 from the present budget of $3,938,838. He said the increase would be caused by the addition of 16 teachers.

Estimating the income of the high school district at $3,940,694, Catleberry recommended no increase in taxes, saying an estimated 5 per cent increase in assessed valuation should provide the difference. General purpose tax rate this year is $1.55 out of a total rate of $2.33.

After hearing request for a 15 per cent package increase from the Association of Petaluma Area Teacher, members said they might be able to make an 8 per cent offer. Castleberry said if accepted, it would add $360,000 to the combined budgets.

The 15 per cent increase asked by the teachers was in addition to the automatic increase of about $300 provided annually by the salary schedule.

The teachers, led by Matthew Keller, were asking an 8 per cent salary schedule hike and 7 per cent additional in fringe benefits, including increased health and dental benefits, extra duty fees and a change in the salary schedule to include more teachers on the top pay scale.

Keller said he would take the tentative offier of the 8 per cent package to his membership. The package includes 5 per cent in salary increases and 3 per cent for medical and dental benefits.

The teacher representatives said that if the offer were accepted, it would be with the stipulation that negotiations reopen to discuss additional fringe benefits if the district recieves additional state funds.

The Petaluma Board Of Education Also:

PRINCIPAL — Hired Charles N. Cadman, principal and superintendent of the nearby Liberty School District, as an unassigned principal. McDowell and Cherry Valley schools will both have opening in the fall. Under the present salary schedule, Cadman would receive $13,874.

ELECTION — Members Sol Fishman and Clay Thompson indicated they will seek re-election to the board when filings open tomorrow. The term of Dr. William Kortum also expires this year.

FIELD — Received letter from Dr. Edward Rudloff, athletic director at Sonoma State College, asking the high school district to pay $48,000 to develop a football and track field to be used by the college, Rancho Cotate High School and Rohnert Park Junior High School. Agreeing to the plan in principle, the board instructed Supt. Lesly H. Meyer to investigate means of long-term financing.

TEACHING — Heard report and saw video tape demonstration of new methods of teaching mathematics to reluctant learners at Rohnert Park Junior High.

RESIGNATIONIS — Received resignatıons fo Mrs. Edward Bishop and Mrs. Ted Wndresen from the northern area advisory board.

Deadline Is Set On Medicare Plan

The deadline for persons over 68 to sign up for the doctor bill part of Medicare is next Monday, Social Security District Mgr. Ed Leuin reported. It is the last time persons over 68 will be permitted to sign up, he said.

Persons under age 68 will have at least one more opportunity to apply during the first three months of 1970, Leuin said. Those under 65 may apply during a seven-month period which begins three months before age 65.

Bagley Asks Greater Peace Officer Powers

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation to extend the power of peace officers to cite suspected law breakers instead of booking them into jail has been introduced by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

The new power, however, would be limited to misdemeanors, to felonies punishable as misdemeanors and to felonies punishable by not more than 10 years in prison.

The legislation is premissive, thus leaving it to the discretion of the peace officer whether to cite or book. Under present law, their power is limited to minor misdemeanors such as vandalism.

Examples of crimes that would be covered by the legislation include embezzlement, petty theft, grand theft, auto theft, and possession of marijuana.

The bill was one of five introduced Monday by Bagley. The othere were:

REFUND — Provides that persons entitled to refund of excess payment for unemployment disability insurance shall receive a credit or refund on personal income tax rather than file a claim for refund with the Department of Employment.

AGRICULTURE — Increases state participation in county agricultural commissioners' salary from $3,300 to $9,600 a year. Revision of the 1959 formula was asked by the Marin County Board of Supervisors. Marin's agricultural commissioner, R. Allen Ballard, is paid $14,400.

SUBPOENA — Empowers the chairman of a legislative committee to subpoena documents without full committee vote as required now. Designed to eliminate the present, cumbersome requirement that documents can be presented only before a full committee meeting, the measure probably will be amanded to limit it to public documents, Bagley's staff said.

RETIREMENT — Sets up retirement system for legislative employees to provide 50 per cent of salary after 20 years.

Dissolving Quentin Yarn Mill Sought

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Elimination of yarn spinning at San Quentin's cotton mill has been proposed in a bill by Sen. Lawrence E. Walsh, D-Los Angeles.

Instead, the Department of Corrections would buy yarn produced by commerical firms. Also, the bill specifically allows the department to buy synthetic as well as cotton yarn for the mill.

The reason for his bill, Walsh told the Independent-Journal, was that it was costing the state more to have the raw cotton spun at the mill than to buy yarn. The spinning equipment at San Quentin was "outdated and outmoded," he said.

Walsh, chairman of the Senate Institutions Committee, also proposed in his bill that the maximum gross annual production limitation of the mill be cut from $1.5 million to $1 million. The mill now is producing just under $1 million a year, he said, and "doesn't need" the higher limitation.

Another bill, by Assemblyman William M. Ketchum, R-Bakersfield, would make it permissible, rather than mandatory, that counties and cities buy only prison-made goods when available. The law never has been enforced, but private businesses long have objected to the provision in the law.

Vase, Coins Taken

Burglars took an antique vase, valued at $150, filled with $50 in coins, from the home of Joseph Sparrowhawk, 602 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley, between 7:10 a.m. and 5 p.m. yesterday, police reported.

House Break-In

Someone kicked in the locked basement door of the home of George H. Morse of 200 Wilson Way, Larkspur between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., yesterday, and stole $5 from a dresser in the master bedroom, Morse reported to police last night.

Auto Is Stolen

Charles E. Feeney of 472 Irving Court, Tiburon, told Mill Valley police someone stole his 1958 yellow Volkswagen, license FYL 726, from the Safeway market parking lot at Miller Avenue and Camino Alto between 8:15 and 10:30 p.m. yesterday.

Rope Swing Plunge Fatal To Youngster

Patterson G. McNutt, 12-year-old Mill Valley boy who fell off a rope swing Monday onto a cement driveway 30 feet below Monday, died last night at Marin General Hospital.

The young son of Mrs. Ann McNutt of 8 Magdelena Court had been in critical condition with head injuries in the hospital's intensive care unit since the accident. He died at 10:02 p.m.

The boy was injured when he lost his grip on the rope swing at the home of his father, Bradford H. McNutt, 11 Reed Street, and fell, landing on the cement driveway.

A native of Marin County, he was a student at Edna Maguire School.

He is survived by his parents.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapels in Mill Valley.

Plea Of Guilty In Drug Case

James Laddie McCoy, 19, of Antioch, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to possessing marijuana Friday in his car near Black Point. He was referred to the probation department and ordered to appear in Superior Court Monday.

His companions, Robert Eugene Fertado, 21, and Dennis Holmes Bastian, 22, who are accused of being in a place where marijuana was being used, were ordered to appear in court April 1 for arraignment.

Police said that McCoy dropped a plastic bag of marijuana through a hole in the floorboard of his car when he was stopped.

Hub Seeks U.S. Funds To Buy Park Addition

The San Anselmo City Council last night agreed to go ahead with an application for federal funds to acquire 5.7 acres of land adjoining Sorich Park, despite reports of an unstable soil condition which would limit development. (Another San Anselmo City Council story, page 1.)

The land, owned by Robert E. Jones, was offered to the city for $26,000 and the city is asking the federal government for half of that amount.

The parcel is assessed at $4,600 and the county assessor said it has a market value of $20,000, but the city has not had it appraised.

The council received a letter from the city's planning commission pointing out the land lies in a fault zone, is unstable and subject to sliding.

The commission said, "The city should not permit acquisition of this property to jeopardize other park programs."

John O'Rourke, a civil engineer, checked the property and reported it has unstable soil conditions and would need about $5,000 worth of erosion control.

Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro pointed out there are other, better pieces of property in San Anselmo, while Councilman Robert M. Scott said he was against just acquiring open space when "we can't reasonably take care of what we have."

Councilman James R. Reed said the only good use for the property is for open space and that is what the city would use it for.

The council also agreed to acquire a parcel between 1357 and 1361 San Anselmo Avenue for use as a tot lot. The parcel is to be sold by the county for delinquent taxes, but the city may have it free, Alfred C. Kaeppel, city administrator-controller told the council.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

CLEAR VIEW — Approved, 4 to 1, the request of Clear View Cable Systems to transfer its stock to Columbia Broadcasting System. Reed voted no because he believed CBS would never begin the community closed circuit station Clear View has mentioned.

DOGS — Discussed with Mel L. Morse, executive director of the Humane Society, the proposed new animal control ordinance in preparation for a public hearing on the matter scheduled for April 29.

LIVING QUARTERS — Overturned a planning commission denial for a use permit for separate living quarters at the home of James E. Kendall of 20 Idalia Road after Kendall promised the extra room would be for his family only and he would provide a deed restriction that it would never be used as a rental unit.

BRIDGE — Approved construction of a footbridge at 12 Allyn Avenue as requested by James G. Douglass.

MEMORIAL PARK — Delayed action on the master plan for Memorial Park to see if some of the 64 parking places could be eliminated and whether the portion of Sonoma Avenue which runs past the park could be closed.

OCCUPANCY — Denied an occupancy permit requested by A. W. Barthel, for the Senor Alfredo Mexican rdstaurant at 115 San Anselmo Avenue. The restaurant is in half of the old Safeway building, where occupancy was stopped by the city because the owner has not compied with landscaping requirements.

RENTAL UNITS — Delayed for study by the attorney a proposal to have annual inspections of rental units in an effort to prevent the multiple resident problems now existing.

STATE FAIR — Agreed not to participate in a county display at the state fair as requested by the board of supervisors to benefit the motel and hotel business because San Anselmo has no motels nor hotels.

Suspect Accused Of Filing False Report

Gordon Keith Jennings, 21, of 25 Sierra Vista, Novato, was arrested by San Rafael police last night on suspicion of giving a false police report, the second time in as many days he has been arrested.

Police arrested him Monday on suspicion of possessing stolen property but he was realeased with no complaint filed pending further investigation. Police said he had a television set which may have been taken in a Greenbrae burglary Sunday.

Jennings already faces court appearances on April 8 and 10 on two burglary charges.

The youth's latest arrest came shortly before midnight after he allegedly was involved in a hit and run collision with another car, then reported to police his car had been stolen, police said.

Police said a car believed to be the one Jennigs drives — sideswiped a car driven by Joseph Walla, of 665 Cascade Drive, Fairfax, at Second Street and Grand Avenue shortly after 11 p.m. Jennings, a few minutes later, called police to say the car, which belongs to a girlfriend, had been stolen from the Bermuda Palms Motel parking area.

A witness to the collision told police he saw a car leaving the scene at a high rate of speed. The car, they said, fit the description of the one Jennings was driving and it had a broken headlight.

Another witness told police she saw two men behind her apartment building about the same time "wiping fingerprints" from a car answering the same description.

Jennings' car was later found in the area, police said.

He was held on $625 bail for a court appearance today.

Larkspur Street Project Backed

Larkspur Planning Commissioners last night recommended that Ward Street be extended to meet Meadowood Drive and that this improvement be given "reasonably high priority" in the city's secondary street development projects.

Ward Street ends at Holcomb Street now and the proposal is to extend it across Arroyo Holon Creek for access into Meadowood subdivision, City Clerk Judy Beal reported.

Commissioners also recommended the city council adopt an underground utilities ordinance, putting into law the requirement of such utilities in all new subdivisions. This policy is now practiced, Mrs. Beal said.

Fuss Erupts On Rezoning In Novato

Disagreements between the Novato Planning Commission and the Novato City Council flared up again last night and the council returned three rezonings to the commission for reconsideration.

Sent back were the requests of William Guinnane and J. C. Youngberg for a rezoning from commercial to multiple residential for two parcels south of Warner Creek, one east of Diablo Avenue, the other north of Center Road and of Paul Pickart for a rezoning from agricultural to planned residential for approximately six acres at the end of Hill Road.

Guinnane and Youngberg last August asked for rezoning rrom restrictive ocmmercial to multiple residential for their two parcels. The commission instead approved planned residential for their property and adjacent commercial property.

Frank Perachiotti, real estate dealer, and Peter Ferrarese, manager of Crocker-Citizens Bank in Novato, objected to changing the commercial zone residential. They objected because under planned residential, none of it could be developed unless a master plan was submitted for all five parcels.

The council instructed the commission to rezone the Guinnane and Youngberg properties to planned residential and omit the other property from the rezoning.

If the commission refuses to follow this recommendation, on their property to planned council members indicated they would do it themselves. It was necessary to refer the matter back to the commission for reconsideration before the council could act according to the City Atty. Clark M. Palmer Jr.

The council also referred back to the commission the Pickart rezoning because the commission had required dedication of an 84-foot right-of-way for the Hill Road extension.

The council instructed the commission to require only a dedication of 42 feet of the road at present and take an option on the other 42 feet for 15 years at a cost of $1. This offer was made to the city by former mayor Robert D. Carrow, representing Pickart.

The Novato City Council also:

TRIANGLE — Rezoned the remainder of the triangle bounded by Center Road, Diablo Avenue and South Novato Boulevard to commercial with highway frontage regulations from agricultural, residential and restricted Commercial. The new C-1-H Zone requires a use permit for businesses.

LOT SPLIT — Referred back to the planning commission a request for a lot split on Farvue Road from Leo Wasset at Wasset's request so he could revise his plans.

BAHIA — Introduced an ordinance accepting changes in the master plan of 900 acres of the Bahia development at the end of Bugeia Lane to include multiple dwellings for a portion instead of all single family, a public lagoon and boat launching, a larger commercial area and an elementary school site. Councilman Douglas M. Merrill vacated his seat during this item because his employer, Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of San Francisco, is doing some architectural work for Union Bank of Los Angeles, owner of Bahia.

MASTER PLAN — Approved the master plan for a 117-unit apartment building and plans for 53 of these units at Ignacio Boulevard and Almeda Del Prado for Walter Kieckhefer.

ANNEXATION — Introduced an ordinance annexing four acres on the south side of Center Road at Eucalyptus Avenue.

VETERINARY CLINIC — Introduced an ordinance to allow veterinary clinics in commerical zones with use permits. The present zoning ordinance allows them only in commercial zones.

SIGNS — Introduced an ordinance to allow the plannning director to issue a permit for confronting signs. At the present time, all signs must go before the plan review committee.

WESTERN WEEKEND — Approved in principal of holding Western Weekend country fair on the unused portions of Redwood Boulevard and Peter Court in the Scottsdale development.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Robert G. Johnson from the planning commission. Johnson has served on the commission since its inception after the city was incorporated nine years ago.

Adjourned until 7 p.m. Tuesday to complete the final 11 items on the agenda. These include reclassification of some city positions, salary and fringe benefit recommendation and holding a closed meeting to make appointments to the downtown study committee and subcommittee, beautification committee and ambulance service study committee.

Novato House Arson Probed

Two fires, thought to have been set, did approximately $1,000 damage to a vacant house belonging to Peter Cancilla at 104 Caribe Isle, according to Novato Fire Chief James W. Kidder.

Neighbors saw smoke coming from the windows in the house and turned in the alarm, the chief said. When the firemen arrived, they found the back patio doors open.

There was a pile of clothing on fire in the hallway off the living area and a small fire set in one of the bedrooms, he reported.

Damage was confined to walls and floor, and smoke damage to the house and small amount of furniture in it, he said.

A Touch Of Curry Highlights Salad

You can have subtle sophistication with hidden heartiness when you serve Curried Tuna-Fruit Salad. This recipe is practical and perfect for any luncheon occasion whether you are having special guests or simply feeding the family.

Large pieces of protein-rich tuna blend with pineapple chunks, cucumber, and cottage cheese. A touch of curry highlights the flavors and your choice of salad greens provides a crisp and colorful setting for the salad. An assortment of cheese, grapes, apple slices, and peach halves may be added for extra color and heartiness.

Tuna has many values to offer the homemaker. Nutritionally, tuna rates high as an easily digested protein food and as a rich source of vitamins and minerals so necessary to growth and health. Versatility is one of the advantages of tuna because it can be served alone or combined with other foods such as eggs, rice, potatoes, macaroni products, or a variety of fruits and vegetables. It serves as an important ingredient in appetizers, salads, or hearty main dishes.

Economy is another advantage of tuna since there is no waste.

CURRIED TUNA-FRUIT

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) pineapple chunks, drained
1 cup cottage cheese
½ cup chopped cucumber
½ teaspoon curry powder
Salad greens
2 red apples, cut into 24 wedges
½ cup seedless green grapes
½ cup peanuts
Mayonnaise or salad dressing

Drain tuna and break into large pieces. Combine pineapple, cottage cheese, cucumber, curry powder, and tuna. Chill. Place ⅔ cups tuna mixture on salad greens. Place 4 apple wedges around each serving. Top each apple wedge with a grape. Sprinkle salad with peanuts.

Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Shrimp Oriental With Scallions And Ginger

Recipes from the Orient have a special flavor and charm all their own. Far Eastern methods, such as quick cookery are welcome in American homes. For a delectable shrimp dish, try this one.

Shrimp Oriental

1½ teaspoons corn starch
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground ginger
1 tablespoon dry sherry or lemon juice
1 pound shrimp, shelled and deveined
2 tablespoons corn oil
1 scallion, chopped

Mix corn starch, salt and ginger. Stir in sherry. Toss with shrimp, coating evenly. Heat corn oil in skillet. Add shrimp and saute over medium heat 5 to 7 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add scallions.

Recipe makes 3 servings, serve on rice.

Lemon Sauce

A clear lemon dessert sauce can be made without lumps if 1 tablespoon of cornstarch is first thoroughly mixed with ½ cup sugar. The starch particles then will not cling together when 1 cup boiling water is stirred in and the mixture cooked 3 to 4 minutes to thicken. Remove from heat; stir in grated peel of 1 lemon, 3 tablespoons of lemon juice, and 2 tablespoons of butter or margarine. Makes 1 1-3 cups.

Banana Cake

When you are baking a banana cake or banana quick bread that calls for mashed bananas, it's a good idea to "mash" the fruit by forcing it through a fine-mesh strainer. When banana is mashed with a fork the resulting puree is not always uniform in texture.

Frozen Egg Yolks

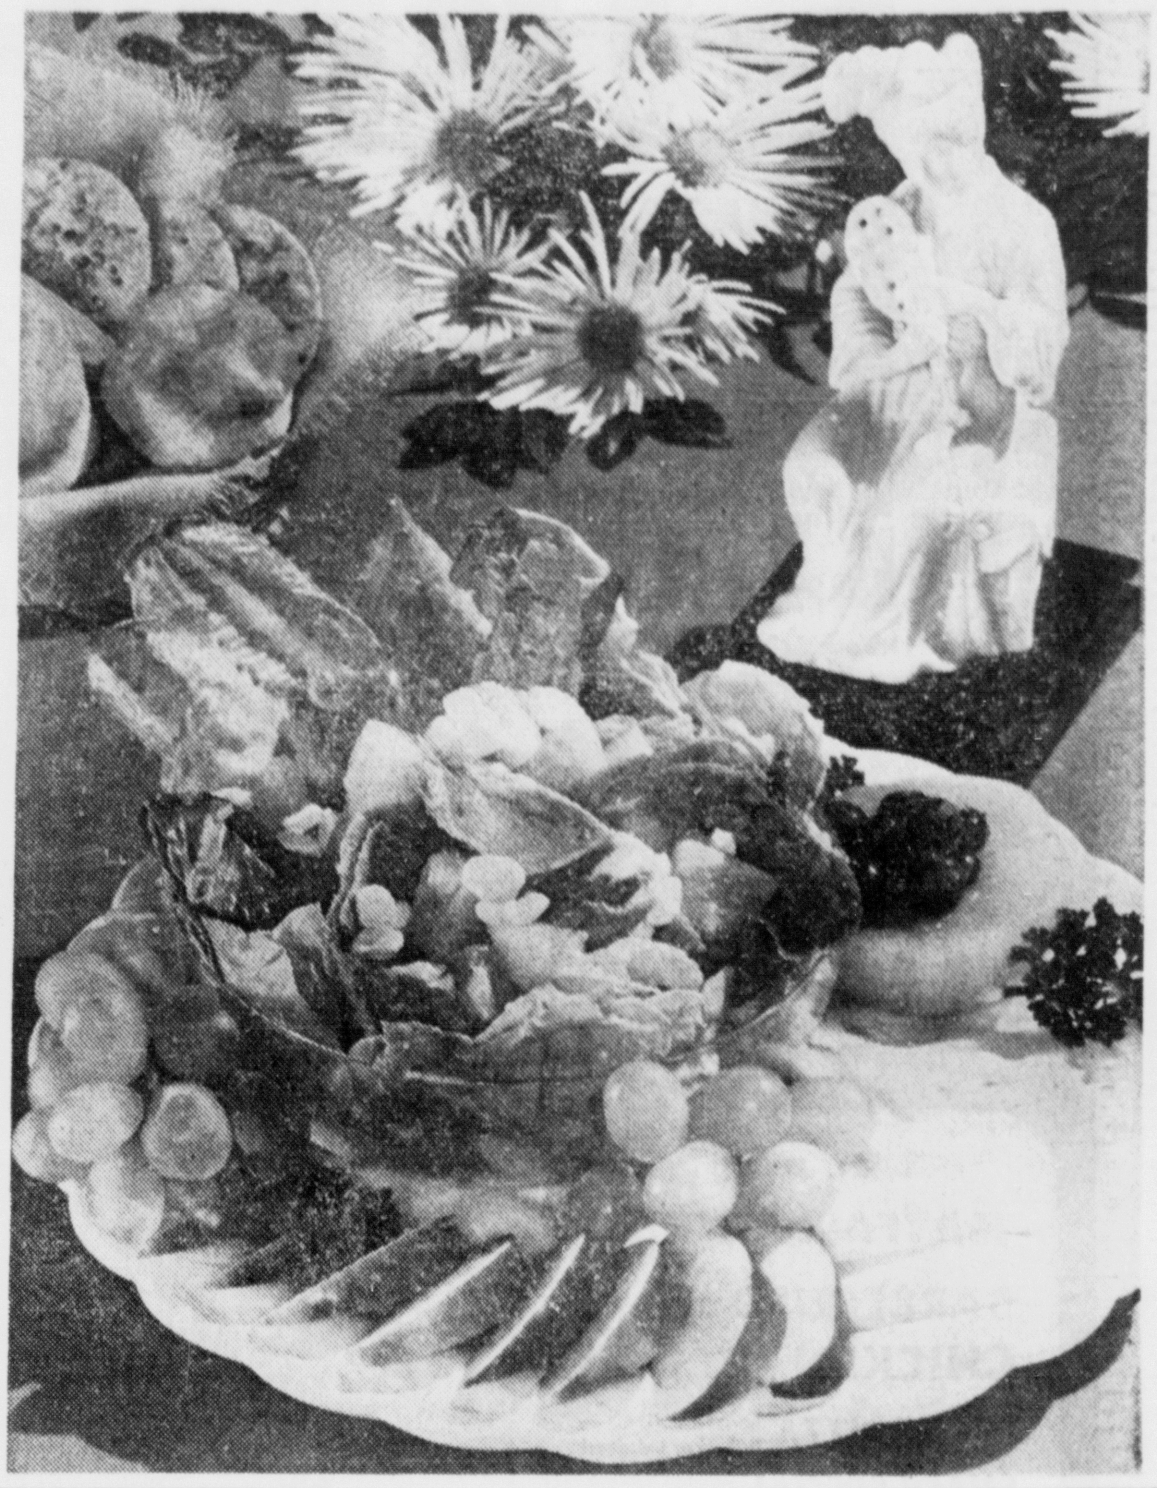
To prevent frozen, left over egg yolks from gumming and lumping when thawed and mixed with other ingredients, add sugar before freezing. Mix in proportions of 1 teaspoon of sugar for each 1-3 cup of yolks. Since 1 medium-sized egg yolk measures 1 tablespoon, 5 1-3 yolks (or tablespoons) will equal 1-3 cup.



A BREAKFAST that brings the flavor of summer fruit to brighten the weekend morn. Peachy Good Waffles and a mugful of Hot Chocolate Raspberry Drink.

Golden Waffles Are Topped With Make-Ahead Peach Sauce

Oh, the joys of the perfect breakfast waffle. Crisp and golden brown . . . tender to the fork, light on the tongue.

With the time-saving packaged biscuit mixes on the market, you can make glorious waffles like this easy as toast. The interesting twist: A teaspoon of mace, along with real flavor makers like sour cream, milk, butter and eggs.

While your waffles are browning in the waffle baker, heat up the peach sauce you made ahead and have ready in the refrigerator. It has a flavor difference too . . . a subtle dash of almond extract.

And the "go with" refreshment could be an unusual breakfast drink called Hot Chocolate Raspberry Drink. It's the big lift beverage, milk, in disguise . . . made with one of the quick cocoa mixes and red raspberry preserves.

PEACHY GOOD WAFFLES

Waffles:
2 cups packaged biscuit mix
1 teaspoon mace
1½ cups milk
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 egg, slightly beaten

Peach sauce:
1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) peach slices
2 cups peach syrup
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¼ lb. (½ stick) butter
½ teaspoon almond extract

To prepare waffles: In a mixing bowl combine biscuit mix and mace. Combine milk, sour cream, butter and egg; add to dry ingredients just until blended. Pour batter into center of a preheated waffle baker, spreading if necessary to cover surface. Bake until golden brown.

To prepare sauce: Drain peaches, reserving syrup (add water if necessary to make 2 cups). In a 1½-quart saucepan gradually add peach syrup to cornstarch. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 2 additional minutes.

Remove from heat; stir in butter until melted. Add peaches and almond extract; over low heat bring to serving temperature.

Makes approx. 3¾ cups. Serve warm over waffles. Makes 3 waffles, 9-inches each.

CHOCOLATE RASPBERRY DRINK

⅓ cup quick chocolate flavor mix
3 tablespoons seedless red raspberry preserves
4 cups milk

In 1½-quart saucepan combine chocolate mix and preserves; gradually stir in milk. Heat to serving temperature stirring occasionally. Makes approx. 4 cups.

Lenten Fish Dishes To Keep Figure Slim

The Lenten season offers weight-watching homemakers an opportunity to keep figures trim while serving nutritious, low-calorie fish dishes to the family.

BAKED SALMON STEAKS

1½ lbs. salmon steaks (cut ½" thick)
¼ cup milk
1 tbsp. A-1 sauce
1½ cups dry bread crumbs
4 pats butter or margarine
parsley
lemon wedges

Have salmon steaks cut into 4 uniform serving pieces. Mix together milk and A-1 sauce. Dip fish in mixture, then roll in crumbs until thoroughly covered. Arrange in greased shallow baking pan. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake in oven preheated to 500 degrees for 10 minutes. Arrange on platter with radish rosettes and parsley. Serve with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

SCALLOPS AND RICE

2 lbs. sea scallops, frozen
1 cup mushrooms, sliced
1 cup celery, sliced
½ cup onion, sliced
½ cup butter or margarine
1 tsp. salt
1 cup white rice
2 cans consomme (undiluted)
¼ cup sherry
2 tbsp. A-1 sauce

Defrost scallops. Cook mushrooms, celery, onion in butter until onion is light golden brown. Mix together salt, rice, consomme, sherry and A-1 sauce with cooked vegetables. Place all ingredients in casserole with scallops; toss lightly, and bake, covered, in moderate oven (325 degrees - 350 degrees) for approximately 45 minutes. Serves 6.

DEVILED CRAB CASSEROLE

1 lb. crabmeat
1½ cups breadcrumbs
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup melted butter or margarine
¼ cup milk
1 tsp. dry mustard
½ tsp. salt
2 tbsp. A-1 sauce

Mix together crabmeat, crumbs, celery, onion and green pepper. Add melted butter and milk and mix well. Add mustard, salt and A-1 sauce. Mix well and pour into casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serves 6.

Quick Chicken Sauce

To make a quick delicious sauce for curried chicken, make a medium cream sauce using half chicken broth and half cream; add curry powder to suit your taste.

Young And Old Give Of Time

By BARBARA HOSMER

Enthusiasm of youth and the experience of an adult both have their place in the world of volunteer service to others.

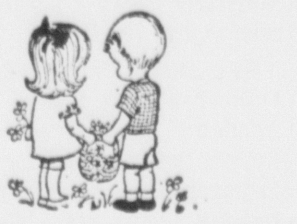
As illustration take the work of 18 year old Carol Bullock of Terra Linda and white-haired, dedicated Ruth Vange of Strawberry. Both are lending their special talents to the program of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin.

CAROL HAS volunteered to be chairman of the 40 teen-agers who will conduct the Easter Seal Lily Day campaign on Saturday, offering balloons and paper lilies at Marin shopping centers and cities. She and other eager teen-agers from Marin Catholic High School hope to raise $500 with their all-day balloon and flower venture.

Mrs. Vange is the through-the-years volunteer who has helped with the crippled adults crafts and recreation program since she first was recruited by a friend who had been working with the original Marin group. The friend, whom Mrs. Vange had known from her years in social work in San Francisco, asked her to help with the new crippled children and adult group being organized around 1954.

"I had only been in Marin about six months then and wanted to find something to do," she explains. Ruth Vange has been at it ever since, as a volunteer driver of handicapped people, office worker and recreation volunteer. Last week it was she calling the numbers for the bingo game during the adult recreation session at the Easter Seal Society in Larkspur while people in wheelchairs bent over their cards in concentration.

"WE COULD DO so much more if we had more space," she said enthusiastically afterward. "We need storage space, too, to keep the looms in," she said, indicating the collection of small and medium size looms on which woven work was in progress.



Sometimes the crippled adults decide to accept invitations for outings at Marin homes or at the beach, but transportation is the drawback, says Ruth. "We need more volunteer drivers, even for the weekly recreation program here on Thursdays. When I was driver chairman I used to spend hours on the telephone to get people to volunteer to drive."

Ruth Vange is one of some 15 recreation and office volunteers who assist with crafts projects, games, monthly birthday parties and slide shows. And her husband is another. Chris Vange retired from the Army and the couple moved to Marin about 1953.

"He needed something to do so he went to work in San Francisco. Then when retired from that he decided to come here to help, too," she explained, while he was busy with office work in the next room at the Easter Seal headquarters.

RUTH VANGE has put her long experience to volunteer ends, and young Carol her enthusiasm, but each has a little of the other quality as well.

"We could have square dances if we had enough room for the wheel chairs and all," says Ruth eagerly, looking forward to the day when suitable larger quarters can be found for the recreation program. Most likely it would be Ruth calling the squares.

And although she's still a high school senior, Carol can point to volunteer experience beyond the average matron's. She's currently president of the Senior Girls Sodality at Marin Catholic, has worked in the Marindale School program for handicapped youngsters, and heads a monthly program of volunteers at Sonoma State Hospital. She's enthusiastic about her volunteer work with crippled and handicapped to the point where she plans to major in special education when she enters college in the fall.

Presently both Ruth and Carol are satisfied to be able to aid the Easter Seal programs of special therapy, day camp and resident camping, adults crafts and recreation, recreation for handicapped children and teens, and the purchase of needed equipment for handicapped persons.

"Many of these people would be shut-ins if it weren't for this program and volunteers," Ruth Vange remarked.

ENTHUSIASM and a "can do it" attitude on the part of Carol Bullock make her an ideal volunteer in behalf of handicapped persons. President of the Senior Girls Sodality at Marin Catholic High School, Carol and some 40 of her classmates will conduct the Lily Day campaign Saturday with balloons and paper lilies offered to aid the Easter Seal program for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin. (Emme Gilman photos)

THROUGH THE years Marin volunteers have assisted with the adult crafts and recreation program of the Easter Seal Society when games, craft work, weaving, movies and lecture programs go on. Here a crafts project to make Christmas angels is underway, taking several weekly sessions to complete. Volunteers and volunteer drivers make the program go each Thursday at the Easter Seal Society in Larkspur.

Sandra is a student at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. The division of arts at the college is sponsoring the tour, which will include visits to New York museums and cathedrals. The girls will watch the Easter parade on Fifth Avenue and attend the theater.

THE JOHN DALE Friends of Corte Madera spent a weekend in Southern California at a reunion of John Friends' relatives.

A luncheon was given by Evelyn Guard Olsen, author of "Indian Blood," the story of the Friends' relatives who settled in Maryland in the 16th and 17th Centuries. Col. Lester Friend of Warren, Ohio, author of "Friend Statistics," also attended the luncheon.

MMES. ROBERT S. Jason, Stewart H. Smith and Michael S. Newhall, all of San Anselmo, celebrated Mrs. Jason's birthday last Wednesday at a luncheon at the Iron Horse Restaurant in San Francisco. Following lunch they attended the performance of "Lamp at Midnight" at the Curran Theatre.

HOME IN Sausalito after an exciting trip to South America are the Fred A. Bakers Jr.

They began their trip the latter part of January on the west coast of South America. Among highlights were a train ride across the Peruvian and Bolivian Altiplano (high plains) and crossing by hydrofoil Lake Titicaca, the highest navigable lake in the world, to La Paz.

This is the only way to see the lake in the daytime, Mrs. Baker says. The other way is by taking a night boat.

The Bakers also went by way of the Chilean lakes to Iguazzu Falls in Paraguay and up the east ocast for the usual sightseeing in Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires.

An especially memorable excursion was one to Angel Falls in Venezuela, the highest falls in the world.

HELEN HELP US!

Women's Role In The Home Dictated By Wishes Of Men

I resent your flippant reply to "Lesson Learned," whose career wife wouldn't become a homemaker.

I doubt that the problem was whether or not she buttered his toast or cut his toenails, as you put it. She probably refused to cook, clean and do laundry — basics a man expects of the woman he marries. If she won't do these things, what the hell good is she as a wife? Do you think career girls are exempt from home duties and bearing children?

Authorities concede that it takes a mature, intelligent woman to successfully combine a career with marriage — that to avoid divorce, the smart wife will be submissive as God intended her, and will diminish her tendencies to achieve outside the home and be independent.—MIFFED MALE

DEAR HELEN:

I am from Europe where husbands don't take this "career wife" guff American husbands bow down to. In my home I tell my wife, "You may be right, dear, but I have 51 per cent of the vote, and we'll do it my way." She loves me for it. Since I do her thinking for her, she is free to concentrate on making me happy. A pleasant arrangement. Why don't American husbands try it?—ANTONE

DEAR ANTONE:

. . . Because they don't have European wives!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

$405,456 Spent In Reserve Funds

During this fiscal year, Marin County has used $405,456 in reserve funds set aside for contingencies, Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell reported to the board of supervisors, yesterday.

At the start of the fiscal year last July, the county's general reserve totalled $350,000. During the year, funds were added to bring the total reserve fund to $476,216. With $405,456 already spent, the current balance is $70,760.

"We've not been crying wolf," Chairman John F. McInnis pointed out. "We've now exceeded the budget reserve established for this year."

Mitchell explained that funds added to meet this year's drain on the reserve fund means that much less carryover for the next fiscal year and a built-in higher tax rate to start the new fiscal year in July.

Bales Is Given Nod For Another Deputy

A new deputy district attorney and a secretary-stenographer will be added to the district attorney's staff immediately to meet a big increase in court cases.

Addition of the two staff members, which would mean $5,291 extra cost between now and June 30, won unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Superivosrs yesterday.

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales made a brief plea for the extra staff members and convinced the supervisors that his staff is swamped.

From July 1, the district attorney seeks another deputy district attorney, an investigator, a secretary-stenographer and a file clerk. But supervisors decided that these will have to await budget discussions.

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

HUMAN RIGHTS — Appointed Mrs. Mary Brooks of Marin City to the Marin County Human Rights Commission. She will succeed Mrs. Tommie Scott, who resigned because of pressure of work.

AMBULANCE — Asked the county administrator to study the feasibility of having Doctor's Ambulance meet the Point Reyes fire ambulance half way, then transferring the victim to the San Rafael ambulance, thus permitting the Point Reyes ambulance to get back to Point Reyes more quickly.

RECLASSIFICATION — Approved the reclassification of two professional positions in the Department of Public Social Services so that two lower classifications (community relations worker) can be created. The community relations worker will have a salary range of $809 to $948 per month.

Dr. Ellen Binkley, chairman of the Tamalpais District's discipline study committee, will be moderator.

Ordinances On Marina Checks Win Approval

Two ordinances controlling the physical layout and use of houseboat marinas won unanimous approval of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Supervisors refused to delete the requirement that every houseboat marina provide a sewerage lateral for the collection of sewage from every vessel at the marina, despite another plea by attorney Hugh G. Lawrence, representing George Kappas.

However, they did yield to a request by yacht club owners that the definition of transient vessel be liberalized so that pleasure craft will not be forced to have a sewer hookup.

TRANSIENT VESSEL

Under the ordinance, a transient vessel is defined as any vessel moored which is occupied for less than four consecutive days or 10 days in any calendar month.

Yacht club owners, represented by William Hynes of Tiburon, argued that yachtsmen on vacation who tie up for a week would be reqiured to have a sewer hookup. Supervisors remedied that by adding this sentence, drafted by Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest:

"A transient vessel shall also include any vessel for which a permit is received from the harbor master, stating that no sewage will be discharged during the occupancy."

The ordinances approved yesterday are one to be used by the planning department in establishing standards and regulations, and the second to be used by the department of public works in regulating physical construction of floating home marinas.

The ordinances require at least 50 per cent of each floating home marina to be kept in open water, at least six feet of space between houseboats, and 10 feet of space if either houseboat is two stories. Only one dwelling unit will be allowed on each floating home.

MUST GET PERMIT

All existing floating home marinas must apply for a permit within one month and comply with provisions of the public works ordinance within one year.

Under the planning and zoning ordinance on floating home marinas, owners of such marinas must apply for planning approval and use permit within six months, and comply with all planning and zoning requirements in three years.

The marina ordinances approved yesterday will be applied in conjunction with another ordinance passed last December to control construction and use of houseboats.

Open House Set

A public open house of the new Ross Valley Medical Clinic at 1350 South Eliseo Drive, Greenbrae, will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. The new facility will have a staff of 24 physicians, a pharmacist and an administrator.

Gasoline Tax Urged For Public Transit

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday urged the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission to recommend that gas taxes be made available for public transit as well as for highways.

A draft report by the commission's study group on finance firmly rejected any diversion to public transit of highway funds. Instead, it recommended a new property tax on Bay Area homeowners and special gas and vehicle taxes.

The draft report was to be consideredfor adoption this morning by the commission. Then it will go to the Legislature.

The supervisors' unaimous vote followed a sharp reprimand by Chairman John F. McInnis to Seymour Kashin, general manager of the Marin County Transit District.

The report, written by the commission's former study director, Richard M. Zettel, "Is cleverly contrived," said Kashin. "The whole document is loaded with conflicting statements — it's fiction,'' Kashin declared.

"I think your statements are completely out of line," flared McInnis. "You're supposed to represent us, but you do not represent me when you make such statements!"

McInnis accused Kashin of "irresponsible comments about public figures" and declared: "If it's the pleasure of the board, I'll hear no more from you on this report."

Supervisor Louis H. Baar also defended Zettel as a man who makes sense. "I've attended three meetings, and never once have I heard disparaging remarks uttered against him."

But Supervisors Michael Wornum and Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. declared that the BATSC report on financing of transportation puts all emphasis on the freeway and atuomobile and not enough on rapid transit.

"I move we recommend to BATSC," said Arrigoni, "that all consideration should be given to sharing gasoline taxes to be used for public transit as an alternate to the automobile."

Supervisor William A Gnoss seconded the motion.

"If it makes you happy, I'll vote for it," said Baar.

'Oakland Seven' Jury Receiving Case Directives

OAKLAND (UPI)—The jury in the conspiracy trial of the Oakland Seven today received instructions from Superior Court Judge George W. Phillips Jr. after nearly eight weeks of testimony and 16 hours of closing arguments.

The judge said he would explain more than 40 complex directives to the panel of eight men and four women before it begins deliberations.

The seven are charged with felony conspiracy to have others commit misdemeanor acts of trespassing and obstructing police during an antiwar march on the Oakland Induction Center on Oct. 17, 1967. The defendants each face a maximum sentence of three years in jail or a fine of $5,000.

Comic Hits CBS With Big Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Comedian Jackie Mason, accusing the Columbia Broadcasting System of censoring a skit he taped as part of the Smothers Brothers show, has filed suit for $20 million damages.

Mason alleged in a court petition filed yesterday that cuts reduced his time on the show from 15 minutes to eight and that his performance was "mutilated and rendered meaningless."

Televising of the show was postponed from a date earlier in the month and rescheduled for next Sunday.

275 Drivers Already Entered In Sears Point Races

George F. D. Pridmore of Tiburon will be among the top-flight drivers in the Sears Point National Championship road races this weekend at the new racing facility in Southern Sonoma County.

Pridmore, 48, a native of England, will be driving a Formula Ford out of Robert Winkelmann's racing shop in Sausalito. A factory representative for Motorola Co., Pridmore has been in racing 26 years, in Europe and the United States. He's gone through bicycle, motorcycle and sports car ranks.

Formula Ford is the SCCA's newest racing class. The 100 horsepower English made Formula Ford is powered by a 1600 cubic centimeter Ford Cortina engine, similar to that used in a Cortina passenger car, and is capable of speeds in excess of 130 miles per hour. The Formula Ford class will be racing with larger Formula A, B and C open wheelers in the fifth race Sunday on the twisting 12-turn 2.5-mile circuit.

The Saturday-Sunday races will be for all Sports Car Club of America categories — production, sedan, sports car and formula. More than 275 drivers are already entered. Qualifying for national drivers begins at 9 a.m. both days. Regional racing will be held Saturday and national racing Sunday.

More than 10,000 persons are expected for the first road races of the new track, located off Highway 121, near its intersection with Highway 37. The races are sanctioned by Sports Car Club of America and will be conducted by the San Francisco Region, SCCA.

The grandstands seat about 3,500, with hillside viewing listed by Sears officials as approximately 50,000 capacity. Parking facilities will take 10,000 cars, although narrow Highway 121 will be overcrowded.

Capt. E. B. Taylor, commander of the California Highway Patrol's Santa Rosa office, suggests motorists contemplating trips on these highways (37 and 121) Saturday and Sunday avoid the congestion periods of 10 a.m. and 5 to 6 p.m. when traffic will be coming and going at the raceway.

Among area drivers competing in the national races Sunday, in addition to Pridmore, are:

Chub Feeney Popular Around Giants Camp

PHOENIX—One of the most popular figures at this training camp of the San Francisco Giants is the club's vice president and general manager, Charles S. "Chub" Feeney.

Articulate and personable, Chub mingles with the crowd at the Village Ball Orchard and stopped by our box seats to chit chat with members of the Giants Boosters Club of Northern California, here on a week-long tour.

I asked the 47-year-old executive about the team's sky high payroll and how it compares with that of the St. Louis Cardinals, reportedly close to one million boffos.

"I haven't seen the financial report from the other clubs yet," said Feeney. "But I would say our payroll is very close to the Cardinals."

Noted For Its Generosity

With such super stars as Willie Mays, Juan Marichal, Willie McCovey et al, Chub gets writer's cramp just from writing figures on checks. The club is noted for its generosity and Feeney said, "We had the top payroll for five of the last seven years." I don't know if he was bragging or complaining.

Feeney looks for baby-faced infielder Don Mason, third baseman Bobby Etheridge and pitcher Rich Robertson, former Napa High School ace, to graduate from the Phoenix farm club to the varsity this semester.

The veep also expressed general pleasure with the 1969 Giants and predicts a division title this year. "We've been particularly pleased with the showing of Ron Hunt, Hal Lanier and Jack Hiatt," he said of the second baseman, shortstop and catcher.

It's Giant Boosters Night

Tonight is Giant Boosters Night at the Phoenix Greyhound Races in honor of the 106 Northern Californians on the tour headed by Allan Murray of Kentfield and Paul Hartman of the GTS Travel Service of San Rafael.

One booster, Mrs. Carita McCloskey of San Rafael, has her Yorkshire terrier "Smokey" here but turned down my suggestion of entering it in the feature race tonight. "Oh no," she said, "The dogs might mistake it for the rabbit." I'm sure Smokey would win the pup's blue ribbon.

This is Hartman's and Murray's second tour here this spring. Their Boosters Club numbers more than 1,000 members. The first trip March 6-16 led the National League in wheelchairs (4) and canes (6) but this current group is "Our junior division," said Murray, looking out at a sea of silver thatched noggins.

Hartman added that the Northern California Boosters have an eastern division. "So far there's only one member from the Eastern Division on this tour," the travel agent said, identifying her as Rita Kennedy of — Short Hills, N.J.

Togged Out In Orange And Black

The Boosters are real swingers and are quite outstanding at the ball park in their predominant orange and black garb, the team colors.

Marin Countians here are Albert and Irene DiGrazia of Tiburon, Dr. and Mrs. Porter Forcade and Dr. Larry Bosley of Sausalito, Messers. and Mesdames Russ Fisher and Warren Williams of San Rafael, Mrs. McCloskey and Edith Varner also of San Rafael, Mr. and Mrs. Russ "Bye-Bye Baby" Hodges and Marie McDevitt of Mill Valley, Sandy Newbarth of Kent Woodlands, Mrs. Hartman and little old line maker me and, oh yes, Smokey.

Most of the group came via American Airlines with the notable exception of Dr. Bosley who piloted his own private plane.

Marin Tars Nine Loses

Three College of Marin pitchers combined for a one-hitter at Albert Field in San Rafael last night, but errors and walks the Tars a 6-2 loss at the hands of Camino Norte Conference leading DeAnza College of Cupertino.

Tim Bryan, Bill Poole and Mike Terry yielded one safety but walked 12 men and were hindered by six errors, leading to all six unearned DeAnza runs.

Marin had six hits to the Dons one, with Kevin Eilson's two the best showing. DeAnza's record is 5-0.

Marin is now 3-2 in CNC play, with West Valley College next up at Campbell tomorrow afternoon.

Seals To Host St. Louis Blues

OAKLAND (AP) — With two games left in the regular season and second place in the West Division of the National Hockey League tucked away, the Oakland Seals will rely on pride for their spark tonight at 8 o'clock against the St. Louis Blues at the Oakland Arena.

The Seals have beaten the Blues, the West Division winner, only once.

Oaks Fall To Dallas

HOUSTON (AP) — The Oakland Oaks end their regular season American Basketball Association road schedule tonight at last-place Houston of the Western Division.

Having long since wrapped up the Western Division title, the Oaks return home for a five-game stand before opening the playoffs against the third place Western Division team, which now is New Orleans.

Fourth-place Dallas socked it to the Oaks last night, 127-120.

San Rafael, Redwood Also Win

The first great collision in the Marin County Athletic League swimming race turned out to be more of a case of hit and run yesterday as Tamalpais High dunked Novato, 53-41, at Mill Valley.

The Indians got their expected wins in the individual medley, backstroke, butterfly and breaststroke, scoring heavily in all of them, but they also made surprising inroads into Novato's strong point—the freestyle.

RUNAWAY

Tom Smiley in the 200 free, John Moe in the 50 free and Lowry McFerrin in the 100 free all won to turn the meet into a runaway.

In other meets, San Rafael submerged San Marin, 63-15 at San Rafael and powerhouse Redwood stopped Drake, 66-27, at Larkspur.

Sophomore Brian Hennessey with a hot 1:56 in the 200 free and a fine 4:13 in the 400 free paced the Giants, who also got a double win from veteran Ken James.

Giants Wallop Athletics; Jim Hart Out With Injury

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants mastered the Oakland Athletics 12-3 yesterday but some of the joy was lost when a groin muscle injury put Jim Ray Hart out of action for at least five days.

San Francisco, 13-4 in Cactus League play, challenged the Seattle Pilots today.

Hart was hampered with a similar groin injury last season when he blasted 23 homers. He stumbled chasing a foul in the Giants' bullpen in the ninth inning in yesterday's game at Phoenix.

Willie McCovey hit his second homer of the spring and drove in four runs helping the Giants edge the A's in their spring series, two games to one.

McCovey homered in the first after Ron Hunt had singled and drove in single runs in the fifth and sixth.

Hunt had a perfect day at the plate with three singles and two walks, scoring three times.

The Giants tagged Oakland right-hander Chuck Dobson for eight runs on 10 hits in six innings. The Giants added five more hits and four more runs off Paul Lindblad and Ed Sprague.

Giants' starter Bob Bolin worked a wobbly six innings, giving up three runs on eight hits and four walks.

Until Hart recovers, Giants' Manager Clyde King said he would try Bob Burda and Ken Henderson in left field.

Cal Coach Is Mum On Move To Indiana

BERKELEY (AP) — Sam Bell returned today from Tempe, Ariz. with his track team and reports he will leave California and become head track coach at Indiana.

Reached in Arizona, where his team met Arizona State in a dual meet yesterday, Bell, 39, said, "I have no comment and I don't know where they got the story . . ."

Bell, who came to California four years ago from Oregon State, said, "If it were going to happen, I wouldn't be the one to announce it."

Several Bay Area newspapers reported Bell would succeed Jim Lavery at Bloomington.

A spokesman at California did not confirm the move, but said Bell "prefers a small town situation and is happier in that environment. Sam improved our program at Berkeley and has developed a good, young team."

Bell is the third coach in Cal track history. In 1965 he succeed Brutus Hamilton, who succeeded the first coach, Walter Christie, in 1932, Christie became coach in 1900.

Tars Capture Tennis Match

Coach Dick Read's College of Marin tennis team improved its Camnino Norte Conference record to 2-0 yesterday with a 4-3 win over West Valley College of Campbell in Kentfield.

Dan Matin, and John Oyarzun were doubles winners for Marin, and also won in singles. Larry Husband and Brian Spelman won the deciding doubles match, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4.

The Tars, now 2-2 overall, face Contra Costa College of San Pablo at Kentfield tomorrow.

Redwood, Novato, San Rafael Win

Redwood and Novato high schools, two prime contenders for the Marin County Athletic League track and field throne, flexed their muscles in strong showings yesterday as league action got under way after a washout Friday.

The surprise came at San Rafael High where the supposedly thin Bulldogs routed a good Drake team, 85-42, behind triple threat Bob Peterson and a flock of talented runners.

Redwood won its annual collision with Tamalpais, taking a 77-50 win over the outmanned Indians in Mill Valley and Novato whipped Terra Linda, 88-39 at Terra Linda.

POWERFUL

Tamalpais, already weakened by injuries and transfers, simply didn't have enough to go around against the deep and powerful Giants.

Tod Norris sparked the win, taking the 880 and 440 and anchoring the mile relay. Judd Pillar got off a toss of 145 feet, 1 inch in the discus and Dave Leak took the high jump in 5-11, best among MCAL preps so far this season.

For Tamalpais, Luther Brown won the 220 and the long jump and Verdean Herbold, out for track for the first time, got off a winning toss of 49-8 in the shot.

TRIPLE

Peterson won the 100 and 220 and the long jump for the Bulldogs while Bob Silva swept the hurdles. For Drake, Rick Earhart won both the high jump and pole vault.

Phil Emswiler won both the 100 and the 180 low hurdles for Novato, which won 10 out of 13 events. Mark Jones was a double winner for Terra Linda, taking the triple jump and the pole vault.

Novato 88, Terra Linda 39
High Hurdles — Melcon (TL), Jones (TL), Phillips (N), 16.3.

Three Wins For Prep Baseballers

The advent of spring moved three Marin County Athletic League baseball players to heroics yesterday afternoon, leading to victories for their schools, while two other clubs fell short, one without an individual standout, another in spite of him.

Bob Sutherland's two-out single gave Drake a 2-1, 10-inning win over Santa Rosa High in San Anselmo; Russ Dillon kept Novato unbeaten with a perfect inning and a third of pitching as the Hornets snuck by Napa, 7-6, and Rick Denning's three-run homer led Marin Catholic past Cardinal Newman in Santa Rosa, 6-4.

LOSERS

In the loser's bracket, Mike Timmel struck out 10 in seven innings of two-hit ball, but seven errors gave Oakland Tech a 4-1 win over Timmel's Terra Linda club, while Tamalpais was hampered by errors in a 4-1 loss at Sonoma High.

Dillon struck out two and kept the bases clean for Novato, which improved its record to seven wins without a loss. Wally Campbell, Glenn Holsclaw and Dee Fedrick had run-scoring singles in the sixth to give the Hornets a 7-2 lead after Napa had grabbed a 2-0 first-inning advantage, the first time Novato had trailed all year. But after Napa rallied for four runs in the sixth, Dillon came in to put out the fire.

Warriors Open Playoffs Vs. Lakers Tonight

INGLEWOOD (UPI) — The Los Angeles Lakers and San Francisco Warriors open play tonight in a best-of-seven series to decide which team moves on to play for the Western Division championship of the National Basketball Association.

All indications are for a hard-fought, physical style of play series.

The winner will earn the right to meet the victor of the St. Louis Hawks-San Diego Rockets series. Then the Western Division champ will meet the Eastern Division titleholder for the NBA crown.

The Lakers, who finished first in the West compared to the Warriors' third, won the season's series between the teams, 4 to 3.

KEN DONALDSON

There's no way of separating the Donaldson twins.

Ken and Kirt Donaldson who have dominated the lower weight class prep wrestling circles in this area for the past three years, will be "one" of Novato High School's outstanding athletes at the annual KTIM Sportsman Club Top Athlete banquet tomorrow at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The twins, who also received the joint top wrestler award at the North Coast Section Meet in Hayward this year, join quarterback-pitcher Russ Dillon as Novato's "two" outstanding athletes.

FROM TAM

Representing Tamalpais High School will be another quarterback-pitcher — Don Mackin, along with halfback and track star Luther Brown.

Gridder Derik Clark and baseball-basketball standout Roger Thomas are San Rafael's picks. Three-sport players Jim Peters and Pete Carroll are Redwood's picks. For Marin Catholic the choices are two-time all-Marin County Athletic League baseball player Rick Denning and high-scoring halfback Jim O'Brien. Triple-sport men Clark Jamison and David Alvarado are Drake's picks and footballers John Dohn and Joe Rowell represent Terra Linda.

HONORS

The banquet honors the top senior athletes from the seven established MCAL schools.

There will be no guest speaker this year. Instead, the athletes and other guests at the banquet will watch the Interservice Boxing Championships as guests of Hamilton Air Force Base commander Col. Michael J. Stublarec.

Softball Openings

The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department is extending its spring softball registration one week, ending next Monday. There are still openings in both of the Class C divisions. Interested persons should call the park and recreation department.

Trevino Is Out Of Action

MIAMI (AP) — Lee Trevino has a sore thumb, Arnold Palmer has an aching back, Jack Nicklaus has an attack of the wildness and that's the casualty report for the $200,000 National Airlines Open Golf Tournament, starting tomorrow.

Trevino, the voluble U.S. Open champion, became the newest on the hospital list when he jammed his left thumb into a door on his arrival here yesterday, forcing him out of the pro-am tournament today.

NOT SURE

He's still not sure he will be able to tee it up tomorrow and go on to play in the Masters two weeks hence.

A doctor put a cast around the thumb and Lee's wrist and said: "Nothing's broken, but when we take the cast off Thursday morning we won't know whether he can play or not. It just depends on how he feels. He may be out 36 hours or two weeks."

It would be a big disappointment for Trevino.

"I felt I was really getting ready for the masters," he said.

Palmer, who gets injections twice a day for his ailing hip, said, "I don't know how it will be it—it's a day-to-day proposition."

LESSONS

Nicklaus, who found his booming drives soaring off course in the Jacksonville Open last week, complained, "I don't know wha's happening—I just seem to come up dry."

He wasn't around the country club of Miami Tuesday. There were reports he went over to take a lesson from his old pro at Columbus, Ohio, Jack Grout, now teaching in this area.

Palmer, Nicklaus and Trevino are three of the favorites in the 156-man field which tees of tomorrow in one of the year's richest events. First prize is $40,000.

Bill Casper, pro of the year and top money winner in 1968, is among the contenders as are virtually all of the top 100 money winners.

Pair Wins Mint 400 On Bike

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A motorcycle mechanic and schoolteacher have teamed up to win the $30,000 Mint 400-mile desert trail race on a lightweight motorcycle.

Mike Patrick, the mechanic, and Phil Bowers, both of Pomona, completed the two-day race yesterday evening on their 250cc Yamaha, setting a blistering pace of 10 hours, 9 minutes.

NAMES

They were competing with such well knowns of the racing world as Al Unser of Alburquerque, N.M., and Parnelli Jones of Torrance.

Unser and Jones, driving a four-wheel drive car, placed 14th in the race and fourth in their class with a time of 14:01.

Dick Dean of Tujunga, and Max Switzer of Las Vegas crossed the finish line second on a Greeves 360cc bike with a time of 10:18.

Al Baker of Sherman Oaks, and Rich Thorwaldson of Van Nuys, finished third on a 150cc Yamaha with a time of 11:19.

FIRST CAR

John Johnson and his wife Linda of Spring Valley drove the first car across the finish line with a time of 12:19. The car, an experimental one, has a 100-inch wheel base.

Andy deVercelly Jr. and Tom McClelland Jr., both of Coronado placed first in the dune buggy class with a time of 13:04.

No Dunk Rule To Remain In Basketball

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The era of Lew Alcindor in college basketball is over, but the no-dunk rule, enacted to try and keep the UCLA giant in check, will remain at least another year.

The National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, which sets rules for the game in both countries, voted yesterday to retain the current regulation, even though Alcindor has completed his college career.

A major rules change approved by the committee would have a jump ball when any closely-guarded player in the frontcourt, including the post player, holds the ball for five seconds. Previously, the post player had been exempt from the rule.

Other actions announced included:

It will be a violation for a player to "air-dribble."

A technical foul will be called against the home team if benches for players are not at the side of the court, unless it is physically impossible.

A second free throw will be awarded for an intentional technical foul.

It was recommended officials give a visible signal when counting time.

For exploration, approved groups will experiment with control of the ball by an individual limited to 10 seconds.

A study of signals by officials was ordered.

MARIN PREP BASEBALL

Novato Hornets In Favorite Role

By GARY TISCHLER

This could be the year of Novato and the seven dwarfs in the Marin County Athletic League baseball race.

If the Hornets ever get their hands on a bat.

None of the MCAL coaches is exactly conceding the race to the talented and deep Hornets, but all of them are lauding the Hornets' praises in language couched in a bit of awe.

Not that coach Bob Aune's pitching-strong squad will have it easy. There are at least three or four teams with enough potential to make a strong bid for the crown, should the Hornets' decide to play it nonchalantly. And none of the teams in a basically balanced league can be called a patsy, not even newcomer San Marin.

GOOD START

Novato, which has gotten in six games, all victories, is four-deep in pitching talent, and has plenty of heavy bats to go around. The two major problems confronting Aune is where to put whom and rain.

Back on the mound is Russ Dillon, surely the league's premier hurler, who can win a game by only half trying. An all-leaguer last year, he joins Steve McNally and Glenn Holsclaw, both returning starters from last year's runnerup team, and newcomer John Morrow, who has proven to be effective. Together, they make up the best mound crew in the league. And in high school baseball, probably more than anywhere else, pitching (and defense) is 80 per cent of the game.

SLUGGERS BACK

Back also are sluggers Barry Berringer, the league's top runs batted in man; shortstop Mal Sjoblom, outfielder Tom Zechlin, and outfielder Dee Federick, to name a few. And looking promising as hitters are Steve Majka and basketballer Ed Hernberger.

The real challengers would appear to be defending champion Terra Linda, with a veteran team, and Redwood, with a pack of promising newcomers.

Head coach Bob Corley, taking over for ailing and fiery Jess Payan, has all-league hurler Mike Timmel back along with an experienced crew.

Timmel almost single-handedly propelled the Trojans to the title with a perfect 10-0 showing in league play. He and Jerry Goodrick give Terra Linda a good one-two mound punch, but whether Timmel, coming off a grueling basketball season, can duplicate last year's feat is anybody's guess.

All-league catcher Craig Logan is back and third baseman Ken Lazzarini, second baseman Gary Trono and shortstop Bob Daniele give the Trojans good all-around speed and defense. Outfielder Dewey Forrey is also a returning starter and newcomers Bob Nadell in the outfield and Rick Payne at first will help.

Redwood is young but could turn out to be a real surprise.

"We're about a year away," coach Al Endriss said. "But don't count us out. If everybody comes around, we could be right in there. These boys really hustle."

TALENT

Endriss has a talented pitching staff, headed by junior Roger Smith, Dough Mantooth, Larry Hoffman and Tom Wickert.

The whole infield will have to be remade and likely candidates appear to be shortstop Ken Roby, who will step into Ken Johnson's rather awesome shoes, second baseman Eric Rasmussen, third baseman, Joe Ciheo and Mantooth at first when he's not pitching.

Jim Peters has moved from pitcher to catcher and is hitting well. The outfield is manned by John Boro, Pete Carroll and Jerry Piro, all from a championship basketball team, and footballer Rob Dorinson.

POSSIBLE

Marin Catholic and Tamalpais also could be right in there.

Coach Gary Hughes has nine starters back, including three-year veteran and two-time all-league third baseman Rick Denning, a pair of starting pitchers in Rick Thomas and Paul Dillman and another two-year veteran in rightfielder Bill Wilson.

Also back is catcher Rick Fox, first baseman Roger Offenbach, second baseman Mike Parnow, outfielder Tom Olsen and centerfielder Tim Hearn.

Expected to help is pitcher Bill Kelly and letterman Jack Carbone.

Tamalpais will be better defensively and coach Al Ahlsten's Indians' never had too much trouble scoring runs.

Some of the defensive optimism comes from a standout pitching crew headed by Don Mackin of football fame, and Mark Satterlie, Pete Senter and Bill Secor.

The hitters are led by Rob Nelson, an all-leaguer who hit .417 in loop play last year and was the loop's top home run hitter.

Other veterans include second-baseman Ken Bolstad, catcher Tom Frazier, centerfielder Wendell McReynolds, and third baseman Mike Locati.

Drake has good hitters in Dave Alvarado, Fred Westcott and Clark Jamison, but the pitching, is only good in what is an excellent league.

San Rafael has a standout hurler in Rafael Gallardo, who has already twirled a one-hitter, but the rest of the staff tends to be wild. A lot is expected from junior varsity players, but the only real veteran hitters are Roger Thomas and Gallardo.

San Marin, unlike its basketball counterparts, cannot be expected to be a pushover. The Mustangs have a standout in pitcher Steve Francis, speed in Bill Thompson and good hitting from all-around athlete Ken Gnoss. Gnoss and Francis have the winning habit, being members of the Novato Babe Ruth team that went to the Babe Ruth world series in Alaska two years ago. So did catcher Jack Burnam.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, March 26, the 85th day of 1969 with 280 to follow.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury and Mars. The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1892 American poet, Walt Whitman, died in Camden, N.J., at the age of 73.

In 1942 President Manuel Quezon of the Philippines joined American Gen. Douglas MacArthur in Australia after a hazardous trip from embattled Corregidor.

In 1953 Dr. Jonas Salk announced a new vaccine he claimed was capable of immunizing people against polio.

In 1965 President Lyndon Johnson ordered the Klu Klux Klan investigated after four men were arrested in the murder of civil rights worker Viola Luizzo.

Nature Workshop Dates Announced

A nature workshop, sponsored by the National Audubon Society and Natural Science Education Resources, will conduct two series of field trips into the back country of Marin County starting April 7.

The classes, limited to 15 students in each section, will be conducted on Mondays, starting from Richardson Bay Wildlife Sanctuary Education Center in Tiburon.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

Same Old-Fashioned Virtues Can Be Learned From Bridge

Some old-fashioned people think that playing cards are instruments of the devil and that those who play card games are immoral. Actually, contract bridge teaches you the old-fashioned virtues. Bridge players know what many modern people have forgotten: You cannot spend what you don't have.

FIRST ACTION

South won the first trick with the king of hearts, drew two rounds of trumps with the ace and king, and then led a low club from dummy. West won with the king of clubs in order to draw a third round of trumps with the queen. West then resumed the hearts.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of hearts and cashed the ace of clubs, discovering that the suit could not be established. Since dummy had only one trump left, South could not ruff two diamonds with that one trump. South therefore had to lose two diamonds. Down one.

NEEDS TWO RUFFS

South's contract depends on ruffing two diamonds in the dummy. He must therefore avoid using up dummy's low trumps, and must also prevent anybody else from using them. To put it another way, South must not spend dummy's trumps unwisely.

Declarer should win the first trick with the ace of hearts and can afford to draw precisely one round of trumps. Then he should duck a low diamond, allowing East to win with the jack or West with the queen.

DUMMY WINS

If West wins the diamond and returns a trump, dummy wins. Dummy's low trumps are still unspent. South takes the ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond in dummy. Then he gets to his hand with the king of hearts and ruffs his last diamond with dummy's remaining trump.

West can ruff in with the queen of spades, if he likes, but he cannot interfere with South's plan.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1-no-trump, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ — 9 7 6 4 2
♥ — K 7
♦ — A 8 7 3
♣ — 8 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two spades.

Since you have only seven points in high cards and only mediocre distribution, you cannot force to game. Partner will probably pass you at two spades, which will satisfy you well enough. If partner has strong spade support and 17 or 18 points, he will raise to three spades, and you will accept the invitation to game.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER JAMES WIKEL, CPA

How One Qualifies Under Retirement Income Credit

Wikel

If you are over 65 years old, or if you are under 65 years old but retired under a public retirement system, such as firemen, policemen, teachers, federal employees, member of the armed forces, etc., then your retirement income may be subject to the Retirement Income Credit.

In order to qualify for the credit, you or your deceased spouse must have earned an income, not counting pensions or annuities, of at least $600 in any 10 previous years. Since California is a community property state and one-half of all income earned by one spouse is attributed to the other, most married couples who have lived here for over 10 years will both meet the test.

The credit cannot be for more than the total tax due and so result in a refund claim.

BENEFIT FOR AGE

If you are over 65 years old, then you are also entitled to the extra personal exemption for over 65. In the case of a married couple both over 65 years of age, this could result in personal exemptions of $2,400 and retirement income credits covering $3,048 in retirement income.

Also, pension and annuity payments come under one of three groups: fully taxable, partially taxable and tax free.

There are two different rules for taxing annuity income. The first rule is the life expectancy method. Under this rule, each payment you receive is considered to consist of two parts — a return of cost and income. Only the part which is income is taxed. This method is based on two things: the cost of the annuity and the expected return. The cost and expected return are used to figure the third factor, the exclusion ratio.

THREE-YEAR RULE

The second rule is the three-year rule and applies where part of the cost of the annuity was paid by the employer and the employee will get back what he paid within three years. Under this rule, all annuity payments are treated as a return of cost and therefore excludable from income until the cost of the annuity which was paid by the employee has been recovered tax free. All receipts thereafter are taxable.

Some pensions and annuities are tax free. If you have any doubts about yours, you should get IRS Publication 524, Retirement Income and Retirement Income Credit from your local office of the IRS.

A $100 Million Building Project For Emeryville

EMERYVILLE (UPI)—Plans for a $100 million building project on 60 acres of filled-in waterfront land in Emeryville was announced today.

The joint announcement by the F.P. Lathrop Co. and Matthew H. McCloskey of Philadelphia said construction will begin immediately along Powell Street.

The building site extends more than one-mile into the bay on land filled by the former owner, the Fibreboard Corp., which retained 63 acres.

Space Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Martin Marietta Corp. has obtained a $98.2 million contract from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to develop payloads for long duration earth orbital flights late in 1971 as part of the Apollo space applications program.

Outlook Excellent For Ludlow Corp.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Will you please give me your opinion on Ludlow Corp? Should I hold or sell? — H. D.

A. Your company reported record sales last year, up 15 per cent to $139.8 million, while an even greater gain put net at $2.04 a share. A generous dividend policy has been pursued with about 50 per cent of earnings paid out in each of the last six years. The current dividend yields a bit over 3 per cent of earnings paid out in each of the last six years. The current dividend yields a bit over 3 per cent commensurate with growth expectations.

Home furnishings accounted for 57 per cent of Ludlow's 1968 sales, with packaging the next largest contributor at 27 per cent. Industry-wide, carpet sales have been growing at a 10 per cent annual rate until last year when the growth rate jumped to an estimated 17 per cent. Two of Ludlow's 1968 acquisitions are carpet makers; a third manufactures mobile homes; the fourth, on the West Coast, produces materials for flexible packaging. This last acquisition gives Ludlow a better geographic balance for participation in the fast-growing packaging industry.

I forsee earnings reaching a possible high of $2.40 a share this year for a current multiple of 14.5x. Shares should be held.

Steel Budget

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — National Steel Corp. reports it is budgeting capital outlays in 1969 equal to the more than $100 million spent last year. The company also said it is aggressively planning moves toward diversification both within and outside the steel industry.

Market Registers A Smooth Recovery

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks registered a smooth recovery today as Wall Street hoped for a positive response from the national liberation front following South Vietnam's suggestion for secret meetings to help end the war in Vietnam. Turnover was moderate.

Several electronics picked up a point or better, including National Cash Register, Texas Instruments and Collins Radio. Electronic Data Systems filed its proposed tender offer for Collins' shares.

Steels lacked a definite pattern despite recent predictions for increased output and stepped-up demand. Motors also traded in narrow ranges, as did most chemicals.

Superior gave up several points in the oils. The firm reported a sharp drop in 1968 earnings. The balance of the group generally moved forward, with Atlantic Richfield, Phillips and Pennzoil showing good progress.

Although Ling-Temco-Vought was a firmer conglomerate much of the session, other such firms generally worked lower. Firms in this area have been under close government scrutiny in recent weeks. General Host was among the weakest conglomerates. Its bid to list additional common shares and $347 million in debentures has encountered some delay at the New York Stock Exchange.

We never plan an easy life for a Peugeot. On the contrary! It's been especially groomed for a lifetime of hardship, so it doesn't mind miles put on the hard way. Once together a Peugeot refuses to come apart.

A unique suspension system; front stabilizer bar; plus rack and pinion steering all lend credit to Peugeot's Peace-Of-Mind handling and performance.

When you put it all together, "Peugeot is the toughest car in the world". (Lyle Engel, leading automotive authority.)

Police Cannot Carry Society's Responsibility

"It is obvious — but so important that it bears repeating — that as an increasing number of citizens refuse to become involved, society for its survival must depend increasingly upon law enforcement. Law enforcement becomes a substitute for the moral suasion previously exercised by the people themselves."

This is contained in a statement to the House of Representatives' subcommittee on education, presented on behalf of Gov. Ronald Reagan by the governor's special assistant for education, Alex C. Sherriffs.

Governor Reagan was addressing himself to the turmoil on college and high school campuses, which was under study by the subcommittee. The statement, however, has wider application.

A SOCIETY EXISTS through mutual trust. When this vanishes, it reverts to the "law of the jungle" — each for himself, without regard to the general good. Civilization collapses.

The role of the police in society is to enforce the laws. The police force was never intended to be moral arbiter. That is not its job. Neither was it intended to be a sort of preliminary court, weighing the legal technicalities, the moral arguments, and the public relations aspects before acting. When it is forced into such a role, it is outside its sphere — and is likely to perform badly.

INCREASINGLY, HOWEVER, Americans have abandoned their own responsibilities to society. Increasingly, they have adopted an attitude of "let each look after himself" — in effect, the law of the jungle. Are young people disrespectful and troublesome? Is there crime in the streets? Let the police handle it — but they had better be sure they handle it with utmost tact or they will be condemned for brutality.

Inevitably, those who lack respect for society, and respect for the law, will lack respect for the law's minions — the police. Yet when the police employ repression — which is the only means in their power to meet the challenge — they are condemned by many of the very public they are trying to protect.

Schools traditionally have been expected to enforce their own rules of discipline. When they fail to do so, and the campus becomes a scene of destructive disorder, there is no alternative but for the police to step in. Yet when they do, even professors in the schools they act to protect damn them as "pigs."

Even the courts sometimes help make police the victims — and subtly help undermine society's own sense of responsibility. This happens when a guilty man is set free, not because of doubt of his guilt, but because a policeman who arrested him failed to perceive all the legal technicalities that a lawyer, with weeks to devote to the search, was able to discover.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE for law enforcement to "become a substitute for the moral suasion previously exercised by the people themselves," as the governor's statement put it.

It cannot do it for the simple reason that the law itself is dependent on the moral suasion of society. Its enforcers — the police — are dependent on the moral suasion of society which stands behind the law.

When the people and their officials adopt the stance of Pontius Pilate and "wash their hands of this matter," the police are left without the support that is necessary to enforce the laws. The laws themselves become mere meaningless documents. The police become but one tribe in a furious inter-tribal war. The law of the jungle prevails.

Song's Bill Would Provide Tax Funds For Campaigns

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Many proposals have been made regarding the possibility ot turning over the cost of elections to the people in the name of "purity of elections," but a unique one has come from state Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park.

Senator Song has introduced a measure which would allow everyone who pays income tax to designate a dollar of the tax for the political party of his choice.

The money raised thereby, which would amount to more than $5 million, would be deposited in the state treasury and doled out to candidates for office under a formula within the bill.

THE FORMULA calls for five per cent of each party's election fund to go to the candidate for United States Senate; 20 per cent divided equally between candidates of statewide constitutional offices; 5 per cent to congressional candidates, and the remaining 50 per cent to the 80 Assembly and 20 Senate candidates who are voted on every two years.

By collecting the money from the people and dividing it equally, a good part of election expenses would be paid for by the public, and thus eliminate the necessity for candidates going to private sources for election funds, Song said.

"At present, candidates must go to special interests for the funds they need," Song pointed out. "My bill would take campaign financing out of the hands of these special interests, and return it to the people, where it belongs."

The bill would provide that no funds would go to candidates in primary elections, or for those running for non-partisan office.

"I WANT to open up this mysterious business of campaign financing to the general public," said Fong. "People should contribute to campaigns, and they should also knew where a candidate gets his money."

He said the measure would strengthen the two-party system, as at present, some office-holders are unopposed at election time becuase no potential opponent can raise money for a campaign.

It also would strengthen the laws, requiring reports of campaign expenditures. At present, only a candidate's campaign committee must file a report. The Song bill would require a report from any committee engaged in aiding or defeating any candidate.

AT PRESENT, names of contributors must be shown in campaign reports, but not the amounts contributed. The proposed bill would require disclosure of the name, address, and amount of money donated exceeding $200.

Although the bill is dedicated to a high-minded purpose, it would not prevent a candidate from taking the dollars from the state fund and collecting as much or more than they do at present from the "special interests."

County Committee Motives Questioned

The County Committee on School District Organization, in proposing a three-way split of the Tamalpais High School District, has tried to convince the people that it is acting in good faith. This statement is made despite the repeated warnings that what this committee is proposing is probably illegal.

The facts which belie the profession of "good faith" are:

1. The addition of distant Bolinas-Stinson District to the Drake attendance area, when next-door Ross would be the only logical addition. (But Ross has two members on the county committee.)

2. The statement of member David Ring that he has not made up his mind whether to allow the affected citizens to vote on this issue on a straight one-man-one-vote, majority-basis.

Yet Mr. Ring, co-author of this plan to tear the Tamalpais High School District apart, is now presenting himself as a candidate for re-election to the board of trustees of the Tamalpais High School District.

He might just as well ask me to select a ferret to watch a hen-house.

Nuclear Advice Coincidence Noted

It is interesting (and disturbing) to note that the Department of Civil Defense has suddenly come forth with advice on radio as to what citizens should do to protect themselves in case of nuclear attack.

We have had no such advice for years. But by pure coincidence (?) this warning comes as the national administration is trying to convince Congress and the people that this country needs the ABM system.

I hope every citizen will be aware of this remarkable coincidence.

'Let George Do It' —Some Results

With the increasing disturbances throughout the state and country, I can see that the citizenry has let George do it, and George is doing pretty well for himself.

I attended two meetings last Thursday night. First on "Sensitivity Training" . . . this meeting over early, I was able to get to the latter part of discussions on "unification" at Redwood High. I arrived to find the theater filled to capacity. About 80 per cent students, 15 per cent teachers, and 5 per cent interested parents.

It is very obvious that we have parents and adult citizens who expect things to correct themselves without any effort on their part. Maybe they have an ESP dial in their living rooms they control, or maybe they were watching "Gunsmoke."

Maybe a tired generation gave birth to a disinterested generation, which in turn is giving birth to a violent generation.

Don't misunderstand, many of these young people are alert and sincere with sharp minds. They must be made aware to keep an open and flexible mind and avoid teacher-student polarity.

Why Majority Voted For Bonds

What about those who voted YES in support of our schools in the recent bond election? Though there were not quite enough of us to win, we did represent the majority—a 60 per cent majority. The reasons behind our vote may not look quite so dramatic in your news columns, but don't we deserve to be heard equally with the dissident minority? A minority, by the way, which has actually dwindled during the past two years.

We voted yes because we believe the bond issue offered an economically sensible way of meeting the need for additional classroom space in our schools. Construction cost for the present design is estimated at $19 per square foot—somewhat below the average for schools of similar size built in California last year.

We voted yes because we believed we can no longer afford to house more than 400 youngsters in temporary classrooms—classrooms which are both inadequate and costly. In the long run San Rafael taxpayers are paying at least a 25 per cent premium to house youngsters in temporary classrooms rather than to provide them with permanent facilities.

We voted yes because delay will add to taxpayer expense. Because of the rapid rise in construction cost, it is projected that the cost of building the needed new school will rise by about $10,000 per month in the foreseeable future.

So, basically, we voted yes because of the economies involved. But there were other reasons as well.

We voted yes because we believe in our schools and the job they are doing for our young people. Compared with students in other California systems, San Rafael young people consistently rank near the top in academic achievement. Like any system we have our problems. But we also were skilled, intelligent administrators and educators working to solve those problems. They deserve our support.

We voted yes because we believe our school board has acted with intelligence and integrity in coming up with a sound plan to meet the educational needs of our community.

But most of all we voted yes because we believe in our children. We believe they deserve not just an equal opportunity, but the very best chance we can give them. What chance can they have without good schools?

These are among the reasons 60 per cent of the voters said yes to our school bonds in February. And they are some of the reasons we believe an even larger percentage of voters will say yes on June 10.

In the interests of our taxpayers, our community and—most of all—our young people, we're out to win the next time around. We know we can't afford to fail.

'Peace At Any Price' Could Plant Seeds Of Future War

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — "Let the peace of the future go hang, we want out!"

That is the increasingly open demand of the peace-at-any-price proponents now mounting their campaign to pressure President Nixon to give in to whatever Hanoi demands.

Mrs. Nixon wants to end the war in Vietnam just as soon as possible — but not at the price of a fake peace.

The President wants Americans and other foreign troops out of South Vietnam just as rapidly as possible — but not in a way which discredits the word of the United States when it comes to the aid of a country which has been invaded.

PRESIDENT NIXON will not be easily pressured. He is strongly committed to an honorable peace. He has always opposed giving to the Communists at the negoitating table what they were unable to win in battle — namely, the possession of South Vietnam.

It is not to be taken for granted that most Americans will follow those who will say, in effect, forget about the peace to follow and let's get out quick any way we can. Every measure of public opinion shows that most Americans oppose unilateral withdrawal, and it is only by unilateral withdrawal that South Vietnam would be turned over to Hanoi and the Viet Cong.

The peace-at-any-price thesis is deceptive and could be alluring unless it is examined carefully.

REASON NO. 1 is that peace-at-any-price doesn't mean peace. It means creating conditions which make for future war. When Lyndon Johnson gave up the presidency to do everything he could to bring about a negotiated settlement, he warned against accepting a make-believe peace to provide a pretext for quitting. Mr. Nixon said he would not accept a settlement which would only "plant the seeds" of another conflict.

Reason No. 2 for rejecting peace-at-any-price concerns the future policy of the United States. Many talk about the need to learn the lessons of Vietnam and debate how the nation can use its power well and wisely to serve the cause of peace. Events, not words, are going to determine future American foreign policy, and the most controlling single event that could shape future U. S. policy will be the shape of the peace we make in Paris. If the United States deserts the cause of a just peace for South Vietnam, will any future ally or enemy have reason to believe our word? Can the United States expect to be a deterrent against aggression anywhere — in Europe, in the Middle East, in Latin America — if we come to the defense of the nation when it looks easy and quit when the going gets rougher?

If the United States runs out on the peace in Paris, it will be throwing away much of the nation's ability to deter war in the future.

UNDOUBTEDLY there will have to be concessions on both sides, but one thing the United States ought not to do is to accept the settlement which has built into it traditions which would enable Hanoi and the Viet Cong to take over South Vietnam.

The New Republic magazine takes this view: "There's no settlement in sight, honorable or otherwise, if we insist that we have been right all along and that disaster would follow were we to permit the Vietnamese to settle their dispute among themselves."

That misstates the issue. The unilateral-withdrawal advocates would impose upon the people of South Vietnam an unelected coalition government embracing unelected Viet Cong. That's not letting the Vietnamese decide for themselves. Only by making a peace which permits the South Vietnamese to elect whomever they want, including Viet Cong candidates, will we be permitting the Vietnamese to decide for themselves.

Most Americans, we believe, are not going to favor throwing away the peace — even if some do.

Electoral Reform Dying Among Disagreements

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The drive to reform or abolish the electoral college, sparked by a much lamented near-crisis in last year's presidential election, is foundering and all but lost.

To be sure, House and Senate committees are going through the motions at the capitol. The committees are holding hearings on several constitutional amendments which would change the method of electing the president and vice president.

Congressional leaders are already saying privately, however, that the chances for achieving any of the proposed reforms are remote.

JUST BEFORE election day there was much talk of "constitutional crisis" if the third party candidacy of former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace should push the election of the President into the House of Representatives or result in bargaining for support in the electoral college.

After the election, the issue was kept alive by the case of Dr. Lloyd W. Bailey, the "faithless" GOP elector who cast his vote for Wallace rather than Nixon when North Carolina electors were assembled.

The trouble is that changes in the Constitution's election machinery involve a long and difficult legislative battle. Any reform must command a two-thirds vote of the House and Senate and then win approval of three-fourths of the state legislatures, 38 of them.

ELECTORAL REFORM poses one of those awkward questions for a representative government: Polls show that most lawmakers favor some sort of change, but they differ widely on what sort of change it should be.

Moreover state interests, real or imagined, stand in the way of agreement on how to change the present system which awards the total electoral vote in each state to the candidate who wins the state's popular vote.

SMALL WORLD

Another school in trouble

PRESIDENT NIXON is well aware of the legislative difficulties involved. It cannot be said, however, that his message to Congress last month did much to resolve the impasse on electoral college reform.

At the end of the election campaign Nixon said the candidate who "gets the most votes" should be the president. That seemed to endorse a direct election by popular vote and pleased the supporters of that plan.

Now it is apparent that there was a misunderstanding. In his message to Congress Nixon shied away from the direct election plan on grounds of "practicality." He noted his long support of a proportional division of electors but said he was not "wedded" to that plan either.

"I doubt very much," said Mr. Nixon, "that any constitutional amendment proposing abolition or substantial modification of the electoral vote system could win the required approval of three-quarters of our 50 states by 1972."

Others here now doubt that 1972 will see any modificaton at all in the basic election machinery.

Everyone In Fairfax Agrees— But Only To Disagree Again

Every so often something comes up in Fairfax that everyone (well, almost everyone) agrees on.

One of those items — more adequate city facilities — has received almost unanimous agreement for 10 years, but the city is no closer to having them than when the agreement first began.

The difficulty is getting folks to agree on where and how the facilities should be built.

THE LATEST in a series of proposals was officially presented to the city council March 3 by a group known in planning commission meeting minutes as the "Site Selection Committee for a Public Safety Building."

The committee was organized some time after last June 4 when voters turned down a $550,000 bond issue for a fire station at Bolinas Road and Sherman Street and a police-administration building at Bolinas and Elsie Lane.

First public word of the committee was last June 14 at an informal dinner gathering at the firehouse to acquaint the council with budget matters.

Fire Chief Charles M. Thornton said then a new committee to study means to provide a new firehouse would make its first report to the council in July. Members were Thornton, W. E. Radtke, a former mayor, and Harold G. Skaggs, a building contractor. Exactly where the committee came from was not made clear.

The next time the committee was officially heard from was this year (long past the promised July date; when it started presenting its plan to the city's official groups.

THE PROPOSAL, drawn by Harold S. Lezzini, a building designer and member of the Fairfax Planning Commission, showed facilities at Bolinas and Park Road, the site of the existing city headquarters.

Most residents weren't surprised by the plan. In fact, they were already familiar with it.

It is the same one proposed by Mayor Robert R. Souza in his "green letter" (so named for its color), last-minute piece of campaign literature which ran three pages and criticized an opponent and the then-proposed complex.

So far, the plan has not received much agreement. The parks and recreation commission gave it only "cautious" approval because it takes 30 feet of park.

The planning commission refused to accept the site and asked for a couple more choices.

So it was back to the drawing board for the site selection commitee, with a comment from an observer that it will probably take until after the next council election — April 1970 — to come up with a plan to put to the voters.

IT WAS SOUZA'S "green letter" which was responsible for a mysterious page in the 1968 Marin County Grand Jury report.

The page says merely a committee was assigned "one complaint involving alleged irregularities and possible law violations of election codes in a municipality within the county." The committee concluded "with the aid of legal counsel, (we) believe we resolved the matter satisfactorily."

The complaint was registered on the ground that certain peculiarities of the campaign literature violated election laws. Some persons still feel the laws were violated.

However, the foreman of the jury, Austin W. Little, is the father of the target of Souza's "green letter," Stanley W. Little.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

'Flexible Scheduling' Acquires New Meaning

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Being talked up (and down) in many California school districts is flexible scheduling for high schools.

Many parents — and certainly most students — would like high schools to break the pattern of having all classes meet for the same time periods every day, five days a week. Yet flexible scheduling proposals have encountered parent opposition in many districts.

What "flexible scheduling" means to parents and what it means to educators appear to be different things.

THE FLEXIBLE scheduling plans being proposed are "modular" plans. The school day is split into a predetermined number of "modules" of so many minutes each, then these are grouped to form periods of varying lengths. Each class is given the number of modules its faculty thinks it should have. These may again be broken up, however, by having the whole class — or two or more classes — meet together for some of the modules, then divide into small groups for the rest.

The ultimate (or nadir) of modular scheduling probably was reached in an experiment at Terra Linda High School a few years ago, in which the school day was divided into four-minute modules, which were put together in to a wide assortment of class lengths and arrangements. The resulting confusion pleased hardly anyone. The experiment lasted one year.

More typical is the plan in use at Claremont High School in Los Angeles County, where the school day is composed of 20 modules of 22 minutes each. Some classes meet for one module, some for two, and some for three.

THIS TYPE of scheduling inevitably results in students having some "free modules." For these, they are assigned to supervised or unsupervised study, a laboratory, or a "resource center."

Some changes beyond new class schedules are required. Ralph H. Sleight, principal of Pioneer High School in San Jose, which adopted modular scheduling in 1964, listed some of them in an article in the Journal of Secondary Education for December, 1967.

Sleight said modular scheduling required some building remodeling and refurnishing, overhead projectors and closed-circuit television, new rooms for teacher meetings, additional staff to handle purchases and serve as clerks for teaching teams. There were also problems of teacher education and attendance supervision.

He noted that, with the varying "free modules" for students, "it becomes extremely difficult to identify a person who is cutting a class." Administrators of other schools where modular scheduling has been tried have reported increased discipline and vandalism problems because of supervision difficulties.

EDUCATORS SEE two principal advantages to modular scheduling: It gives students more freedom for individual study, and it enables them to take more subjects during the school years.

The latter benefit can be achieved by a much simpler system — which is the one older parents are likely to think of when they hear "flexible scheduling." Widely used for generations, both in the United States and abroad it has some classes meet three days a week and some two, some for two periods, some for one semester. Any "free period" is supervised study.

When today's educators speak of "flexible scheduling," however, they have no such simple system in mind. They are discussing complete restructuring (some might say "instructuring") of the high school, not merely adjusting the schedule to permit a student to take more subjects.

Sex Education, Drugs, Unrest Bring Polite Candidates' Views

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

A candidates' night for the Novato Unified School District board and Area 1 of the Marin County Board of Education last night touched repeatedly on the explosive subjects of sex education, drugs, student unrest, teacher responsibility and black studies but none of the touchy topics sparked any significant controversy.

The quiet two-hour meeting was characterized by its extreme politeness rather than discord.

The only real exchange came at the end of the meeting when candidates Carolyn Crabtree and A. J. Bresnan disagreed mildly on whether student protests on college campuses would spill over into high schools.

Mrs. Crabtree told the audience of about 80 she "had faith" in Novato high schoolers and believed they would not allow themselves to be subverted by radicals.

Earlier, she was applauded when she blamed all the problems of education . . . on parental delinquency."

Bresnan disagreed with her, saying that he felt Novato High School parricularly was "prime for campus unrest." He was also applauded when he said, "We should look at what the kids want and what the kids need."

Bresnan objected to the tendency of most people to call high schoolers "children" when most of then are "young adults and should be treated as such." He called for "real involvement, not passive involvement" by students in making decisions about the course of education and the operation of schools.

Another candidate, John M. Lane, said he thought student unrest at high schools could be "nipped in the bud" by setting up a districtwide program spelling out exactly who does what if a student breaks some rule and providing set penalties for certain infractions.

Earlier in the meeting, Mrs. Crabtree had called for more emphasis on the "three d's — drugs, discipline, deportment."

On deportment, she said high school students should be graded on it just as elementary students are.

On drugs, she said if students aren't given drug education by the sixth grade, it is too late. "Once they're on the junior high campus, if you haven't got them by then, forget it."

"On discipline, she said, "If they need a spanking, give it to them."

The question of sex education was discussed but not debated with the candidates generally agreeing that it was necessary but disagreeing on approach.

Volmer K. Jensen said he thought sex education whould be taught but only by "responsible well trained, moral" teachers.

John C. Anderson said sex education programs should reflect the wishes of the community and called for a "clear definition of objectives" which are now lacking in sex education programs.

George F. Caldwell Jr. approved of sex education "if it can be handled responsibly and calmly" but he urged tight control of teachers in that area. "If we can't be sure of what will be taught," he said, "then I'd have to be against it."

Mrs. Crabtree, who said she was not "gung-ho" for sex education in the schools, said there would be "less problems in school if the parents did their job at home."

Lane was the only candidate flatly against sex education. He said such programs were taking time from "basic education," adding: "When we get a high school graduate who can't read or write a simple paragraph, I'd say we don't have the time or luxury to spend on sex education." He was applauded.

Incumbent Marett B. Boissevain said the Novato schools have made a "good start" in family life education but the existing programs "are not necessarily the end" results desired. He said the sex education classes should remain elective so if a parent objected, he could keep his child out of the classes.

Boissevain said he thought Novato district schools were "doing a better than average job" despite having low income and low per pupil costs.

The other incumbent, William Schneeflock, agreed with Boissevain, saying Novato had a "wonderful school system . . . but I'd hate to think it couldn't get better."

In response to a question from the audience, candidate Ronald D. Schenck said he favored establishing a black studies program. He also proposed a differential tenure system which would outlines teps for teachers to advance over a period of 15 years to help "weed out those few teachers who simply don't do the job."

Schenck also said a broader tax base was needed and more industry should be set by the schools.

The candidates for the county board, incumbent James A. Swenson and Gary F. Huff, agreed on the need for expanding special education programs in the county, with Huff urging these be financed by federal funds.

Agents Raid Diaz Ranch, Arrest Two Drug Suspects

While horses grazed peacefully outside, narcotics agents swooped down yesterday on the old ranch house at the Diaz Ranch on Panoramic Highway near Mill Valley and arrested two of its residents.

Booked on suspicion of marijuana possession were Peter Bruce Winston, 22, and Gayle Cecilia Solon, 24, who were to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Drug abuse agents said they went to the ranch yesterday about 3:30 p.m. armed with a search warrant, inside they found suspected marijuana — in a vitamin bottle — suspected hashish and cocaine, as well as pipes apparently used for smoking drugs.

Agents said the suspected drugs will be analyzed before other charges are filed.

Winston is the owner of the Resh Gallery in Tamalpais Valley, agents said, where a large narcotics raid took place earlier this year. He was not arrested at that time.

New Ruling On Scotch Whisky

BONN (London Express) — The German Supreme Civil Court today ruled that Scotch whisky cannot be sold or advertised as Scotch unless it is at least 3 years old.

Giving judgment, the court said that buyers laid value on the age of whisky and that the word "Scotch" was in itself an incitement to buy.

"A false claim therefore clearly exists if whisky is younger than 3 years old, even though its taste and price may appear comparable to 3 year old whisky" said the court.

"Whisky sold in Germany must confirm to the same rules laid down by Scottish distillers."

Weissich For Tighter College Conduct Rules

Special to the I-J

SAN LUIS OBISPO — Tighter conduct rules on state college campuses were urged yesterday by a California State College Board of Trustees committee here.

William O. Weissich of San Rafael, attending his first meeting since appointment to the board, urged that suspension or expulsion be decreed for those "aiding, abetting, advising or encouraging" violation of college rules. The code now carries such possible penalties for "procuring" rule violations.

This and other suggestions were turned over to a staff committee which is to present proposed rule revisions at the board's April meeting. Public hearing on resulting revisions will be held in May.

Tighter rules against drug use and lewd, indecent or obscene conduct were also urged. Ernest Becker, dean of students of the state college system, said there are reports that "10 to 75 per cent of our young people use marijuana." He suggested that those engaging in lewd or obscene conduct perhaps need psychiatric help and should not be disciplined.

The board's faculty and student affairs committee refused to even vote on a resolution by the San Diego chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution proposing that faculty members be screened as to political beliefs to correct alleged leftist imbalance.

The same committee received a report recommending that college president be given more atuhority over use of student funds for such projects as experimental colleges and tutorial fees.

Use of student funds has become a major issue at San Francisco State College, where student fees allegedly were used to promote strikes staged by the Students for a Democratic Society, Black Students Union, and Third World Liberation Front.

Panelist Replaced For College Forum

Dr. Charles Sizemore, an adviser and member of the College of Marin faculty, will replace Dr. Thomas Hart as a panelist on tomorrow night's forum on sexual freedom, Arthur Burton of the Tamalpais Toastmasters announced today.

The forum will be held in Olney Hall at the college at 8 p.m.

Larsen New Guide Dogs Executive

Benny O. Larsen, 46, an instructor at Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., since 1958 was named yesterday as executive director of the San Rafael training school to succeed the late William F. Johns who died on March 13.

Larsen, a former member of the Danish underground and a prisoner of war during World War II, joined the Guide Dogs staff after spending 10 years in Denmark training guide dogs and blind Danes in their use.

Beofre that, from 1945 to 1948, he served as civilian head of the police force that furnished security for the Danish military.

Larsen and his wife, Else, who live at 350 Los Ranchitos Road, San Rafael, were naturalized as American citizens in 1964. Their son, Ove, 23, is a chief warrant officer in the U.S. Army, stationed in Germany. A sister, Mrs. Ebert Jensen, also lives in San Rafael.

Larsen's appointment was announced by Guide Dogs president, Mrs. Pierpont M. Hamilton of Santa Barbara.

Society Matron Is Found Dead

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A prominent San Francisco society woman, Mrs. Prentis Cobb Hale, shot herself dead last evening with a single shot from her husband's revolver, police said.

Mrs. Hale, the former Marialice King, was 54. Her husband is chairman of the board of Broadway Hale Stores and president of the San Francisco Opera Association.

Police said Hale was watching television downstairs in their Pacific Heights home when he heard a shot. He rushed upstairs and found his wife lying on the floor of a dressing room.

Landscaping Of Post Office To Be Discussed

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee will consider revised landscaping plans for the new post office and exterior plans for the adjoining Senor Alfredo restaurant at its 8 p.m. meeting today in city hall.

Signs were placed on the post office at 121 San Anselmo Avenue and the restaurant at 115 San Anselmo Avenue last Wednesday by city forces forbidding either post office or restaurant employees from moving in until developer Charles W. Mapes Co. of San Francisco fulfills city requirements.

The post office is now located at 333 San Anselmo Avenue and is planned to be moved as soon as it receives an order of lock boxes. Alfred Barthel of San Rafael hopes to open his new restaurant Tuesday.

Eight Youngsters' Artistic Skill Will Win Disneyland Journeys

Trips to Disneyland will be won by four boys and four girls in the Corte Madera Shopping Center's annual "color me" contest sponsored by the Center's Merchants' Association as part of its sales event for April 3, 4 and 5.

The winners of the contest — open to youngsters 7 through 14 years old — will leave from San Francisco on an Air California jet. In Orange County, they will headquarter at the Disneyland Hotel.

The chaperoned tour of three days and two nights is tentatively scheduled for June 23-25, and will include admission and ride tickets for the first day, admission tickets for the second and third days, three meals a day for three days, air fare and lodging, and a four-hour tour of Knott's Berry Farm.

According to Hollie Smith, manager of the Corte Madera Center, no substitute will be given for the trips which are being arranged by the Northgate Travel Center. Should any child be unable to accept the trip, an alternate winner will be chosen.

Professional artists will judge all entries on the basis of neatness, imagination, and color sense. (See photo, page S-8.)

Completed entries, bearing the young artist's name, address and telephone number, should be turned in beginning April 3, and no later than 3 p.m. on April 5. They will be accepted at the credit desks at Montgomery Ward Company and J. C. Penney's, at the upstairs office at Woolworth's, and at the office of Hollie Smith Insurance, 50 Corte Madera Center.

Every youngster submitting an entry will receive a coupon entitling him to a free Sweden Freeze Space Cone available at the Sweden Freezer mobile unit to be located in the Center from Saturday through April 6. Members of Job's Daughters, Bethel No. 249 of Larkspur, will staff the unit.

Center Store Brims With Easter Goodies

Spring is in the air — and the signs are everywhere in gardens and parks and in the bounce of childrens' steps!

It also can be found at Woolworth' s in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, where manager Duane Nelson has gathered a colorful bounty of baskets and beads, Easter Eggs and Easter hats, flowers and frills, and a full line of candies and novelties just right for the bunny crowd.

Nelson, who was named manager of the Corte Madera store in early January, is not new to the shopping center scene. He was here in 1958 when construction of the center was completed and the complex opened.

He was born in Alberta, Canada, grew up in Hoquim, Wash., and attended Gray's Harbor Junior College in Aberdeen, Wash., following two years service with the U. S. Army at Fort Ord, Fort Lewis, and at Scofield Barracks in Hawaii.

His association with the Woolworth Co. began in San Francisco in 1958, and he has held various positions at stores in Palo Alto, Santa Clara, Napa, and San Carlos.

Nelson is secretary of the Corte Madera Center Merchants' Council and a member of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce. He and his wife, the former Lana Lawson of Pomona, were married in 1964 and have a son, Darin, 2.

Bay Prevention Strongly Urged On Earthquakes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A new regional agency should be formed to try to head off disaster before the San Francisco Bay Area's next big earthquake, urges a University of California governmental studies specialist.

The new organization should act to reduce earthquake hazard, since performance by local governments so far "leaves much to be desired," says Stanley Scott, assistant director of the Institute of Governmental Studies at Berkeley.

Scott says an earthquake control commission could devise a regional plan to correct existing buildings, control new construction, safeguard pipelines and other utilities, and to prepare for landslides, flooding and fire.

Tam Savings And Loan Led By Residents Of Marin

Headed by a group of prominent Marin County residents, Tamalpais Savings and Loan Association is located at 36 Corte Madera Center.

Rowland Frazier, manager of the Corte Madera Shopping Center branch of Tamalpais Savings and Loan Association, is also managing officer-secretary and a member of the board of directors of the financial institution which has branches in Palo Alto and Albany.

Frazier and his wife, the former June Boudreau of Kankakee, Ill., have three children, Kim, Kay, and Scott.

Very active in the affairs of the Corte Madera branch is George C. Scott, a founder, vice-president and a resident of Mill Valley. # Shopping Center Manager Wears A Variety Of Hats

What does the manager of a shopping center do? Just ask Hollie Smith, who holds that position for the Corte Madera Shopping Center, and he will spin many wondrous tales.

For instance, what do you do when Mama Goat at the Pet Zoo decides its time for her babies to arrive? You call for Smith, who arrives posthaste to assist in the delivery.

And if you have left your car lights on when you parked and returned to find you can't start the car because the battery is dead? Just go to 50 Corte Madera Center and find Smith — he'll get it going.

And just suppose your three-year-old vanishes — as only a three-year-old can — somewhere between boys' underwear in Grant's and the toy department in Woolworth's? That's right — Smith will organize a search party.

Those are a few of the easier tasks ably handled by Smith, who is owner of A Associates Insurance located in the Center.

He also conducts the business of the Center, such as the present repaving of the parking lot, and schedules and supervises the various monthly promotional activities.

The recent St. Patrick's Day display held in the mall became a tribute to Smith's wife, the former Helen O'Gallagher of County Mayo, whom he met while on a trip to Ireland in 1939. Hollie and his wife have two children, Hollie Jr., 22, a student at Cal Tech majoring in aerophysics, and Lynda Gail, 25, who was graduated summa cum laude from Vassar with a major in political science.

TIPS FOR CONTEST

Ancient Method May Be Good These Days

DETROIT (UPI)—A real crackdown on crime might occur if police operated under an old British ordinance.

In the Middle Ages, the town of Ripon, England, held the town watchman responsible for burglaries. "Bygone England," published by Singing Tree Press of Detroit, says if a house were robbed between 9 p.m. and sunrise, and the homeowner could prove he'd taken proper precautions, the night watchman had to make good the loss.
